BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 4. (Exclusive)—Critics of the Hoover administration were flayed in the Senate today with the whip of achievements credited to the President in his first year in office.

Assailed for "sniping" with criticism not justified by the facts, Democrats who have unloosed venomous attacks on the President were faced with a beginning of an intensive Republican offensive designed to prove to the country that the Hoover administration has to its credit major achievements of merit.

FESS IN DEFENSE

The defense of the administration and flaying of its critics came from Senator Fess of Ohio, who took the occasion of the anniversary of Hoover's first year in office to list what has been done.

A note of determination to combat the Democratic antiadministration campaign was sounded by the Ohioan almost coincident with a meeting of the "minds" in the Senate designed to plan the offensive. With Senator Watson, Republican floor leader, Republican National Committee Chairman Huston and attaches of the committee, the former Republican newspaper men in the Senate, Allen, Capper, Vandenberg and Moses met on the program.

It is apparent that the administration no longer intends to yield supinely to the attacks of the Democrats, and the able defense made by Fess today was taken to mean that the campaign is on.

HOOVER APPROVES

Out of the Ohioan's speech, presumably made with approval of the President, came assurance that the administration is not wavering on the prohibition question despite the clamor set up by the wets. In fact, Fess virtually warned the wets that their efforts are doomed to be wasted, while his warning was coupled with the prophecy that the country is stronger for prohibition now than it was a year ago and that in 1931 it will be stronger than it is now. He gave notice that there will be no modification of the Eighteenth Amendment or breaking down of enforcement with Mr. Hoover's sanction.

"Anybody who thinks that the Eighteenth Amendment will be modified has no conception of how moral reforms are accomplished," Fess said, adding that there will be no breakdown in enforcement and that "any one who thinks so has no

SUNDAY OIL LID URGED

Blue Law Aimed at Refineries

Scheme Proposed by Federal Conservation Board to Slash Production

Fifty-three Million Barrels of Excess Output Now Declared on Hand

WASHINGTON, March 4. (AP)—Elimination of Sunday refinery operation was recommended today by the Federal Oil Conservation Board to the oil industry to curb increasing gasoline stocks.

The board, comprised of the Secretaries of Interior, War, Navy and Commerce, pointed out that refining capacities are increasing faster than consumption.

Aid of the governors of the three great oil-producing States, Texas, Oklahoma and California, was solicited to persuade the industry to adopt a six-day week.

A statement by the board that "there is coming to be too much gasoline" was matched by figures of the Bureau of Mines showing that 10,000,000 barrels of refined stock have been placed in storage since the beginning of the year.

EXCESS PRODUCTION

Unofficial estimates of excess production indicated that nearly 53,000,000 barrels of gasoline are on hand at refineries in addition to unsold stock held by distributors.

"Stocks are higher than they have been since 1927," the board reported, "while the domestic demand is up only to the level of 1928."

The Bureau of Mines indicated a new high record for production, with revised figures placing the total petroleum and natural gasoline output in 1929 in the country at 1,005,598,000 barrels.

This was 104,500,000 barrels more than the American output of petroleum and natural gasoline in 1928, which was the previous high figure established in the industry.

LARGE GAIN SHOWN

The 12 per cent gain in 1929 over 1928 production was made in spite of the fact that persistent curtailment efforts were in progress during most of 1929 under leadership of the American Petroleum Institute.

The increasing output has been due to the new extensions of oil territory both on the Pacific Coast and in the Midcontinent field, the bureau reported. Increased efficiency in cracking of oil was blamed by the board "which," it said, "combined with the seven-day week, is raising gasoline stocks to a level where there will be a large element of waste."

TEXAS REFINERIES TO OBSERVE PLAN

HOUSTON (Tex.) March 4. (AP)—The Humble Oil and Refining Company and the Humble Pipe Line Company late today took the lead among oil companies in announcing a working schedule of six days a week in response to the Federal oil-conservation board's suggestion for a curtailment in the present production of gasoline.

"The refining company and the pipe-line company Sunday, on the 9th inst. and each Sunday thereafter until further notice will shut down all drilling, producing, transporting and refining operations 'where physical conditions make this possible,'" W. S. Parrish, president of the former company, announced late today.

Where a complete shutdown is impracticable, he added, operations throughout the week will be reduced one-seventh in volume.

OKLAHOMA REFINER OBJECTS TO PLAN

TULSA (Okla.) March 4. (AP)—Jacob France, president of the Midcontinent Petroleum Corporation, operating the largest refinery in the Midcontinent field at West Tulsa, declared today the suggestion of the Federal oil-conservation board for closing refineries on Sundays is "very radical, and it cannot be worked out."

"We refiners are not storekeepers, we cannot shut down and lock up for a day, we cannot possibly cease operations without a great loss.

"In the past fifteen years our fires have never been out. A refiner must keep his fires going, his stills running and everything working in order to operate.

"The thing to do is to cut down the daily crude-oil charges to stills. If we must curtail the output of gasoline and other petroleum products, we must reduce our day's runs; that is, charge only as much crude oil in seven days as would be needed in running at capacity for six days out of the week. This is the only way for refiners to curb their refined products production."

COOLIDGE DEDICATES DAM TO SERVICE OF PROGRESS

Ten Thousand Hear Address at Site of Arizona Development; Colorado Pact Counseled

BY CHESTER G. HANSON
"Times" Staff Representative

COOLIDGE DAM (Ariz.) March 4. (Exclusive)—With the same New England reserve that has characterized his public course, Calvin Coolidge came into the heart of the romantic Southwest today, and in the midst of a great throng of Indians and whites gathered on the parapet of Coolidge Dam dedicated the great structure to the religious life, the education, the home life, and the government of the people who are to benefit from the great good the dam will bring to this community.

In his address Mr. Coolidge talked with the people who had come from distant parts to witness the ceremonies, as though they were neighbors. He explained that he had been reluctant to come down here on his way back home from his visit on the Coast, "because, having done what I could (as President) to bring about the realization of this project, I could not see what good it would do to come down here and talk about it."

REASON FOR ACCEPTANCE

But he came, not so much in response to the appeals of the Governor of Arizona or to the importunities of various persons here and there over the country, but because President Hoover finally requested him to do so. "For I believe," he said, "that it is our duty to co-operate with and support the President of the United States."

"This structure represents a national policy which was launched some thirty years ago, when it was decided that the United States government should take an active part in reclaiming the waste spaces of the West," he said. "There was a sum set aside as a revolving fund to build the necessary structures to reclaim some of these waste lands and to make them fertile.

"On the whole, that policy has worked out well. We needed experience in this work, which we now have acquired, and as a result which we are making our reclamation projects more successful. This is one of those projects. It means much in the development of this part of the country.

FOR PUBLIC GOOD

"I did not know what I could say down here that might help this project particularly. I could not speak to the dam itself, nor could I speak to the water. They will go on functioning through all the years in accordance with the laws of physics and chemistry. It would be impossible for me to dedicate them to anything.

"And so it occurred to me that if this dam were to be dedicated to anything here today it would be to the people and to their enjoyment of the benefits that are to flow from this structure. I think the keynote was struck at the very outset of our exercises when the master of ceremonies called upon the clergy to invoke the Divine blessing upon this project and upon the people to whom it benefits to make this country about here more productive and to bring in a larger income. And to what purpose? First, to the better promotion of our religious life, for it is to our religious life that we owe practically everything we have. Second, I think we should devote some of the products to a better system of education. The people need more and more the advantages and the assistance that come from education. Then must come the conveniences and the comfort of the home—one of the greatest foundations upon which all human welfare rests. Then, to the business of making better citizens. We are all citizens of one nation, and we all ought to function as such. Thus it is fitting that we dedicate this dam to the advancement of our religious life, to the betterment of our education, the making of better homes, and making a better country."

COLORADO RIVER

Taking up the need of further conservation of our water supplies, Mr. Coolidge turned to the Colorado River problem and said he had done what he could to bring

House Committee Hears New Criticism of Prohibition by Dozen Persons

Plea for Saloons' Return Denied in Summing Up; Witnesses Cheered

WASHINGTON, March 4. (AP)—A dozen antiprohibitionists, including four women, occupied the seventh and last day of appeal before the House Judiciary Committee for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment with accounts of conspiracy, racketeering, "drinking dry," drunken young girls and crowded courts in arguing that the dry laws have failed.

Chairman Graham of the committee, 80 years of age, climaxed the day by denouncing prohibition as an inhumanity which has never been and will never be enforced. His stand, an amplification of that he took on the opening of the hearings, evoked cheers from the crowded committee room, which were silenced by the pounding of his gavel.

DRYS BEGIN TODAY

Thus ended the presentation of testimony by opponents attacking the ten-year-old amendment. Tomorrow, friends of the prohibitory laws will commence their defense of them, and they also will be allowed seven days.

The drys will first present Dr. Daniel A. Poling of New York, president of the International Christian Endeavor Union. Former Representative Edward Keating of Colorado and Patrick Callahan of Louisville, Ky., a business man, also have been named by Mrs. Laura D. Yost, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, as among those who will appear.

TESTIMONY REVIEWED

Representative Linthicum, Democrat, Maryland, chief of the unofficial House wet committee, today reviewed the testimony of the previous witnesses who demanded repeal of Federal liquor laws and restoration of State control.

He cited the testimony of such men as Pierre S. Du Pont, multimillionaire industrialist of Wilmington, Del., and W. W. Atterbury of Philadelphia, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, in addition to that by educators, lawyers, mothers, physicians, former government officials and members of Congress—and emphasized that none stand for the return of "the old-time saloon."

Linthicum said he favors the Sabath resolution, which would permit State control under Federal supervision, the liquor to be dispensed by Federal dispensaries only. He appealed to the Anti-Saloon League, which he credited with driving out the old saloon, to come to the front in the effort to drive out speakeasies.

From time to time the audience, consisting largely of women, many of whom stood for hours to hear

NEW ORLEANS, March 4. (AP)—"Tiny" Lawrence, former Tulane University football player from Oklahoma, was shot in the forehead and killed in the Mardi Gras festival here today as he joined the ranks of a number of sailors fighting on the street with a gang of negroes.

Lawrence and others rushed to the aid of a truck load of sailors fighting with the negroes and an unidentified person in the crowd shot him. He died instantly.

The fight took place at a street intersection in the old French quarter while the day's carnival revelry was at its height.

Beverly Hills Woman's Freak Brings Sequel

NICE (France) March 4. (Exclusive)—The strange sequel to her act of throwing $1640 in bills and chips to the carnival crowds from the third story window of the Palais Mediterranee on the night of February 20, last, was disclosed this afternoon by Mrs. Frank R. Phipps of Beverly Hills, Cal., who left for Vienna tonight.

Mrs. Phipps received more than 400 letters from all over the world. These consisted of pleas from philanthropic societies desiring funds to aid parishes and from professional gamblers sending her money to play for them.

"But I didn't seem to be able to play any more after the letters began to come," she said today. Mrs. Phipps, who is joining her husband in Vienna, plans to sail for home in April.

WASHINGTON, March 4. (AP)—William Howard Taft was said at 6:55 p.m. by his physicians to have had a fairly good day. He has taken more nourishment than at any time in the last week.

Dr. Francis R. Hagner said Mr. Taft's diet consists of liquids and ice cream and today his appetite was better.

The patient was able to recognize Mrs. Taft and others as they went in and out of the room.

WASHINGTON, March 4. (AP)—Three allotments for improvement investigations on rivers in California were announced today by the War Department.

The Sacramento River System gets $27,500; the San Joaquin system $27,500, and the Kern $5000.

Funds for the work will be obtained by transfer of money previously allotted but not needed at the moment on the Upper Missouri and the Mississippi.

Department officials said, however, that the transfer would be only temporary, and that the other two projects would not lose permanently by the decision.

SCORES DIE IN FRENCH FLOOD

Hundreds of Villages Menaced and Specter of Starvation Rises as Rains Continue

PARIS, March 4. (Exclusive)—With more than 150 persons dead and hundreds of villages endangered by flood and menaced by starvation over five departments, Southern France is bowing its head today under the heavy wrath of the torrential downpour which has been falling steadily for the last four days, swelling rivers and streams to such dangerous proportions that scores of towns and villages are under water.

As soon as he learned of the disaster, Premier Andre Tardieu took immediate measures to rescue the populations.

The entire southwestern corner of France is isolated from the capital and the surrounding towns with telegraph and telephone lines down and train service impaired. The town of Montauban is particularly affected, the waters of the River Tarn having risen to such heights that the gas, electric light and power plants were submerged early this morning and the entire town must remain in darkness for several nights.

A report late tonight said 100 persons perished at Moissac, about fifteen miles from Montauban, when the river bank gave way.

The list of tragedies is rapidly growing and it is feared that many people were killed in various towns when several buildings collapsed, undermined by the water. Hundreds of bridges were swept away and the waters are carrying away a fantastic collection, furniture, portions of houses, and even automobiles being carried down stream.

Seaplane Pilot Sets New World Altitude Mark

NEW YORK, March 4. (AP)—Climbing to an apparent height of 19,000 feet, Capt. Boris Sergievsky today set a new world's altitude record for seaplanes carrying a useful load of 2000 kilograms.

Although the exact height to which Capt. Sergievsky drove his twin-motored Sikorsky amphibian will not be known until the barograph is calibrated at Washington, Mr. Christopher, the National Aeronautic Association observer at the test, said there is no question that the record had been broken.

The old record was 15,837 feet.

Will Rogers Remarks:

GLOBE (Ariz.) March 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Well, Cal did a mighty fine job of dam dedicating here this afternoon. He made a dam good speech favoring dams. Said he didn't want to come at first, "but that finally President Hoover asked him to come." He naturally couldn't refuse Mr. Hoover, for in a few years they might be opening a Hoover Dam and he might want to ask Mr. Hoover to go and dedicate it. He dedicated the dam to religion, a very beautiful thought and appropriate at this very time, for here is Russia with twice our natural resources and three times our size, bending every government energy to throttle all religion. All you have to do is look at the two countries and see who's policy is best.

A peculiar thing about the dam that you may not read in your dispatches is that the dam is built on the lower side of the Apache Indian Reservation and the water is all to be used by the Pima tribe and the whites. In fact, they moved the Apaches out of the very valley where the water is backed up in and moved ten miles up above. The only way the Apaches can ever get any good out of the dam is for somebody to invent a way for water to run uphill, and then they wonder why Apaches are wild.

One ceremony reminded me of a blindfold tobacco ad test. Mr. Coolidge and an Apache chief and a Tima chief all took a whiff from the same pipe. The Indians didn't bat an eye but Calvin coughed over a carload's worth.

The dam will open up 1,000,000 acres of new land and there is 1,000,000 farmers starving to death all over our country on farms that's all ready open, so it all depends on where you live as to how you look at it.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

FOX TO FACE TEST TODAY

Real Life Drama to Be Enacted

Stockholders Will Meet to Vote on Refinancing Plan of Bankers

Surprise Alternative Idea Brought Forward by Two Trustees

NEW YORK, March 4. (AP)—A drama of the motion-picture industry will be enacted in an old studio tomorrow as stockholders in the $30,000,000 motion-picture enterprise built up by William Fox consider refinancing plans in an effort to avoid a receivership.

The outcome of the battle tomorrow at the meetings of the stockholders of the Fox film and theaters corporations was clouded by cross-currents of developments today.

The meetings were called by directors of the two corporations, which Fox heads, to consider the refinancing plan they have approved. An alternative plan was announced today by Halsey, Stuart & Co., with the statement it will be submitted to stockholders at the meeting tomorrow. Halsey, Stuart & Co., one of the principal creditors of the Fox companies, oppose the plan submitted by a group composed of Bancamerica-Blair, Dillon, Read & Co., and Lehman Brothers.

VOTING RIGHTS CLOUDED

Federal Judge Coleman announced today that the stockholders can vote only on the plan approved by the directors. In the event it is rejected, Judge Coleman has announced any practicable plan to extricate the companies from their financial difficulties precipitated by the stock-market crash will be considered. Otherwise a receivership is the only alternative.

It was undecided tonight who can legally vote 50,000 shares of Class B stock owned by Fox and placed in trust by him under an agreement with H. L. Stuart of Halsey Stuart & Co., and John Otterson, president of the Electrical Research Products, Inc., creditors of the Fox companies to the extent of $27,000,000.

Supreme Court Justice Levy said tonight the temporary restraining order granted Fox against the two other trustees will permit him legally to vote the 50,000 shares of Class B stock at the meeting tomorrow if a permanent order is not given.

Justice Levy said that he hoped to hand down his decision on the permanent injunction sought by Fox before the meeting tomorrow, but the briefs submitted were so voluminous that he might not be able to do so.

ALTERNATE PLAN

The so-called "trustees' plan advanced by Stuart and Otterson today would make available $70,000,000 to meet pressing obligations through sale of debenture bonds and additional Class A common shares. They announced that their plan required the vote of two-thirds of the Class B shares only, and the Class A stockholders were not required to vote upon it, as it provides for no issue of preferred shares as does the plan approved by Fox.

It was declared by Samuel Untermyer, counsel for Fox, to be "impossible, impractical and misleading."

"It can only result in confusing the situation and precipitating a receivership," he added.

Asked if the trustees' plan could be voted upon at the stockholders' meeting, Untermyer said, "Not unless approved by the directors," and that the only consideration it could receive was in an argument against the plan favored by Fox.

HIS GREATEST TEST

Preparing for a large attendance, an old film studio in the Fox Building was cleared today for the stockholders' meeting. The Fox Film Corporation meeting will be at 11 a.m. and the Theaters' Corporation session at 3 p.m.

The real battle in which Fox's influence will be put to the greatest test in his twenty-five-year development of his motion-picture enterprise is expected at the film meeting.

The bankers' refinancing plan must be voted upon by the stockholders of both corporations. In the event it is rejected the companies must pay the banking group $1,000,000 for formulating it.

The two trustees, Stuart and Otterson, would not say tonight whether they would attempt to have the stockholders vote on their financing plan. In making their plan public, they stated that it would provide initially about $9,000,000 more in cash than the bankers' plan.

KEY READJUSTMENT PLANS PROGRESSING

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4. (Exclusive)—A. J. Lundberg, president of the Key System and vice-chairman of that company's readjustment program, announces receipt of payments sufficient for the readjustment and completion of arrangements for an advance to holders of deposit receipts for Key first mortgage bonds equal to one-half their principal. The deposit receipts can be redeemed at the American Trust Company, San Francisco, or the California Trust Company, Los Angeles.

PARAGUAY AND BOLIVIA ACCEPT BORDER PLAN

WASHINGTON, March 4. (AP)—Paraguay and Bolivia have agreed to the proposal that a neutral commission be formed by the governments of the United States, Cuba, Mexico, Colombia and Uruguay to compose the Paraguayan-Bolivian boundary dispute which in 1928 resulted in armed clashes along the border. The Bolivian acceptance has just reached the State Department. Paraguay accepted some time ago.

RUM RUNNERS WOUND CUSTOMS INSPECTOR

EL PASO, March 4. (AP)—R. E. Bowden, United States customs inspector, was wounded today as guns flared again in a renewal of skirmishes between Mexican rum smugglers and mounted border patrolmen. The fight occurred in the Buena Vista district and was one of three in which the others attempted to halt efforts of the smugglers to run rum into El Paso.

NEWSPAPER EDITOR IN BULGARIA SLAIN

SOFIA (Bulgaria) March 4. (AP)—Vassil Poundeff, publicist and editor of the Macedonian newspaper Vadar, and a companion, were assassinated today in Sofia.

Poundeff's newspaper was strongly in opposition to another faction in the Macedonian party.

Yuma Welcomes Coolidges En Route to Dam

Everybody There

Practically all Yuma turned out Monday to greet Coolidge when the ex-President passed through that city en route to Globe, Ariz., and Coolidge Dam, which he dedicated yesterday. The photograph shows a portion of the crowd which thronged the station to see him.

EX-PRESIDENT DEDICATES DAM

about the development of the river through Boulder dam.

"You have not been able to agree on the details of the project," he said. "I think it might be helpful when you get home—and I am speaking now to the people of Arizona and Utah, and Colorado and California, and all who will benefit by the Colorado River development, if you will take down your Bibles and read where it says something about agreeing with thine adversaries quickly."

This brought forth a burst of applause.

"I do not know the details of your difficulties," he concluded, "but I know those who have your welfare at heart say they are not insurmountable."

At the conclusion of his remarks, with Doris and Gene Atkinson, from Los Angeles, drawing aside the veil that covered the tablet, the ceremony was completed. Aerial bombs burst forth and loosed to the canyon breeze American flags swung from parachutes.

Other speakers included Gov. Phillips, who introduced Mr. Coolidge as "the man who said less and did more than any President within the memory of any man or woman here;" Hugh Patten, a full-blooded Pima Indian, Judge P. D. Overfield, E. W. Clapp of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and Edgar B. Meritt, representing Secretary of the Interior Wilbur.

GIVE GREAT CHEER

The great white concrete structure wedged in between two towering granite cliffs was overrun with Indian braves and squaws from near-by reservations as well as by Arizonans who had come from all parts of the State.

The Coolidge party arrived at Globe at 9 o'clock this morning. After breakfast and a rest they were driven to the dam site. There must have been 10,000 persons there and they let loose a roar of applause that echoed and bounced around from cliff to cliff and across the waters already backing up in the reservoir behind the dam.

Luncheon was served at long tables set on the roadway that runs across the top of the 260-foot dam.

With heads bared, wrinkled-faced Indian men and women, Pimas, Apaches, Maricopas, modern matrons and flappers, cowboys, ranchers, Boy Scouts, and hot-dog venders stood while Father Augustine, missionary to the Pimas, gave the invocation. He prayed that the bread of life would come from this project to the Indians and the whites whose lands in the Casa Grande Valley will be watered by the dam.

WILL ROGERS SPEAKS

Above all were perched the newspaper men, cameramen and sound news reels. Two Indian bands, one from the Pima Reservation and the other from the Phoenix school, entertained the diners. Lynn Atkinson, one of the Los Angeles contractors who built the dam, was toastmaster. There was a brief welcome from Gov. Phillips and a word of congratulation from Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan, who headed the California party.

Will Rogers, who came over from California with Mrs. Rogers, was brought from a hiding-place on the side of the hill and called upon for a few words. He bashfully lounged up to the microphone, chewing gum, wagged his head and then walked over and shook Mrs. Coolidge by the hand, also Calvin.

"I came over to pay my respects to Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge," he said with a broad grin, "and to renew an old friendship begun in the White House, when Mr. Coolidge was working. Never felt so much at home with you country folks. You look so simple." He didn't get anything to eat, he said, and so if his speech was no good, why, the committee was out nothing. He had come as the only Democrat to offset Coolidge, he said "and he was the best Democrat we ever had in the White House. He did not do nothing but that was just what we wanted him to do. If you didn't get prosperity from Coolidge you never will get it."

He complimented the white people on getting the dam and putting the Indians up on the hill where they will not get much water.

During the luncheon there was a long list of speakers, coming seemingly from all over the country, with stories that dated back to the days of the Indian wars—and before. A congratulatory telegram was read from Stella Atwood of Riverside, speaking as chairman for many years of the Indian welfare committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

WETS END DRY LAW TESTIMONY

the testimony, applauded the witnesses. Chairman Graham had to rap for order and Representative Moore, Republican, Ohio, protested that the applause continued so long that members of the committee did not have an opportunity to cross-examine the witnesses before they left the stand.

Chairman Graham presented a protest from his personal physician, Dr. S. Solis Cohen of Philadelphia, against the limitation of medicinal liquor prescriptions to one pint every ten days, even though the patient's life may depend upon a greater amount. Graham said the Volstead law provisions constitute a reflection upon the medical profession.

At the outset of the hearing, Graham had read into the record a letter from Walter W. Liggett in which the magazine writer replied to Atty.-Gen. Smith of Kansas as to liquor enforcement conditions in that State. Liggett had charged before the committee that liquor can be bought by a stranger within fifteen minutes in any town in Kansas.

CHARGES REITERATED

The Kansas Attorney-General said in a statement to Graham that the writer's remarks were "false, libelous and untrue." Liggett reiterated his charges today and said his investigation resulted in the dismissal of the Kansas snooping squad, which, he said, was composed of ex-convicts and bootleggers.

Dr. Stewart Paton of Baltimore, a Johns Hopkins University lecturer of psychiatry, testified prohibition is not a sound method of preventing liquor consumption, and for that reason is having a disastrous effect on the young people of the country. He said under questioning that the moderate drinker has a greater expectancy of life than the teetotaler.

Mrs. Courtlandt Nicoll of New York, secretary of the National Association for Prohibition Reform, said her organization is determined to get rid of "that arch hypocrite—the drinking dry."

She said she has seen legislators of New York State cast a dry vote and later in the day "drink whatever they could obtain, adding that the legislators of other states are no different.

The other women witnesses were Mrs. Carrol Miller, Pittsburgh; Mrs. W. W. Montgomery, Jr., of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Robert W. Lovett of Boston.

MEN WITNESSES

The men witnesses were W. W. Ball of Charleston, S. C., editor of the News and Courier; Norman Johnson of New York; Nipel B. Martin of Lewiston, Idaho, a lawyer; Breckenridge Long of St. Louis, a former assistant Secretary of State; Henry H. Stroud of Tulsa, Okla., a former special agent of the Justice Department, and Dr. I. N. Hilton of Washington, a former president of the American Pharmaceutical Association.

An enormous increase in juvenile delinquency in Idaho was blamed upon prohibition by Martin, who said he is a total abstainer. He said that never before prohibition was liquor so readily accessible and so freely consumed by minors.

Long limited his testimony to the constitutional aspect of the prohibition amendment, advancing the theory that it is contrary to the spirit of the preamble and the bill of rights and that it is diametrically opposite to the intent of those who drafted and signed it.

CANADA SEEKS CURB ON RUM

Premier Introduces Measure to Halt Liquor Running

Government's Life Staked on Passage of Bill

Restriction Had Been Asked by United States

OTTAWA (Ont.) March 4. (Exclusive)—Premier King of Canada introduced in the House of Commons today legislation by which his government will endeavor to stem the annual $30,000,000 flow of liquor from wet Canada into the dry United States.

The bill is entitled "An act to amend the export act," and the Canadian Prime Minister explained to the House its purport in the following words:

"The purport of this amendment is to authorize officials of the Dominion government, having charge of liquor in bond and the granting of clearances to vessels, to refuse to release such liquor or to grant such clearances where the granting of such release or clearance in any case would facilitate the introduction of intoxicating liquor into a country where the importation of such liquor is forbidden by law."

PASSAGE EXPECTED

The prohibition is mandatory and is not left to the discretion of officials.

The expectation of the government is that the bill will carry through the House of Commons. The administration by introducing it as a government measure, has staked its political existence upon its passage. If the bill, after debate, were to fail to pass the Commons, the MacKenzie King government, by constitutional law, must resign and appeal for public indorsement in a general election.

ASKED BY UNITED STATES

The measure, to become a Canadian law, must also pass the Senate, but while there is a little less certainty with respect to Senate approval, the government, which controls half the ninety-six Senate seats, is confident of its passage there also.

The United States government, through an official commission which visited Ottawa a year ago last January, officially requested the Canadian government to prohibit the export of liquor into the United States. The Canadian government's first reaction was a flat refusal.

THREAT OF NEW LAW WORRIES RUM GANGS

NIAGARA FALLS (Ont.) March 4. (Canadian Press)—Feverish activity was noticed about the water front on the Niagara River today.

Because of the contemplated action of the Canadian Parliament in prohibiting liquor clearances to the United States, it is expected that rum runners will endeavor to ship a large quantity of liquor across during the next few days. They admit it will be difficult to get the liquor from the distilleries to the point of export if the law goes into effect.

MRS. EDWINS BATTLE WON BY CANCER

Mother Rushed in Plane to San Francisco Clinic Last Month Succumbs

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4. (AP) Mrs. Gertrude Edwina, 36 years of age, and the mother of four children, lost her valiant fight against cancer dying here today at St. Mary's Hospital, where she was taken following a dramatic airplane flight February 14, last, from Wenatchee, Wash., to receive the newly discovered Coffey-Humber glandular extract experimental treatment.

The flight and the devotion of her husband, who mortgaged his Lake Chelan fruit ranch and staked all to bring her to San Francisco in the last desperate hope the new treatment might save her life, aroused the attention and sympathy of the Pacific Coast.

She arrived in what physicians termed a "moribund" condition and slight hope was held out from the first for her ultimate recovery.

Several injections of the extract and blood transfusion were given and hopes stirred by the improvement which followed were dispelled when physicians announced the change in her condition was probably due more to the blood transfusions and careful nursing than to effects of the extract.

CHINESE PROTEST AT POISON GAS REPORTS

PEIPING, March 4. (AP)—The Reuters correspondent today reported to his agency that the Chinese Chamber of Commerce had telegraphed the German Consul-General at Shanghai expressing anxiety at many reports that Germany is shipping large quantities of poison gas to China for use by forces of President Chaing Kai-Shek. It was declared such methods are contrary to international law.

PRESIDENT APPROVES FARMER LOAN FUND

WASHINGTON, March 4. (AP)—President Hoover today approved a bill authorizing an appropriation of $7,000,000 for the relief of farmers in storm, flood or drought stricken areas in fifteen States. All loans made under the measure will be on such terms and conditions as the Secretary of Agriculture may prescribe, with a first lien on all crops of the 1930 crop year as security.

PIONEER'S WIDOW DIES

PIEDMONT, March 4. (AP)—Mrs. Mary Hickman, widow of Louis M. Hickman, wealthy pioneer California land owner, died at her home here last night at the age of 94 years.

BROKERS LINKED TO BANK THEFTS

Clubman and ex-Plan Board Partners Accused

Bank Loss Set at $300,000; Market Deals Blamed

cording to the information on which the indictments are based, began more than four years ago, but came to a climax with the arrest of Bray, Haddow and Burke.

According to Federal officials, these three played the stock market heavily and lost consistently. Of the aggregate $850,000 said to have been taken, they were able to recoup about $250,000, according to the United States Attorney, leaving the bank with a loss of approximately $300,000.

One of the methods declared to have been used was to take stock left by customers as collateral for loans and to sell it at once on the market through the asserted secret arrangement with Leib, Keyston & Co. They hoped, it is declared, to make handsome profits on the stocks, buy them back, pocket the profits and then deposit the certificates against the owners' demand.

ASSUMED NAMES

Another method charged to them was to use customers' stock certificates as collateral for stock purchases they made under assumed names.

Under the rules of the bank, three days were allowed for a return on checks for collection. Bray, as manager of the branch, is asserted to have cleared his checks ordinarily in twenty-four hours and to have used the cash for the next two days in market speculation.

The first indictment charges Bray and Haddow with sixteen counts of misapplication of funds of a national bank and false entries in the bank's books.

The second charges the same men with two counts of misapplication in which Galmarino is named as the aider and abetter.

The third charges Bray and Haddow on a single count of misapplication and false entry, with Rossitter as aider and abetter.

BROKERS ACCUSED

The fourth accuses Bray and Haddow on three counts of embezzlement with Keyston and Rossitter as aiders and abetters.

The fifth charges all nine indicated with conspiracy to embezzle funds from the Bank of Italy.

Cashier's checks used by Bray and Haddow, according to the indictments against them, for the funds assertedly used in speculation, are listed as follows:

Bray: June 1, 1927, $6515; July 1, 1927, $4600; August 9, 1927, $2300; September 17, 1927, $15,000; September 28, 1927, $9000; October 1, 1927, $9000; November 10, 1927, $2800; March 19, 1928, $9738; June 29, 1929, $3061.

Haddow: May 25, 1927, $3000; January 6, 1928, $8000, and July 13, 1928, $30,000.

POLO PLAYER IN CASE

Rossiter, the other partner accused, is a former member of the City Planning Commission. He resigned that post eight months ago to become resident partner in the Leib Keyston company's Los Angeles office.

Bail for Keyston was placed at $10,000; for Alexander at $6000; Rossiter, $15,000; Galmarino, $10,000; Bray and Haddow, $25,000 each, and the others $5000 each.

Griffin is said to be in New York. All the other defendants are believed to be in San Francisco or Los Angeles.

STATEMENT ISSUED

A written statement was issued by Leib Keyston & Co., late today, which read:

"On being informed by the press late today that the Federal grand jury had returned indictments against him and some of the associates, George N. Keyston of the firm of Leib Keyston & Co., said:

"'Of course, the indictments are a complete surprise to all of us. We are familiar with the so-called Bray case; in fact, in February, 1929, Bray came to me and stated that he was interested in the accounts of certain customers in our office. I immediately informed Bray's employers of what he had said. Nothing in our connection with that matter can possibly justify indictments against us. When we are furnished with all of the details of the charges we shall take such action as may be necessary.'"

The company denied Keyston had even thought of resigning from the presidency of the San Francisco Stock Exchange as an outgrowth of the indictments.

LIGHT ON MOORE WILL PROMISED

Russell's Daughter Resentful

Right to Relics of Her Mother

Caruso Surprised by $25,000 Gift

NEW YORK, March 4. (AP)—A letter over the relics of Lillian Russell, including a portrait which Charles Chandler Christy painted of her will is waged by her daughter, Dorothy Russell O'Reilly, who announced today.

She said she had been informed that she was bequeathed only $1000 in the will of her stepfather, the late Alexander P. Moore, who is said to have left $2,000,000 to the Queen of Spain.

"Mother left home at home," she said. "I hold I am entitled at least to the things which belonged to my mother. At least I should have the linen, jewels, silver and mother's portrait."

The action was expressed today by Mme. Benjamin Caruso. She was informed she had been named as one of the beneficiaries in the will of Mr. Moore.

From Pittsburgh came word that the will, which has not yet been probated, gives $25,000 for the widow of the opera tenor, Enrico Caruso.

"The news is a very pleasant surprise to me," Mrs. Caruso said. "Mr. Moore was a dear to thus remember me. While we had been friends for a number of years, I hadn't known he intended to remember me in his will."

MANILA PUPILS RIOT IN STRIKE

Police Reserves Called Out to Restore Order

Several Persons Injured in Walkout of 10,000

Threats of Lynching Aimed at School Officials

MANILA, March 4. (AP)—All police reserves of Manila were called out tonight to deal with the strike of 10,000 high-school students. Several students and two policemen were beaten, two school officials were threatened with lynching and announcement was made that all strikers be expelled from schools.

The situation developed from a strike of high-school students a few days ago in protest against what they asserted were insults directed against the Filipino race by Miss Mabel Brummitt, a teacher formerly of Valparaiso, Ind.

Miss Brummitt was dismissed, but the strike was continued to force the reinstatement of four ringleaders who were suspended.

Demands were made by strikers today for the dismissal of Alejandro Albert, acting Secretary of Public Instruction; of Luther B. Bewley, Director of Education, and of the principal of the North High School.

Threats that Albert and Bewley would be lynched were heard as students crowded the grounds of the North High School all day, but refused to attend classes. Several students were beaten for refusing to join the strikers.

EMIGRATION OF FILIPINOS OBSTRUCTED

Labor Recruiting Rights in Hawaii Suspended to Help Block Outflow

MANILA, March 5. (Wednesday) (AP)—Directly influenced by the recent anti-Filipino disturbances in California Hermenegildo Cruz, director of the bureau of labor, today suspended the 1930 labor recruiting license of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association.

The action has the effect of almost completely stopping Filipino emigration to the Hawaiian Islands but it will merely reduce and not entirely halt emigration to the United States since many Filipinos are going to the United States direct on their own initiative.

Filipinos may still go to Hawaii on their own initiative but will not be guaranteed jobs whereas they are under the recruiting arrangement just suspended.

MENINGITIS KILLS TWO FILIPINOS IN HAWAII

HONOLULU, March 4. (AP)—Two Filipino laborers who were removed from the steamship President Hayes Saturday on arrival from Manila died at the quarantine station here today of spinal meningitis. Five others are seriously ill of the disease.

One other Filipino died of spinal meningitis during the voyage and there were seventeen cases of pneumonia aboard the liner. A cold wind is said by the ship's doctor to have caused illness of the Filipinos, who came from a country with a warm climate.

FOOD TAXING VOTE URGED FOR EMPIRE

Baldwin Says Countries Should Take Referendum on Disputed Question

LONDON, March 4. (AP)—Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservatives, taking a hand in the political controversy over a tariff policy for the British Empire, has suggested the suitability of a referendum by the country whether it would permit the taxation of food in pursuance of a policy looking toward empire economic unity.

One of the principal arguments against the free trade within the empire policy advocated by the new United Empire party fathered by Lord Beaverbrook and Lord Rothermere is the assertion it would involve the taxation of food from outside the empire imported into Great Britain.

Mr. Baldwin, as leader of the regular Conservatives, has steadfastly declined to consider food taxation as part of the Conservative party policy. Addressing a meeting of the Council of the National Union of Conservative and Unionist Associations today, he declared this food-taxation question should be taken out of party politics and the only way to do this would be by a referendum which should be taken independently so as not to involve the fate of any government.

Youth in Coma for Four Weeks Opens His Eyes

UKIAH, March 4. (AP)—Jack Harvey, 14-year-old boy, unconscious since he suffered injuries in an automobile accident on February 4, opened his eyes briefly at the Ukiah Central Hospital today and looked about him.

Physicians said his eyes look brighter and his skin is in a healthier condition than at any time during the last four weeks. They entertain hopes for his recovery.

Young Harvey was hurt when struck by an automobile while riding on a bicycle.

FOOTLIGHTS CALL HELEN HAYES

New Mother to Have "Manless Play"

"Act of God Baby" and Miss Mary McQuade

NEW YORK, March 4. (Exclusive)—Helen Hayes's "act of God" baby is not to interfere with her stage career. The rialto here heard today that Miss Hayes is to return to the stage within the immediate future, but there'll be no male star acting opposite her. What the name of Miss Heyes's new vehicle is to be has not been divulged, but it is understood it is to be a "manless play."

It will be remembered that when the baby's approaching birth caused the closing of "Coquette," in which Miss Hayes was starring, the producer pleaded it was an "act of God," and therefore he should be relieved of fulfilling the contracts of other members of the cast.

The baby was born a few weeks ago.

ORMSBY FILES OAKLAND BOND

Los Angeles Attorney Gives Self Up to Police

Says Alameda County Bribe Charges Puzzle Him

Speedy Air Race Made from Florida Resort

OAKLAND, March 4. (Exclusive) Cromwell L. Ormsby, Los Angeles attorney accused of collecting protection money for Alameda county gambling resorts, surrendered on a grand jury indictment here tonight, anticipating by several hours information to Dist.-Atty. Warren that he would appear in Oakland tomorrow.

Ormsby telephoned Acting Chief of Detectives Wallman from the Sixteenth-street station he was in the city and was ready to surrender. Wallman met him at police headquarters, where Ormsby supplied bond.

Referring to the grand-jury indictment which accuses him of collecting $4200 from Alameda county lottery operators to be split among Sheriff Becker and at least three of his deputies, under indictment, Ormsby said:

"It's all a mystery to me."

The attorney, who recently acted for Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, said he knew nothing of the charges against him until he read of them in a New York paper at Miami, Fla. He chartered an airplane immediately, he said, flew to Atlanta, changed to a regular plane to Kansas City, transferred there to another going to Salt Lake City, and there boarded a train for Oakland.

Ormsby is scheduled to be arraigned next Monday with the five others indicted at the time an accusation was returned against Sheriff Becker.

Berkeley Bank Theft Admitted

BERKELEY, March 4. (AP)—Identified by Mrs. Gladys T. Herrin, bank clerk, as the man who held up and robbed the College-avenue branch of the Bank of America of $3371 here January 18, Rudolph B. Straight, 30 years of age, broke down today and confessed to police. Straight and his brother-in-law, Clarence Forrest, 24, were arrested at Bay Point Sunday when their lavish spending of silver aroused the suspicions of authorities.

Straight in his purported confession said he performed the robbery unassisted, and that following the crime he and his brother-in-law rented an apartment and remained here for some time. They then traveled over the State, spending the money as they went, until practically all was gone.

"Hello! Hello! How Much Does Happiness Cost?"

Only the price of learning a simple health rule, this smiling youngster finds!

"Happiness is on the other end of your phone too," says little Barbara

"HAPPINESS just radiates from our baby since we began giving her—"

What was it that Mrs. Fred E. Schmitt of 2023 Stone Street, Falls City, Nebraska, discovered, which she could give to her baby that made her happy, well, strong and buoyant?

Not a medicine; not a drug of any kind; just harmless bodily lubrication. Only that, and nothing more. Mrs. Schmitt's discovery that little Barbara kept well when she was made regular as clock work is the same discovery as has been made by millions of other people, who are enjoying the happiness of health because they use Nujol.

Babies, old folks, people in the prime of life—all alike need to have the bodily poisons (we all have them) regularly cleared out. Nujol just gently, naturally, normally lubricates the action of your body which needs lubrication as much as any other machine.

Please remember that Nujol contains no drugs; is non-fattening; is not absorbed in any way by the body; can form no habit; cannot hurt you, no matter how much you take. All it can do is keep you internally clean, and make you continually feel better. Colorless, tasteless as pure water, Nujol will make you see the bright side of life; it will help you to get the most out of your life; it will make you wake up in the morning feeling fit, and help you to do a good day's work with a smile.

Millions of people have discovered this fact—why don't you? You can buy Nujol in sealed packages at all drug stores. It costs but a few cents, and makes you feel like a million dollars. Get a bottle today and see how brimming zestful health will boost your day's happiness.

SHULER HANDED IRISH BOUQUET

'Sodom' San Francisco Voices Itself in 'Argonaut'

'Catholic and Jewish City' Suggests Mixed Pogrom

'Rev. Bob' Congratulated for Sticking in 'Gomorrah'

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4. (Exclusive)—Under the heading "The Spiritual Accursedness of San Francisco—Rev. Bob Shuler Frightened Away from the City by the Numbers of Catholics and Jews," this week's San Francisco Argonaut says, in part:

"San Francisco is 75 per cent Irish Catholic and Jewish; and, unfortunately for Protestantism, the two have combined politically and otherwise in dominating that great city."

"Undoubtedly San Francisco is European today; possibly a little Asiatic, and very little American."

"Folks have said to me, 'Well, Shuler, if you go to San Francisco, I admire your nerve. If you don't get shot the first month you will the second.'"

These inspirational texts—as the intelligent reader will no doubt already have discerned — are pearls from the pulpit of Rev. Bob Shuler of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, Los Angeles, and radio station KGEF, from which they were spurted over a thirsty land—cast before those swine that are the San Francisco public . . . taken from a duly attested shorthand report made at the time the sermon was in course of delivery.

CALLED "APOLOGIA"

This sermon was Rev. Bob's apologia for deciding to dodge the acceptance of the pulpit and appanages in San Francisco, offered him by the wealthy Methodist philanthropist, Mrs. Glide, and of which his acceptance had previously been reported.

Unlike those unskilled and unsophisticated evangelicals of the olden time—Peter, Paul, Andrew, Barnabas, Matthew, and their colleagues, as well as such simpler ones as were Boniface, Xavier, Patrick and others who risked their respective skins, and usually lost their lives in the endeavor to uplift the heathen, Rev. Bob knows on what side his spiritual bread is buttered and where the Lord wants him to stay:

"Maybe God has a man somewhere spotted for the work (Mrs. Glide's San Francisco church.) My only thought is, I want the Lord. If he has any enterprise for me in San Francisco, or Atlanta, Ga., or Birmingham, or anywhere, and wants me and needs me, to let me know about it in my own soul; and if he convinces me I ought to go somewhere else, I will say so to you. Until he does, I am sitting mighty pretty and feeling mighty fine. These are my last words before I take the collection, and don't anybody move until we get this collection. It is very important."

TERMED "PATRONAGE"

One can almost hear the Lord saying, "Whee!" or "Glee!" as he hearkens to these exalting words borne heavenwards on KGEF. But by this time the Lord has become accustomed to the patronage of Rev. Bob Shuler. It is San Francisco which—through no fault of its own or of Mrs. Glide—must for a long time to come lack the pleasure, the opportunity, for such heavenly enjoyment.

When one considers the matter from Rev. Bob's point of view, it is a very humiliating and very poisonous thing to have to live in a place like California. No doubt, Matthew, in his crude enthusiasm over the doctrine impressed upon the eleven disciples on the mountain at Galilee, was unduly obsessed with the order: "Go ye therefore and teach all nations!" Had the Messiah at that epochal moment enjoyed the prevision to foresee Rev. Bob, and Trinity Church, and Los Angeles, and KGEF and all the rest of it, he would never have been so presumptuous as to suggest that an evangelist sitting so mighty pretty and feeling so mighty fine as Rev. Bob was in his Los Angelan pulpit two weeks ago, should dirty his soul with such a nerve-racking trial such "a thankless errant" as would be a cure of souls in a region so accurst, so infested with Irish Catholics and Jews, as is San Francisco.

LETTER QUOTED

Rev. Bob Shuler has classified us neatly enough in his sermon over KGEF:

"Some fellow wrote me a letter last week and it was a pretty good one. Down at the close he said this—listen!—'Why leave Gomorrah half cleaned up and go to Sodom?'" (Laughter and applause.)

God bless the Christian spirit that derogates us San Franciscans to the class of Sodomites in the heart of Rev. Bob Shuler while it exalts the children of Los Angeles to the plane of those that inhabited Gomorrah.

Rev. Bob's own account of San Francisco as a "pest-hole of what must be regarded as very masculine but non-Sodomitic propensities:"

"Undoubtedly San Francisco is European today, possibly a little Asiatic, and very little American . . . That is coming to be true of all our American cities . . . I say it with no thought of flattering Los Angeles. It is true that from the standpoint of a great metropolis and center of a million or more population this is possibly the last remaining Anglo-Saxon city in the nation. I mean by Anglo-Saxon this: a city with Anglo-Saxon idealism. There are some as good people of other origins here as you will find on earth, and yet the idealism in this city you have sustained in the ballot box. For instance I will give you a comparison: You take an issue like horse-racing and put it in the ballot. San Francisco votes overwhelmingly for it; Los Angeles votes overwhelmingly against it. Always true! You can take the liquor question, the Wright Act, the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment, put it on the ballot as we did; San Francisco votes overwhelmingly repudiating the Constitution; Los Angeles votes overwhelmingly sustaining the Constitution so far as the Eighteenth Amendment is concerned."

QUESTION ASKED

It is not for us to question the good taste or the holy charity of Rev. Bob Shuler; not for us to ask why the Lord in the infinity of his mercies has blighted this city of the Golden Gate with its beastly jest-ening of Irish Catholics and Jews—the 75 per cent of sectarian and racial pollution that has daunted even the stout heart of Los Angeles' chosen Methodist apostle and withheld him from the task of our conversion and spiritual deliverance. But why should Rev. Bob as an interpreter of God's infinite charity fling these unkind and damning accusations upon the breeze through KGEF?

All we can suggest is that, from the safety and comfort of his Fundamentalist pulpit in Trinity Church, Los Angeles, he should organise and direct a sort of a mixed pogrom directed against all the Jews and all the Pope's Irish in San Francisco—75 per cent of our population he estimates the number to be. This, if properly carried out, would reduce the Bartholomew Massacre to the comparative historical insignificance of Queen Anne's birthday, and incidentally would clear the way for the induction of the Rev. Bob Shuler into the shrine aforetime usurped by the friar of Assisi. San Francisco, purged, cleansed, redeemed and converted, would bury its Jew and Rome-tarred name with the rest of its delinquent past and arise from the blood of its massacre, reinvigorated and refreshed, as the city of San Bob Shulero.

DUEL FAILS TO SATISFY PRIMO'S SON

Capt. Rexach Also Keeps Grudge Despite His Two Sword Cuts on Wrist

TAMPLONA (Spain) March 4. (AP) It was learned here today that neither Miguel Primo de Rivera, son of the former dictator, nor Capt. Rexach of the Spanish artillery consider their honor satisfied in a duel which they fought here Sunday morning. Miguel was cut once on the wrist in the encounter and Rexach was cut twice.

What action the two will take in the matter remains to be seen. They separated only when the seconds, military friends, ruled that Rexach's cuts on the wrist were too serious to permit his continuing the affray.

Dr. Quintana, who was the elder Primo de Rivera's private physician, is said to have assisted. Young Primo de Rivera challenged Rexach after what he considered to be insults to his father by the artilleryman.

Several Hurt in Hunt With Prince Henry

MELTON MOWBRAY (Eng.) March 4. (AP)—During a day's hunting with the Quorn hounds yesterday, in which Prince Henry, Duke of Gloucester, participated, there was a crop of accidents among the followers.

Col. Johnson, 65 years of age, oldest member of the hunt, was thrown and his collar-bone was broken. Thereafter he rode six miles to his home.

Mrs. Burnady, wife of the master of the hunt, was thrown on her back and was injured. It was her second accident within a month.

Viscount Ebrington and Lord Blandford, son of the Duke of Marlborough, both were thrown and shaken up badly. Prince Henry rode through without a mishap.

PRESIDENT BACK OF FARM BOARD

Chairman Fears Nye Hearing Will Delay Relief Work

Scheme to Send Wheat to Aid of Chinese Proposed

WASHINGTON, March 4. (AP)—The Farm Board's wheat stabilization program continued to command interest today in Washington, with Chairman Legge asserting President Hoover is "squarely behind the board at every turn in the road without reservation, whatsoever."

Scheduled to go before the Senate Agriculture Committee Friday to outline the board's policies, the chairman said he has not acquainted himself with the text of the resolution by Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota, proposing a Congressional investigation of the administration of the Farm Relief Act. The committee postponed consideration of the Nye resolution today until the week-end.

Informed that the committee wants the views of himself and Secretary Hyde before proceeding with the resolution, Chairman Legge indicated he will not actively oppose an investigation, but said every day of investigation will mean delay in the progress of the board's work.

The Agriculture Committee also considered the resolution of Senator McMaster, Republican, South Dakota, to authorize the purchase of $25,000,000 of grain by the government to be used in China famine relief.

LEAGUE JURISTS KEEP PACT AIMS

Covenant Articles Retained Without Change

Harmonizing With Kellogg Measure Proceeds

Proposed Amendments Fail to Win Adoption

GENEVA, March 4. (AP)—The committee of jurists seeking to harmonize the covenant of the League of Nations with the Kellogg pact neared the conclusion of its task today by disposing of Articles XVII and XVIII without changing them and rejecting proposed amendments to each.

(Article XVII deals with the procedure to be followed in the event of a dispute involving nonmembers of the League, while Article XVIII deals with the registration of treaties or international agreements entered into by League members.)

Finland wished to add a paragraph to Article XVII providing that in case two nonmembers of the League went to war the Council should employ against them sanctions outlined in Article XVI. The committee, however, was virtually unanimous in foreseeing this stipulation might, under certain circumstances, bring an unfortunate situation face to face with the United States and declined to accept Finland's suggestion.

Dr. Mariano Cornejo of Peru urged the committee to amend Article XVIII. He sought to have added a proviso that the League secretariat should not register any treaty concluded as the result of a war in violation of the Kellogg pact.

NAVAL ENVOYS AGAIN CONFER

Full Membership Meets After Long Interim

Important Session to be Convened Friday

French Delegates Expect to Leave Tomorrow

LONDON, March 4. (AP)—While Senator Reed and Ambassador Matsudaira continued to wrestle with the American-Japanese naval problem, the whole machinery of the London conference was given a trial run today by the five-power delegations preparatory to getting up full steam when the French return.

Just six weeks ago the conference was inaugurated by King George in the House of Lords, and at 11 a.m., today the heads of delegations—including those of the British dominions—assembled at St. James's Palace for the first time in a fortnight to make sure no rust has been accumulated during the holidays caused by the French political crisis.

STIMSON ABSENT

A schedule of meetings was arranged for the remainder of this week. The most important phase of conference work will be started again tomorrow, when experts meet to consider the submarine question—not in its political or legal phases, but only as regards maximum and minimum tonnage.

The chief delegates will meet again Friday, and that meeting, in the view of many observers, will in a large measure indicate what degree of success it is possible for the London parley to achieve.

Col. Stimson of the United States delegation did not attend this morning's session. He is slightly ill at Stanmore with a cold and will remain there a day or so longer. Ambassador De Fleuriau represented France, but was without sufficient instructions to enable him to act upon important questions.

NO CONCESSIONS

After the session Premier MacDonald and Reijiro Wakatsuki of Japan conversed for half an hour. The Prime Minister was acquainted with the gist of the American-Japanese naval conversations proceeding between Senator Reed and Ambassador Matsudaira. Senator Reed and Senator Robinson had already discussed the subject with the Prime Minister, and at 5 o'clock Mr. Matsudaira himself called on Mr. MacDonald to outline more fully the nature of his talks with Senator Reed.

While an atmosphere of optimism surrounds those highly confidential exchanges, it is learned authoritatively that neither Reed, as the American spokesman, nor Matsudaira, as the Japanese, has yielded in any perceptible degree from the respective American-Japanese positions regarding ratios and fleet strengths.

The United States desires the five-five-three battleship ratio of the Washington conference to be made applicable to other classes of warships, while Japan maintains her demand for a ten-ten-seven ratio for her big-cruiser class.

FRENCH DELEGATION TO LEAVE TOMORROW

PARIS, March 4. (AP)—The French naval delegation will leave for the London conference at 8 o'clock Thursday morning if the Tardieu Cabinet is upheld by the Chamber of Deputies at 3 p.m. tomorrow.

The general feeling and hope in Parliamentary circles is that Tardieu will be upheld, for France desires to avoid being held responsible for any possible breakdown in the London conference.

NATIVES OF SAMOA HEAR PEACE OFFER

Three Points Stressed by New Zealand Governors at Large Gathering

APIA (Western Samoa) March 3. (Monday) (AP)—The New Zealand governors of Western Samoa met the native chiefs today at a large gathering at Vaimoso in an attempt to end the many years of Samoan resistance to New Zealand's rule.

Backed by armed constabulary and proposed reinforcements from New Zealand, the officials offered the natives terms of peace with the hope of averting further violence such as that on December 28, when fighting between the Mau (League of Native Samoans) and the constabulary resulted in the death of eight natives and one white constable.

New Zealand's administrator, Col. S. S. Allen, and Minister of Defense Cobbe, here on a special mission from New Zealand, addressed the natives, expressing their hope for a settlement of differences and the government's desire for the peace and prosperity of Samoa.

Allen emphasized three points for the chiefs' consideration as a basis of peace: First, that the militant Mau should disband; second, that men wanted for offenses against the government should be surrendered; third, that the New Zealand administrator when required will meet with the leading representative chiefs of the Samoan people to discuss all matters for the benefit of the people.

High Chief Faumuina, spokesman for the Mau, replied that not all chiefs of Samoa were present. Time, therefore, would be required to consider fully the three points.

In a telegram to Wood, Gen. Butler gave no specific reason for refusing to run.

Bits of Transportation History
America's First and Only Camel Corps

Transplanted from their native Saharan sands, America's first caravan of camels crossed Southwestern United States deserts in 1854. These camels carried as much as one-half ton as far as 50 miles in a day. Though efficient, they were exceedingly unpopular with 'mule-skinners,' whom they were wont to bite. Failure to import African drivers caused their abandonment at the outbreak of the Civil War, when they were turned adrift on the Arizona desert.

A long train of Rio Grande railway tank cars — 'black' ones loaded with crude oil for Rio Grande refineries — 'white' ones filled with Rio Grande refined products rolling to distribution points — this is a familiar sight in Southwestern United States.

It requires hundreds of these carriers to serve Rio Grande customers. Such all-steel links are an important part of the endless chain bringing crude oil from eight Rio Grande oil fields to Rio Grande refining centers, thence transporting finished products to a waiting market.

conception of what civilization means when it is aroused.

CHANGES FOR STRENGTH

"There will be changes in the law but they will be in the interest of better enforcement and if we have difficulties in the cities, that's a matter of education and public sentiment and not a matter of legislation. The case with which friends of prohibition are doing things detrimental to the cause, is disturbing me. I have been importuned here by persons who seem to think that what ought to be done is to scuttle the movement for prohibition. That sort of thing does more harm than all the wets in the country."

But Mr. Fess gave more time to citing the accomplishments of one year of Hoover than he did to discussing prohibition. He declared that the criticism of the President is due mostly to partisanship and asserted that most of it is unjustified.

For an hour or more he cited achievements of the administration in executive, administrative, diplomatic, social betterment and economic fields, asserting Mr. Hoover's handling of the economic situation following the stock market crash of last fall "was one of the outstanding accomplishments in history," while his inducing of big men to enter the service is most meritorious.

FIELD OF DIPLOMACY

In the field of diplomacy, Fess commended Mr. Hoover for his South American trip just prior to inauguration, which he said had created the best feeling in Pan-Americanism that has ever existed. Settlement of the Tacna-Arica dispute of fifty years' standing; effort to throttle revolution in Mexico, his appointment of the commission now in Haiti to study the need of the American protectorate he advanced as deeds of the administration well done in the first year in office.

"Peace in the world is the President's desire," he added. "It was the keynote of his inaugural address, of his message to Congress."

The Senator recounted the visit here of Premier MacDonald of Great Britain and the historic conferences which led to the calling of the present London naval conference.

"Yet there have been criticisms of MacDonald's visit and there are those who are now calling for the withdrawal of our delegates from the conference. Still, when he came it was heralded everywhere as a great omen. We need have no fear of the London conference. There is no justification of the suspicion that the conference will do any harm to the United States. No one is justified in criticising the administration in its efforts for parity."

NEW PERSONNEL PLAN

Next the Senator took up the President's administrative functions. He declared that Mr. Hoover had built up the personnel of the government to a point where today it is stronger than it ever had been.

"He adopted a new plan in handling nominations by making public the backers of the nominees so that the public might see what influences were back of these men whose names are sent the Senate. It was a splendid innovation in the interest of public service."

Mr. Hoover, he said, had initiated his reorganization plan and has shown a sympathetic attitude toward the building up of the American merchant marine.

Senator Fess called attention to the social betterment work undertaken by the administration and said that Hoover, like Roosevelt, is being criticised for this activity. Despite this criticism, he said, Mr. Hoover had shown a keen response to anything bettering humanity. He called the Senate's attention to the child-welfare conference called by the President and predicted much good from it.

FRENCH DEBT SETTLED

Legislatively, he declared, the administration has accomplished a good deal despite the fact that only for two months out of the twelve Congress has been busy with the tariff bill. He listed settlement of the troublesome French debt problem, passage of the census and reapportionment bills and the farm relief measure.

Mr. Hoover, he said, had inherited many problems. One, the farm relief difficulty, with all its complications, was passed and signed in two months time, keeping a campaign pledge. Fess urged the Senate and House not to throw obstacles in the path of the Farm Relief Board, which recently has been subjected to attack by the Democrats. He defended the board, saying its personnel attested to the wise "picking" of the President.

About the tariff, he said there has been a great amount of adverse criticism not only on the bill but on the amount of time the Senate is taking to pass it. Those who criticise, he said, have no idea how the tariff is drafted, nor the problems and difficulties that are presented with every revision attempted. He pointed out that there have been few extraneous matters injected into the tariff debate.

TARIFF DEFENDED

"There has been unjust criticism of the President for his refusal to interfere on the tariff," Fess said. "It is unfair to expect that the President ought to say what he thinks the tariff rates should be. We ourselves cannot agree and to say that the Executive should say to us what this rate or that rate should be is a silly statement, for in the first place he could not do it and secondly, it is not his function.

"If the President should go beyond the realm of the Executive the very people who are now criticising him so freely for not doing it would be the most bitter in their indictment of him."

Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, was sarcastic in answering Fess. Only the greatest of enthusiasm and an overabundance of Republicanism could, he said, have dictated the Ohioan's speech.

DOLDRUMS LAID TO SENATE

Secretary of Labor Davis Blames Unemployment on Dawdling Over Tariff and Other Bills

WASHINGTON, March 4. (Exclusive)—Responsibility for unemployment throughout the country was inferentially placed upon the Senate today by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis following discussion of the labor situation at this morning's meeting of the Cabinet.

Admitting that there is "distressing unemployment," Mr. Davis, nevertheless, expressed the opinion that the policies of the Hoover administration in handling the recent stock market crash had "held unemployment to less than one-half that of previous crashes."

The Davis statement was designed as an answer to the address on unemployment by Senator Wagner of New York on Monday. Discussing Senator Wagner's proposals for additional employment agencies Mr. Davis said they met his approval.

TARIFF DELAY CITED

"But," he added, "of far more importance, as I see it, is the urgent necessity for the public buildings bill, which passed the House, and the appropriations for public works in the deficiency bill now awaiting Senate action.

"Above all, the workers of the country need the passage of the Tariff Act to remove uncertainty and allow the workers to make in our own factories the hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of goods now coming in by import. In fact, the delays in tariff legislation are more responsible today for creating unemployment than any other factor.

"Push the building program, pass the tariff bill and our workers will find employment."

CABINET TACKLES PROBLEM

The administration is greatly concerned about the unemployment situation. That became apparent today, when it was admitted that the subject was discussed at some length at the Cabinet meeting.

Mr. Davis in his statement upon it took an optimistic view of the immediate future.

"Senator Wagner," he said, "makes a great show of indignation that the administration has not been able to overcome the whole of the terrific dislocation of business and consequent unemployment resulting from the stock crash in New York, the financier's home city. I admit that there is distressing unemployment but for the first time in the history of these events by its actions and policies the administration has held unemployment to less than one-half that of previous crashes and by the stabilization of wages and co-operation of the business world, work is being provided in a way that should relieve most of this within the very near future. While employment for the week of February 17, as compared with February 10, showed a drop of three-tenths of 1 per cent, the situation today is greatly improved over the low point of last December.

HOOVER'S AID EFFECTIVE

"It is a fair estimate to make that the new census will show something like 48,000,000 individuals earning a living in the country and certainly 43,000,000 of them are at work.

"The construction program worked out by President Hoover exceeds 1929 and is having its effect. The Secretary of Commerce has announced a $1,000,000,000 program for the government and other civic agencies.

"Senator Wagner's own proposals are for more Federal employment agencies and more statistics, and as I see it, hoped-for cures for future crashes. I am in accord with the demand. However, none of these things create jobs right now. For what they are, worth the present administration recommended necessary expansion in employment agencies and statistics through the Department of Labor budget, not yet passed by the Senate."

WHEELER IN POWER CRITICISM

Calls on Cabinet Members to Resign Offices in World Conference

WASHINGTON, March 4. (AP)—While the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee prepared to complete its investigation of the Federal Power Commission tomorrow, Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, demanded today in the Senate that the three Cabinet members who are exofficio commissioners resign honorary offices in the world power conference.

Senators Norris, Republican, Nebraska, and Walsh, Democrat, Montana, joined Wheeler in attacks upon the commission's activities. Wheeler said power and power companies would be "the scandal of this administration," as "the scandal of the last administration was oil," unless the situation in the commission were bettered.

Wheeler complained in his speech today against the relationship of the three commissions and of President Hoover with the world power conference. President Hoover, he said, was honorary chairman when it was organized in 1923. The conference, he added, was and is being financed by power companies, among which he named the Electric Bond and Share Company, the National Electric Light Association, and the Guaranty Trust Company.

QUEEN OF SWEDEN HAS SUDDEN SINKING SPELL

ROME, March 4. (AP)—Queen Victoria of Sweden, who is ill at the royal villa here, after a few days' betterment, has suddenly grown worse and her condition is again grave. Her personal physician, Dr. Axel Munthe, who had been accorded a brief rest, was summoned hastily and administered oxygen.

The Italian royalties are keeping informed as to her condition while a direct telephone to Stockholm has been installed at the Villa Svezia, where Her Majesty is confined.

MEXICANS HOLD HOPE OF FUTURE

Era of Stability Dawning Observers Declare

Ortiz Rubio Found Fearless and Wise Executive

Communist Ideas Junked by Nation's Authority

MEXICO CITY, March 4. (AP)—Close observers of the Mexican political situation feel that the next six months will be of utmost importance in determining the country's future, the predominant hope being that within this period Mexico will be well embarked on policies which should lead her to progress and reconstruction.

Early indications of President Ortiz Rubio's intentions are viewed as constituting a harbinger of solid stability and now that the President has recovered from his wounds and actively is engaged in his work more rapid strides toward achievement of his plans are looked for.

COMMUNISM OUT

Communism apparently has been done away with definitely in Mexico and ample guaranties are promised for foreign as well as native capital. The proposed labor code, which caused a storm of protest from capital when it was presented in Congress a few months ago, seems to have been pigeonholed and prominent government spokesmen have been quoted in remarks calculated to inspire the confidence of investors. Recently Gen. Jose Maria Tapia, governor of the northern district of Lower California and considered one of the brightest prospects in Mexico's administrative ranks, said there is no place in this country for Bolshevism and declared capital will receive the fullest protection.

This attitude, observers point out, is bound to lead to prosperity and reconstruction and if within a few months it has become solidly rooted many industrial and commercial projects now under consideration will find the field sufficiently safe for investment.

TOURIST PROFITS

One of the principal sources of prosperity for Mexico is tourist travel and the country is just finishing its most successful season which saw such an influx of Americans as to open the eyes of skeptics and awaken the business man in general to realization that treasure is within reach.

Six months, if hopes are fulfilled, should see the horizon cleared with the Ortiz Rubio government well established and free of the rumors which still beclouds the situation. It is considered necessary first to shake off the chronic pessimists, strengthen public confidence with several months of stability and then put an end once and for all to speculation as to the government's endurance.

Ortiz Rubio's determination in the face of the attempt to assassinate him—and investigation of the attempted assassination led to discovery of not just one, but several plots against his life—has won a host of friends and admirers. The public has proof of the President's will to overcome obstacles, which means much in Mexico.

The government's foreign policy is viewed as leading to close relationship with the United States and promotion of the confidence needed to stimulate tourist travel and investments. Its interior policy has been one of firmness, necessary in Mexico, and its financial program is looked upon as promising.

CONFIDENCE INSPIRED

The President's recent categorical declaration that lands taken over for distribution under the agrarian laws hereafter will be paid for on the basis of their value and without delay has inspired confidence among property owners and brought a favorable reaction abroad.

Old-timers who have watched the situation since Porfirio Diaz's downfall and followed step by step the series of upheavals and reforms that came as a consequence are almost unanimous in the opinion that the country now faces one of its brightest epochs. They hope that nothing will arise to again postpone the prosperity for which they have waited and believe that a period of about six months will tell the tale.

PAJAMA INSULT IRONED OUT

Gov. Long of Louisiana Apologizes for Receiving German Officer in Lounging Garb

NEW ORLEANS, March 4. (AP)—Gov. Huey P. Long, who scoffs at convention and boasts of being a "hill billy," today had succeeded in smoothing the ruffled feelings of Commander Lothar Von Arnauld De la Periere of the German cruiser Emden, who took offense at being received by the Governor in green silk pajamas and a lounging robe.

The German commander threatened to weigh anchor and steam out of the New Orleans Harbor unless the Governor formally apologized for the slight to German dignity. At first Gov. Long refused, saying:

LONG DRESSED UP

"Apologize! For what? Why, I treated them like home folks."

But his friends finally convinced him that serious international complications might develop from the incident and Gov. Long agreed to go aboard the Emden and present his apologies. Then it was discovered the Governor did not possess formal morning wear necessary for the occasion. His friends brought in the striped trousers and frock coat and dressed him up. The Governor balked at the high silk hat and went aboard with a snappy gray felt tucked under his arm.

"I was hoping that this morning I might have the opportunity here to apologize for the indecorous fashion in which I was attired when you called to see me yesterday morning," said the Governor. "I am really very much hurt over the incident. There is a great deal of misunderstanding."

APOLOGY ACCEPTED

The commander assured the Governor that his apology was accepted and they chatted a few minutes. As the Governor left the Emden fired a seventeen-gun salute and the incident was closed.

The embarrassment arose when the German commander, in full dress uniform, went with the German Consul, Reie L. Jaeger, to the Governor's apartments in the Roosevelt Hotel to pay his formal respects. They were escorted to the Governor's quarters by Seymour Weiss, lieutenant-colonel on the Governor's staff.

They caught the Governor in repose, wearing only green pajamas, a blue silk lounging robe and blue Morocco bedroom slippers. Aghast and dumfounded, the Germans greeted the Governor, exchanged courtesies and then quickly withdrew.

The German Consul went straight to the office of Col. Weiss and demanded an apology to his commander from the Governor for his bedroom attire. At first the Governor and the colonel laughed, but it was no laughing matter for the Germans.

Doctor's Slaying Puzzles Police of Cleveland

CLEVELAND, March 4. (AP)—Detectives today are hunting for some clew to strip the veil of mystery from the slaying here last night of Dr. Alfred Scully, physician. The doctor's lonely and unobtrusive life, though in the midst of a wide practice among hundreds of families, added to the baffling nature of the case.

The body of Dr. Scully, 62 years of age, with a bullet wound above the heart, was found lying beneath the desk of his West Side office, but there was no hint as to who his assailant might have been or why he was killed.

Dr. Scully leaves a brother, Jerry O. Scully, who made a fortune in oil in Southern California, and a sister, Edith, a mother superior in a Toronto convent.

Arizonans Will Testify Against Irene Schroeder

NEW CASTLE (Pa.) March 4. (AP) Six persons will be brought here from Arizona to testify for the State against Irene Schroeder and W. Glenn Dague, indicted yesterday for the slaying of Corp. Paul Brady, Pennsylvania State highway patrolman, the prosecutors said today.

The prosecutors, John S. Powers, District Attorney, and Charles Margiotti, said they are prepared for the trial, which is scheduled to begin next Monday.

Arizonans who will come here include Sheriff Wright of Phoenix, two deputies and newspaper men. The prosecutors said there also will be two "surprise" witnesses. The Arizona party is expected to leave Phoenix Thursday and arrive here Sunday night.

FUGITIVE CAPTURED

NEW ORLEANS, March 4. (AP)—Carey Adams, alias C. C. Arnold, Colorado fugitive banker, was arrested here today by police and held for Federal authorities in Colorado on a fugitive's warrant.

REDS EXPLAIN FEARS OF WAR

They Believe It May Come Within Three Months

Rumanian Maneuvers Cause Alarm in Moscow

Rupture of Relations With Germany Also Hinted

(Copyright, 1930, by New York Times.)

MOSCOW, March 4. (Exclusive)—Despite the liquidation of the Manchurian conflict and the return of the Red near-western army from the Chinese frontier, war danger continues to haunt the soviet mind.

The recent report from Bucharest of soviet troop concentrations on the Bessarabian border which was promptly denied by Moscow, is considered here to be a pretext for Rumanian concentration.

An announcement that Rumania is holding "important maneuvers" in a province bordering on the Dniester River is considered here as an ominous sign, and further alarm has been caused in official circles by the sudden summons last week of Polish Minister Patek and his military attache to Warsaw.

HOW THEY FIGURE IT

The Bolsheviks have been unduly excited about the war bogey in the past, but their attitude at present has a certain logical basis. They argue thus:

"This is a critical year for the five-year plan. Our enemies, or at any rate the most intelligent of them, know that, despite great and obvious difficulties, our chances of success now outweigh those of failure. They see that the financial blockade imposed on us has been met by increased exports, which, although involving an extra strain on the Russian people, now have reached a point where our economic competition—soviet dumping as they call it—is presenting a real danger and is causing uneasiness, particularly in Germany.

"For the first time a possibility of a rupture of diplomatic relations with this country is being openly discussed in Germany, and the recent German-Polish agreement introduces a new factor in Eastern Europe.

PURPOSE DISCERNED

"The current outburst of anti-soviet feeling in various countries of Europe is not merely fortuitous and the efforts being made to incite public opinion against us everywhere, whether on religious or other grounds, have a definite purpose behind them.

"That Poland or Rumania might risk a military venture may seem incredible from the common-sense viewpoint but it is, as we have reason to believe, that they overestimate our difficulties and exaggerate the nature and character of the Kulak resistance to our agrarian program and they might suppose that a comparatively short and inexpensive incursion across our borders would has sconsequences far greater than the attainment of immediate military objectives.

"They know that a successful harvest will set the seal of national approval on our policy of collectivization, which in turn will mean the success of the five-year plan. Therefore, they must strike in the next three months if they strike at all."

SPADE TURNS UP STONE AND WOE

Rock Believed Worth Large Fortune Stolen

Thieves Torture Couple to Learn Hiding Place

Wife Thought It Diamond But Husband Knew

CRYSTAL LAKE (Ill.) March 4. (AP)—The brilliant stone that Ed Tessendorf's spade upturned last August and which he believed represented a fortune has been stolen.

Tessendorf and his wife suffered torture yesterday before revealing the hiding place of the large, uncut stone to the two thieves who overpowered them at their farm home near here.

The man and his wife were tied hand and foot to a bed. They were menaced by guns and threatened with death. Glowing cigars were held against Tessendorf's cheeks. With pliers the men pulled at Tessendorf's toenails. Despite excruciating pain, the farmer refused to tell where he had hidden the stone.

CHARGE FIRED

One of the robbers knelt on the bedroom floor, leveled a shotgun at Mrs. Tessendorf and said he would kill her unless Tessendorf gave up his secret. The ten-count began. Tessendorf would not speak. At the word "ten" the gunman pulled the trigger. The room reechoed with the roar of the gun, the charge tearing harmlessly into the wall above the woman's head.

Then Tessendorf told. Under the clock, on the mantel, he said. It was there, and the robbers fled with it.

Forty thousand dollars, it was worth, said Crystal Lake gossip. Tessendorf had been digging a well when, in throwing out a spadeful of dirt, the sun glinted on the stone. He took it to the little Crystal Lake jewelry shop. The jeweler did not represent himself to be an expert lapidary, but he advised that the stone be carefully preserved. Even to him it seemed to be a diamond.

WIFE HAPPY

The Tessendorfs, who till a 100-acre farm, became enthusiastic over the promise of fortune that after years of hard labor had come so easily from the soil. Mrs. Tessendorf particularly delighted in the advantages it meant for the family.

Tessendorf made a trip to Chicago. An expert lapidary examined the stone. The farmer came back with the stone and carefully concealed it.

Forty thousand dollars it was worth, said the gossip that swept McHenry county. Forty thousand dollars.

"Somehow," said Tessendorf today at the bedside of his wife, who is suffering from the effects of yesterday's experience with robbers, "I could not tell her. That man in Chicago, that jewel expert, he looked at it under a glass that sort of screwed into his eye. 'Very beautiful,' he told me, 'a very beautiful lump of crystal, and it may be worth as much as $300.'"

"THE SHOP ALL WOMEN KNOW"

"We need more Good men!"

"In order to put this plan over successfully, Mr. Foster, we'll have to increase our organization considerably. We need mechanics, foremen, bookkeepers, salesmen — our whole force must be enlarged. There'll be no time to try these men out; we need them right now and they must be right."

"What's the matter with our employment department; aren't we getting plenty of applications?"

"Yes, we are, Mr. Foster, but you know what that means —a raft of men, all kinds, good, bad, and indifferent — it would take us six months to weed out the good ones."

"Well, Jim, I'll tell you what to do. Call up The Times and run a few help wanted ads, and don't run the ads anywhere else. We'll get the pick of the city that way, and it will save us a lot of grief and time."

Times' help wanted advertisements are a time-saving and money-saving service. They are read by thrifty and superior workers in all occupations. Many a business attributes a substantial part of its success to the fine grade of men and women secured through The Los Angeles Times.

RAIL VALUATION TEST RENEWED

I. C. C. Again Attempts to Get Excess Earnings

Reproduction Cost Figured by Flexible Scale

Original Scheme Upset by Supreme Court Ruling

WASHINGTON, March 4. (AP)—Its first attempt to apply the "excess earnings" clause of the Transportation Act since its valuation methods were overthrown by the Supreme Court, the Interstate Commerce Commission today made a near-approach to its problem of collecting from the railroads the "excess earnings" as defined by law.

While there is some doubt whether the new proceedings will fulfill all of the requirements of a new test case, the action instituted today is the first since the Supreme Court overruled the plan of collection which had been followed in the original test against the St. Louis and O'Fallon Railroad.

BASIS OF ACTION

The commission today tentatively ordered the Brimstone Railroad and Canal Company, a small line in Louisiana built by the Union Sulphur Company and now no longer in operation, to pay $260,425.81 to the Treasury as excess profits for the years 1920 to 1925, inclusive. The Brimstone company has voluntarily paid in $42,642.31 on this account, and will be given opportunity to protest against the extra charge.

The proceeding against the Brimstone company is based on sections of the Transportation Act which entitle the government to demand from any railroad the payment of one-half of the amount which it may earn in excess of a 6 per cent return on the fair value of its property.

VALUATION METHOD

The difficulty of determining the fair value has hitherto served as an almost complete block to collection. The plan followed in the case of the St. Louis and O'Fallon was rejected because the Supreme Court felt there had been a failure to give legal weight to reproduction costs.

In its order to the Brimstone line, the commission set down an estimate of the cost of reproduction differing for each year of the recapture period, based on the changing prices of labor and material through the period.

On this method of figuring, the cost of reproduction of the Brimstone property, less depreciation, was fixed as ranging from $332,000 in 1920 to $321,000 in 1925.

The final valuation allotted, however, was in every case somewhat less than the estimated cost of reproduction for a like date.

FARMERS DISCLOSE PROGRESS

State-wide Agricultural Survey Starts Off With Optimistic Reports

MARYSVILLE, March 4. (AP)—E. A. Stokdyk, associate agricultural economist of the University of California, today was told by farmers and bankers assembled here that grain, cattle, sheep and dairy farmers of the Sacramento Valley are better off than they were five years ago.

Fruit growers are no worse off now than they were five years ago, the economist was told during the course of the first of a series of hearings conducted at the direction of the State Legislature, which authorized a State-wide survey of agricultural conditions.

One good year will straighten out the affairs of the peach growers, who represent 25 to 30 per cent of the local agriculture, Stokdyk was informed. The growers said the banks have been fast in distribution of loans, but maintained that the state, through reclamation work, has taken away loan value of lands. Many advanced the opinion the State should act to restore credit.

About fifty representative farmers and bankers attended the conference.

Nine Indicted in Brooklyn Passport Fraud

NEW YORK, March 4. (AP)—Nine persons, including two women, were indicted by a Federal grand jury in Brooklyn today for conspiracy in furnishing assertedly fraudulent visas and incidental papers to Polish citizens who thereby gained admission to the United States.

Among those indicted is Harry M. Hall, former Vice-Consul at Warsaw, Poland, who was dismissed on February 12 as a result of the visa investigations. Federal Attorney Amell refused to reveal the present whereabouts of Hall lest some harm befall him.

Nebraska Bank Pair Indicted

NELSON (Neb.) March 4. (AP)—George S. Aldrich, son of ex-Gov. Aldrich of Nebraska, and Joseph Weir, former president of the State Bank of Superior, were named in two indictments returned by the Nicolls county grand jury here today. The indictments charge them with making false entries on the bank's records and with accepting deposits after the bank was insolvent.

The Superior Bank was closed in 1927. Aldrich was cashier.

Twelve counts are contained in the indictment charging false entries and eight in the other.

NEW YORK, March 4. (Exclusive) Mme. Kathy Trnadel Navrasios's spite marriage to Charles Nary, a Hungarian tenor, apparently has acted as a boomerang, for the husband has filed suit for annulment of the marriage. In his charges, Nary asserts that Mme. Navrasios simply married him in an effort to "get even" with the man she really loved. Nary says he is sure of this because, he charges, his wife told him: "I married you only to spite the man I love." If Nary knows the name of the intended victim, he does not divulge it.

Sir Esme Howard Pleased With Treatment Here and Friendship of Nations

LONDON, March 4. (AP)—Speaking tonight at a banquet of the famous Pilgrims' Society in his honor, Sir Esme Howard, retiring British Ambassador to Washington, expressed his appreciation of his treatment in the United States. He reiterated his belief in the durability of the friendship between England and America.

Reviewing Anglo-American relations during his six years at Washington, he mentioned the question of liquor smuggling and the failure of the 1927 disarmament conference at Geneva.

"Apart from the I'm Alone case, which was dealt with by my Canadian colleague, I think I can say that no really serious incident arose in my term of office which caused any bitterness or ill-feeling between the governments," he said.

"Considerable feeling was, indeed, stirred up during the newspaper war that accompanied and followed the failure of the Geneva naval disarmament conference of 1927 and the Anglo-French compromise of 1928," he said. "I need not say anything about these here except to repeat my belief that the bitterness they caused did not go very much deeper than the newspapers, which were largely responsible for it."

Canoes Hint of Polynesians in Early America

BERKELEY, March 4. (AP)—The suggestion that Polynesians or other Pacific islanders may have "discovered" the American mainland in advance of either Columbus or the Norsemen was made in an article published today in the California monthly of the California Alumni Association by Dr. Roald Olsen of the American Museum of Natural History.

Dr. Olsen's theory developed from his investigation of the burial grounds about twenty miles from Santa Barbara and on the adjacent islands of Santa Rosa and Santa Cruz of the extinct California Chumash Indians, where, he said, he found remains of canoes and fish hooks showing a culture distinctly in advance of that of the Chumash tribes.

Pontiff in Consistory Talk Compliments Preachers

VATICAN CITY, March 4. (AP)—Pope Pius, receiving 300 Lenten preachers in Consistorial Hall today, called their attention to "two great plagues afflicting modern humanity."

The first is, he said, an inclination among young people to resent all kinds of surveillance over them, even that of their parents.

The second he declared to be the unbridledness of the press, which discusses everything without any respect, particularly toward young people.

His Holiness told the preachers he knew it was superfluous to advise them since they knew very well what he meant already. He gave them the apostolic blessing.

The preachers already had made oath to the vice-regent of Rome to preach according to the dogma of the church.

HETTY GREEN'S ESTATE BILLED

Neighbors Assert Forty-Year Evasion of Taxes

Town Meeting Authorizes Collection Action

Levy to be Made Against $67,000,000 Holding

ROCKINGHAM (Vt.) March 4. (AP)—Little Rockingham, where Hetty H. R. Green, woman millionaire, maintained a home many years, today moved to collect taxes that may aggregate millions of dollars upon the estate.

Assembled in the largest town meeting in years, the voters unanimously instructed the listers to levy taxes upon the $67,000,000 estate which, it was said, for forty years had not been taxed on more than $112,000.

Three hundred and eighty-seven voters, double the number usually found at annual town meetings, crowded the State Armory in Bellows Falls village.

Not a dissenting voice was raised against the motion.

State investigators assert they have determined that certain town officials entered into an agreement with Mrs. Green, whereby she consented to remain a resident of Bellows Falls on condition that she be taxed on not more than $12,000 real estate and $100,000 personal property. Mrs. Green died in New York in 1916. She left a daughter and a son, the latter, Col. Edward R. Green, a resident of South Dartmouth, Mass.

SPANIARDS FLOCK TO KING'S SIDE

Organizations for Defense of Monarchy Spring Up as Result of Speech

MADRID, March 4. (AP)—Organizations for the defense of the Spanish monarchy are springing up all over Spain in reaction to the recent Republican demonstration.

Crowds flocked to the Royal Palace all day long to sign the album of King Alfonso as an expression of loyalty to the monarch and an answer to the cries of "Down with the King" that were common for several days after the antimonarchial speech of former Premier Querra.

SAN JOAQUIN TO PAY PROSECUTOR'S CLAIM

SACRAMENTO, March 4. (AP)—San Joaquin lost its fight against paying a claim of Dist.-Atty. Darrah for $454.95 expenses incurred during the trial two years ago of the sheriff and a supervisor when the State Supreme Court, in a ruling on file here today, refused to review the case. Darrah was awarded judgment in the Superior Court and the Third District Court of Appeal affirmed the judgment. The county then carried its appeal to the Supreme Court. Darrah asserted he spent his own money hiring detectives to investigate qualifications of prospective jurors prior to the trial of the county officials. The county contended the expense was not a proper charge.

KANSAS CITY, March 4. (AP)—The Kansas City Star says tonight the nomination of George E. Kimball over Raymond G. Smith, Democrat, unopposed, held a commanding lead in the early returns. The unofficial count in eighty-two precincts showed: Smith, 14,762; Kimball, 2706; Barnett, 1668.

NATIVE HAITIAN TENDERS PLAN

Hoover Commission Handed Island Program

Provisional Government by America Urged

Elections Later to Establish Domestic Machinery

PORT-AU-PRINCE, March 4. (AP) The Hoover investigating commission today received its first concrete plan from the Haitian people for remedying the political ills Haiti has complained of and blames on American intervention in the republic's affairs.

George N. Leger, a native lawyer of high reputation, recommended that a provisional government be established at the earliest possible moment to rule until the election of Deputies and Senators to the National Assembly. Later the Assembly will choose a President.

THREATS FOLLOW

Leger's recommendation was backed by a warning from Justin Sam, leader of the League of Haitian Youth, that 10,000 young Haitians would join their elders in revolution April 14, next, unless legislative elections are held. Sam also demanded that President Hoover issue a proclamation ordering the end of the Borno regime.

Accusing the American authorities of having aroused race prejudice in Haiti for the first time in its history, Leger admitted much material good has come out of the marines' occupation of the Island republic. Roads have been built, sanitary conditions are admirable and the National Garde is well organized, he said.

DON'T LIKE RUSSELL

But, Leger insisted, the price paid is beyond its value. He maintains that the United States is dominating instead of helping Haiti and terms the choice of Brig.-Gen. John H. Russell as American High Commissioner "most unfortunate."

Specifically, he accuses Gen. Russell of having made a report stating that the Haitian people had "the mentality of 7-year-old children."

Seeing no possibility of electing a President by plebiscite because the people are not used to this method, he recommends that the Assembly be chosen first.

"Even if a large part of the electorate is illiterate the voters are capable of electing Deputies because they know the men in their districts. Once a provisional government has been established and the return of legislative elections guaranteed the people will go back to business and forget politics."

AGAINST HIGH COMMISSION

As for the High Commissionership, he frankly asks for its abolition and for the substitution of a regular American diplomatic representative.

He urges that the marines be kept at the head of the Garde for the present, with the understanding that as soon as Haitians have been trained the direction of the Garde should be turned over to them.

Gen. Russell, who will not appear at the public hearings of the commission, but is gathering facts to try to refute the charges brought against his administration by the Haitians, wrote to the commissioners today denying assertions that foreigners are running the Public Works Department.

He said that out of 9000 employees in the department, only eight were foreigners.

New Foot Disease Attacks Millions

ATHLETE'S FOOT

Vegetable Parasite Responsible—Symptoms are Itching Between and Under Toes—The Skin Cracks and Blisters

STOP INFECTION BEFORE IT SPREADS

Look at your feet tonight and especially under and between toes—they may be infected with the vegetable parasite known to science as Tinea Trichophyton—let us hope they are not.

The United States Public Health Service assert in a recent bulletin that at least one-half of all adults suffer from it at times—men, more than women.

And bear in mind it is no disease to trifle with for many of its victims have been disabled for weeks.

They call this modern disease Athlete's Foot because the germ Tinea Trichophyton breeds on the floors of the dressing rooms of gymnasiums and athletic clubs—also on shower boards and mats and near swimming pools.

When this parasite first attacks, there is an eruption followed by itching (often intense) the skin cracks—it blisters—when the blister breaks there is an oozing of liquid.

If not caught in time the disease usually spreads along the sole and sides of the foot—the skin reddens and may peel off.

CAUTION: The disease is infectious—someone in your own home may have it—find out tonight. Beware of bathmats, either at home or in hotels—use a newspaper—it's safer. Wear your own slippers and walk as little as possible in your bare feet.

TREATMENT: After bathing the feet apply Moone's Emerald Oil generously, not only under and between the toes but over the bottom and sides of foot. This powerful oil soothes and penetrates — stops the itching and checks the growth of the germs of this vegetable parasite.

The Owl Drug Company can supply you.—[Advertisement.

INAUGURATION MONTH

HOME-COMING days for Old Home folks —clear thinking days for old time thoughts—Days of good will expressed in words and in deeds—Days of sentiment valued for their Inspiration—Days of Inauguration Month that are Days of Opportunity.

—Such are these days—of which yesterday was the first—of Bullock's twenty-third Inauguration Month—with every hour filled with happiness over the much there is to do—and over the work itself, that of making Bullock's a better store than Bullock's has ever been.

—It was good to meet the greetings of yesterday—the flowers and telegrams, and letters and hand clasps of those who have come to know Bullock's and whom Bullock's has come to know; of those who have always shown an interest in Bullock's;—of those whose support has been so important in building Bullock's into the Business that Bullock's is today.

—It is good to look into the eyes of Old Friends and New out of the consciousness of the Sincerity that underlies every thought, word and deed for which this business is responsible and thank you all again for all that you have done.

—It is good to be privileged to express this appreciation and to reiterate a promise of renewed devotion to and re-dedication to the principles of the Bullock ideal

"To build a business that will never know completion but that will advance continually to meet advancing conditions—

To develop stocks and service to a notable degree—To create a personality that will be known for its strength and friendliness—

To arrange and co-ordinate activities to the end of winning confidence by meriting it—

To strive always to secure the satisfaction of every customer—"

—This is a pledge not only of words but of People who believe in the things that Bullock's is trying to do—to whom Bullock's is very near and to whom The Satisfaction of Every Customer is more than an ambition—

—And so these People, these Men and Women who are Bullock's have entered Inauguration Month carrying with them full sense of their responsibility—

—And Inauguration Month takes from them those things which make Inauguration Month attractive—an endowment of new merchandise, new values—and service to an intensified degree—

—By these and by their manner and kind and character—will Inauguration Month give impetus to this twenty-fourth Bullock year as Inauguration months have proved proper prefaces to all Bullock years as they have gone before—

There is no part of the entire store without its important significance and its Inauguration intention to start this new year well—to render service in The Bullock Way—and, no matter what your Needs may be—to fill them in the manner that maintains confidence and friends.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

PRISONER TRIES TO BURN JAIL

Officers Accuse Japanese Held as Suspect

Oriental Faces Charge of Killing Chinese

Plans Made to Move Man to County Bastile

PASADENA, March 4.—Evidence of an attempt to set fire to the City Jail was discovered this afternoon by Police Sergeant Ralph Schad, who found four charred wooden fragments and a match box while inspecting a hole in a jail cell ceiling through which Frank Shirashi, charged with the murder of a Chinese merchant, attempted to escape yesterday.

A thdrough examination of the cell was made in an unsuccessful effort to find a hacksaw which the Japanese racketeer is believed to have used in cutting a large hole in the cell ceiling. Three partly burned pieces of a fruit box were obtained from the space between the ceiling and the second floor and charred newspapers and burned matches were discovered in an air vent near the cell floor.

The police believe that Shirashi either planned to set fire to the jail with the hope of escaping during the confusion or that he may have started the fires to allow him to see his way about in the dark space between the ceiling and the second floor.

The murder suspect's escape attempt was discovered yesterday while the cell was empty and the prisoner was being questioned in the detective bureau. Schad entered the cell, which was being cleaned, and discovered the hole. Shirashi had used a blanket to make a swing at the top of the cell on which he could sit while cutting his way to freedom.

Last night he was placed under guard in a special cell and plans were made today to hold him in the County Jail to await his preliminary hearing on the 8th inst.

Shirashi, who is facing deportation proceedings following his release from Leavenworth pehitentiary, is asserted to be the leader of an international dope-smuggling ring.

Police assert that Shirashi plotted the robbery of the store of Bin J. Wong, who was shot in the back and fatally wounded when he attempted to run for help. Two negroes, Theodore Albritton and Benjamin Smith, have been identified as the actual perpetrators of the hold-up. The negroes assert that Shirashi furnished them guns and drove them to the store. Billy Russell, so-called flapper bandit and Albritton's self-styled sweetheart, is also being held in the local jail as a material witness.

Officers Think Lois Davis Took Her Own Life

BURBANK, March 4.—Identification of Lois Hiatt, 21 years of age, of 7835 San Cola street, Roscoe, as Mrs. Lois Davis, who last Saturday told surgeons in the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital in Los Angeles that she had been held prisoner in a hotel room by an "acid-throwing moron," but whose story was doubted by the police surgeons, has led Chief of Police R. L. Bergh and Capt. Lee Hampton of the detective bureau to set the death of the girl down to suicide.

Evidence that the girl had threatened to end her life was reported to Chief Bergh, who has reconstructed her actions up until the time she was found lifeless on the Southern Pacific tracks in Burbank early Sunday morning.

It is the theory of the police here that Miss Hiatt reclined alongside the railroad tracks and raised her head as the engine passed, just in time to receive a fatal blow on the head from the locomotive, which fractured her skull. An autopsy conducted last night showed that death was due to the skull fracture.

What is declared by Chief Bergh to have been a previous attempt at suicide, that failed when the girl lost her nerve, was the discovery of a quantity of lye dissolved in a tumbler of water in the room that she occupied in a Los Angeles hotel last Friday night. Acid burns were discovered on the bed clothes, Bergh declares, and it is his theory that the girl shrank from the pain that would attend a suicide by drinking lye and sought instead a quick death under the train.

DEATH TAKES PIONEER

Mrs. Emily Snuffin of Santa Paula Reached Age of 93 Years

SANTA PAULA, March 4.—Mrs. Emily Snuffin, 93 years of age, pioneer of this city and one of Ventura county's most revered citizens, is dead. Death came at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. Baker, here. As the eldest resident of this city, Mrs. Snuffin was honored on various occasions by her friends, the most recent was on August 4, 1929, when more than 200 gathered at Steckel Park to honor her on the advent of her ninety-third birthday anniversary. The gathering there was principally made up of members of the Christian Church, of which Mrs. Snuffin had been a member for seventy years.

Mrs. Snuffin, almost up to the hour of her death, displayed a keenness of mind and a clear memory that was startling. She remembered the early years of her childhood when she pioneered in four States. The daughter of Martin and Harriet Duke, she was born in Stork county, Ill., on August 6, 1836. When she was 12 years of age her family moved to a farm in Texas county, Mo. She celebrated her seventeenth birthday anniversary as a member of an immigration train crossing the planes in a covered wagon. After living in Oregon where the wagon-train journey ended, she lived in three counties of California.

In 1853 Martin Duke, with his family, started across the plains in a wagon train. Along their journey they met Indians and the sight of these wold red men was recounted to her friends here by Mrs. Snuffin on various occasions when they gathered at her home. Martin Duke, like many of the early pioneers, was of an impatient nature, fearless of danger, and these qualities were always evidenced in his daughter.

Impatient with the slow-moving wagon train he started off alone into the Oregon trail country and with his family settled in the northern State. He built a log cabin and in years of her early life.

Later the family moved into Sonoma county, where, on June 13, 1859, Emily Duke became the wife of L. Snuffin. Her husband had also come across the plains in a covered wagon. The train in which he crossed the plains and the one in which his wife crossed met on several various parts of the journey, although L. R. Snuffin and Emily Duke did not meet at that time. After four or five months in Sonoma county the Snuffins moved to Mendocino county. They moved to this county and to Santa Paula in 1876.

L. R. Snuffin, who died in 1919, was the first postmaster of Santa Paula and the proprietor of the first hotel here, the Santa Paula House. Later Mr. Snuffin moved to a ranch. His death came as the result of a fall and a fractured hip. Mrs. Snuffin's death resulted from complications following a fall. Funeral services for Mrs. Emily Snuffin will be held at the H. B. Skillin Chapel Thursday morning at 10:30 with Rev. Minard of the Christian Church officiating. Burial will be in the local cemetery. The pallbearers will be grandsons of the deceased. Others who survive are three daughters, Mrs. S. Baker, Mrs. E. A. Davis and Mrs. C. Hall, all of this city, and one son, William Snuffin, of Los Angeles.

Rancher Keeps Up Opposition to Bond Issue

UPLAND, March 4.—Continuing his fight against Chaffey school board, F. A. Lucas, local agriculturist, in an interview at San Bernardino, urged Fontana to withdraw from Chaffey district and "tie to" San Bernardino.

Two elections would be necessary to carry out this program of secession and annexation, one election for Fontana residents to voice their choice about withdrawing from Chaffey and another annexing themselves to San Bernardino, according to the District Attorney's office.

Lucas took a stand against Chaffey when it was announced that a new building was proposed for Fontana in the $430,000 Chaffey expansion bond issue which was defeated Friday.

Lucas's campaign in Fontana previous to the election nearly caused a victory for the bonds in that Fontana turned in such a heavy vote in favor of the bond issue that that precinct nearly carried the entire district.

Lucas's campaign against Chaffey was aided by the Ontario Taxpayers' League.

Nurse Hears Last Taps at Pasadena Home

PASADENA, March 4.—Mrs. Marie Pelice Beatty, World War heroine, who was decorated for distinguished service with the Red Cross in Belgium by King Albert, died here today at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Cini of 390 East Walnut street. Mrs. Beatty was 73 years of age, and had been a resident of this city for the last eighteen years.

She entered the Red Cross with the aid of Ambassador Herrick and served in Belgium during the early part of the war and later in Paris.

Besides her daughter, she leaves four grandchildren, Camilla, Anita, Donald and Claudia Cini.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Wendell P. Cabot.

Judge Delays Man's Sentence

FULLERTON, March 4.—After C. E. Klund, Fullerton service-station operator, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery based on a quarrel with his wife in which he is alleged to have struck her with a milk bottle on the night of February 20, last, in his service station, Judge H. I. Spence was today deliberating as to the sentence he will impose in the case.

On motion of Leo Friis, deputy District Attorney, at the end of a preliminary hearing on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder, the charge was dismissed and another charge of simple assault substituted to which Klund entered a plea of guilty.

Mrs. Klund, who has partially recovered from the injuries received in the quarrel, told Judge Spence that she was sure that in the future she and her husband would have no more quarrels, to which Klund also agreed.

County Offers Lion Bounty

VENTURA, March 4.—An ordinance placing a bounty of $20 on either male or female mountain lions killed in Ventura county is now being prepared by the District Attorney, after a recommendation to that effect was passed today by the Board of Supervisors.

Herbert Keene of Santa Paula, veteran lion hunter, appeared before the board and asked that such an ordinance be adopted by this county, as all the neighboring counties already offer similar bounties. He urged that the bounty of $20 be placed on each lion killed in the county, regardless of sex, with a limit of twenty lions per year. He also stipulated that a hunter should be granted twenty days between the time the lion is killed and the time he be compelled to exhibit the skin.

POLICE IN BURGLAR HUNT

Officers of the Law Respond to Telephone Call of Glendale Citizen and Find Nothing More Dangerous Than Sleeping Child

GLENDALE, March 4.—A whispered warning over the telephone, calling for a squad of officers to come and capture a burglar in the M. C. Peterson residence at 615 Palm Drive, sent Officers Edgar and Van Der Meer speeding through the streets shortly after midnight in a racing police automobile.

Edgar took the front door and Van Der Meer made his way in by the kitchen window. The two officers prowled through the silent house without finding anything more deadly than an obstruction on which Van Der Meer barked his shin and a radio wire over which Edgar tripped, until Peterson guided them to the door of a bedroom and whispered that the burglar was in there.

With guns drawn and flashlights piercing every corner of the room the policemen entered, only to find the 5-year-old son of Peterson, who had been stricken with an attack of nightmare, parading around, asleep, in his pajamas.

PARK ROAD ORDERED

San Diego Council Decides to Proceed in Face of Opposition by Park Board

SAN DIEGO, March 4.—The City Council chose the cliff route for a new highway through Torrey Pines Park today when City Manager P. M. Lockwood was instructed to proceed with the plans for construction.

Council action was taken following an unequivocal declaration of President E. T. Olmstead, of the Park Commission, that the board would refuse to compromise and that the board's order that no new highway construction could proceed through the park would stand.

The Council was unanimous in its stand to override ruling of the park board, notwithstanding a statement by President Olmstead that if such action was taken a court contest was possible, thereby tying up construction for a period of several years.

Following two hours of lengthy arguments, participated in by members of the Council, Park Commissioner Olmstead and George W. Marston, the Council decided there was no chance of agreeing with the dissenting members of the park board and just before noon adjournment adopted an ordinance repealing the Council Act of 1899, which set aside the Torrey Pines area for a public park, which was followed by a motion directing that the work proceed. This act of the Council was taken upon advice of City Attorney M. W. Conkling.

During the lengthy discussion the Councilmen assured the park board members that when the road is under construction the Torrey Pines land will be restored as a public park. The Council also voted to continue the Torrey Pines Lodge and the immediate vicinity under jurisdiction of the park board.

HUSBAND UNWILLING WITNESS

Police Learn Man May Refuse to Testify Against Wife in Shooting Scrape

GLENDALE, March 4.—Intimations reaching police officials today that P. E. Switzer, 1239 South Central avenue, might refuse to testify against his wife, Mrs. Margaret Switzer, when she appears in court Thursday for her preliminary hearing on charges of assault with a deadly weapon, placed the authorities in a quandary as to the ultimate disposition of the case.

Mrs. Switzer was arrested after her husband had been shot and possibly fatally wounded by a bullet from a pistol in the woman's hands. Switzer is said to have admitted to Chief of Police J. D. Fraser that the shot had been fired during a quarrel. Mrs. Switzer has maintained that the shooting was accidental.

Police were advised today that Switzer, now a patient in the Physicians' and Surgeons' Hospital, would either refuse to testify or would claim that the shooting was accidental and thus absolve Mrs. Switzer from blame.

Mrs. Switzer is now held in the County Jail pending the hearing.

Here's Dog Who Ranks as Freak Globe Trotter

ENCINO, March 4.—You can believe this or not. Just as you please. It is the story of a dog whose recent travels place him up at the top in the matter of phenomena of coincidences.

A month ago G. E. Bushwirt gave the dog to his brother-in-law, Tom Pangworth, who was on his way by auto to Dallas, Tex. Bushwirt told Pangworth the dog was a nuisance and he could have him.

Yesterday, Bushwirt was on Ventura Boulevard at a gas station near his home, and noticed a motorist with a Texas auto license buying gas. All of a sudden a dog jumped out and began to lick Bushwirt's hand.

"Hey, where'd you get that pup?" Bushwirt asked.

"I was in an auto park at Fort Worth, Tex.," the man replied, "and I met a camper who said the dog was a blamed nuisance and gave him to me. He was all wet, because the pup is all right, and I'm taking him on to my new home in Oregon."

Bushwirt then explained the coincidence of the dog journeying to Texas and then back again, almost to the very door of his old home.

"I call that a lucky dog," the stranger said. "I guess you want him back again?"

Bushwirt was quick to say he still believed the dog to be a nuisance, and that he had surrendered all right, title and interest when he gave him to his brother-in-law.

The last seen of the pup he was barking a farewell out of the side of the stranger's auto, and headed for Oregon.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT AVERTED

Army Aviator Lands Hugh Bombing Plane at San Diego After One Wheel Had Been Broken

SAN DIEGO, March 4. (AP)—Successfully accomplishing the hazardous feat of landing a huge bomber with one good wheel, Lieut. William Green, Jr., Rockwell Field flyer, today saved his own life and that of five enlisted passengers. Lieut. Green was piloting a Keystone LB-7 bomber and took off as one member of a three plane formation about 2:30 in the afternoon. In some manner one of the plane's wheels was so badly damaged in the take-off that it was rendered useless, but those in the plane were unaware of the fact.

When those on the ground saw what had happened, Capt. H. H. Eimendorf and Lieut. L. A. Woodring took off in pursuit of the bomber, and by diving and other maneuvers attracted the attention of the others.

A mechanic looked over the side, saw what was wrong, and wrote a note to Lieut. Groen explaining the situation. The bomber was by this time at an altitude of 1500 feet.

Circling down over the field, Lieut. Groen tipped his plane and landed on one wheel, bumping along over the field until he was no longer able to balance the slowing plane. There was a crash and a ripping of fabric and the plane settled down in a cloud of dust. Ambulance and fire crews rushed to the spot, to be confronted by the pilot and crew, emerging unhurt from the plane.

One wing of the plane was wrecked but neither motors nor propellers were damaged. Fellow officers declared that Lieut. Groen's landing was a perfect one, and that his skill alone averted what might otherwise have been a major accident.

VALUABLE CROP PREDICTED

Manager of Mutual Orange Distributors Sees $60,000,000 Year in Prospect

REDLANDS, March 4.—J. A. Steward, sales manager for the Mutual Orange Distributors, believes that California will market a $60,000,000 Valencia orange crop this year, basing his estimate on the present condition of the crop, the shipments, between May 1 and November 15 and prices that can be expected.

Mr. Steward says that the outlook for good prices for the Valencia crop is the best. More than half the naval crop has now been shipped and there is every indication that the navels will be well out of the way before the shipment of Valencias begins.

Also he says there is no competition from Florida this year. Last year Florida shipped more than 4000 cars of oranges after May 1, but this year there will be no shipments from Florida after that time.

Mr. Steward believes there will be close to 23,000 cars of Valencias to be shipped from California as compared with 40,000 cars shipped last year. Every car of this fruit should be taken by the market greedily and good prices should prevail.

Mr. Steward says there is a possibility that the crop will run more than 23,000 cars. The fruit is sizing up, but that is the average estimate just now.

It Only Took One Sniff to Lure Hough

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, March 4. D. L. Hough, a retired business man of Gull Lake, Minn., took one sniff of the Southern California air . . . and it was just too bad for Minnesota. "I ain't never going back," he said today.

Hough and his wife came here not long ago on a visit, "just to look around."

"I took one good glimpse of all the flowers growing, remembering all the time that things were frozen stiff back home, and one sniff of the zephyrs blowing off the hills into the floor of San Fernando Valley, and it was all off," Hough reiterated.

The Minnesotan says he isn't even going back to sell out. "I'm here to stay," he said. "I'm passing the buck to Mrs. Hough. She will go back and sell out bag and baggage. While she is gone I will buy us a nice home and set out some rose bushes."

Hough is wealthy and a civic worker and booster. Leading citizens already have given him a big welcome.

Quarantine Law Stops Delivery of Flower Seeds

PASADENA, March 4.—Suspected of being infected with Mediterranean fruit fly eggs, more than 100 packets of Florida monkey vine seeds, sent by Mrs. Alice Warner of Jacksonville, Fla., to friends in this city, are being held in quarantine by postoffice officials, it was learned today.

County Horticultural Commissioner H. J. Ryan is making an examination of the genealogy and habits of the monkey vine to confirm or refute his suspicions that the vine is a favorite of the dreaded fruit fly.

Mrs. Warner has written that the plant came originally from the Bermudas and China. The seed has the appearance of a potatoe and bears markings which look like a monkey's head.

All persons in this city who have received packets of the seeds that have escaped postoffice authorities are asked to keep them in a covered receptacle until horticultural authorities have completed their investigation.

Another Shake Visits Valley

BRAWLEY, March 4.—While Brawley citizens were endeavoring this morning to arrive at an accurate estimate of the damage which was done by the series of earthquakes which occurred last Saturday afternoon and evening another slight tremor was felt at 10 o'clock. No additional damage was caused by today's shock.

W. C. McQuigg of San Diego, representing fire and earthquake insurance companies, completed a survey of the damage yesterday and reported the approximate loss would be $10,000.

A committee of business men also made a survey and stated that their figures would not exceed $20,000. The City Council adopted a resolution at its meeting last night confirming this estimate. It is believed that broken plate-glass windows will be the largest item in the damage bill. Reports from ranchers residing west of this city indicate that the main force of the earthquake was felt some distance out in the country where the earth rocked more violently than in either Brawley or Westmoreland.

There was little property damage in the country, however, due to the frame construction of the houses.

Edison Company Files Answers in Law Suits

VENTURA, March 4.—Answers to five of the suits brought against it for the Sulphur Mountain fire of September 16 were filed in the Superior Court today by the Southern California Edison Company.

The five suits totaling $34,083.80, were brought by John Petit, Charles W. Petit and Mary A. Hart, who ask for $5388 damages; Justin Petit, asking $3338; Hartman Ranch Company, $2103; J. F. Obtols, $6000, and S. M. Derbyshire, $17,254.80.

The power company in its answers denies that the fire was started through any carelessness or negligence on its part.

While admitting that its line across Santa Paula Creek carrying 11,000 volts of electricity, broke on the morning of the fire, the Edison Company maintains the fire was not started by the line.

It also asserts that the power was shut off in the line in sufficient time for fighters to get at the fire, in each case, the power concern alleges that the amount of damages asked in the suits is overestimated.

There is a movement now to interest the Pacific Electric to start such a bus line as a feeder from the north to serve its trolley line passing through North Hollywood. Proposal for China Relief Boosts Wheat

CHICAGO, March 4. (AP)—United States Senate notice of proposals that $25,000,000 worth of breadstuffs be supplied to relieve Chinese famine gave quick upturns to wheat values today. Definite steps by the Senate agricultural committee looking toward authorizing use of part of the Federal Farm Board's revolving fund to purchase that amount of wheat and flour for China were reported, and the wheat market made a prompt response, rising as much as 3¾c a bushel as compared with the day's lowest level. Earlier the price of wheat had been breaking as a result largely of persistent lack of export demand.

Closing quotations on wheat were irregular at ¼c under the top figures reached. The finish ranged from ¾c a bushel net decline to 1¼c advance for the day. Corn closed unchanged to ¼c lower, oats at a shade down to ¼c gain, and provisions varying from 5c setback to a rise of 3 cents.

Novelty in regard to the China famine relief proposal consisted mainly of the fact that this was the first time the plan to use the United States wheat surplus in such a way had received serious official recognition. Heretofore also a new concrete method of providing necessary funds had not been suggested, so far at least as most wheat traders were aware. Under such circumstances, Washington advices of new developments concerning China aroused decided interest, and a good many previous speculative sellers here made haste to switch to the buying side of the market.

Word of the Farm Board purchases of 500,000 bushels of domestic hard winter wheat at the Gulf of Mexico tended also to strengthen the wheat market.

Corn and oats were swayed chiefly by the action of wheat.

YEAR EARNINGS IN NEW RECORD

Industrial Profits Higher by 18.73 Per Cent

Financial Institutions Show 35 Per Cent Gain

Utilities Also Advance Net During Period

Net profits in 1929 of 794 industrial corporations representing a fair cross-section of industry were 18.73 per cent higher than earnings of the same corporations in 1928, setting a new high record for the year as a whole, according to an analysis announced yesterday by Ernst & Ernst, accountants and auditors. For 180 railroads the 1929 net operating income was 6.72 per cent higher than in 1928 and a group of ninety-one financial institutions, including banks, investment trusts and others, showed net earnings in 1929 35.65 per cent higher than in 1928.

Operating income of ninety-eight telephone companies for the eleven months of 1929 was 7.26 per cent higher than in the corresponding months of 1928 and for the same eleven months' period, ninety-five other public utilities companies showed net earnings 16.56 per cent higher in 1929 than in 1928.

For the entire list of 1238 corporations, including industrials, utilities, railroads and financial institutions, average net earnings were 15.28 per cent higher in 1929 than in 1928. The annual corporation profit studies made by Ernst & Ernst for 1928 showed that for 1042 corporations of all classes, profits averaged 17.19 per cent higher than in 1927 and 11.35 per cent higher than for 1926, the then high point of corporation earnings since the World War.

Pointing out that the year was one of mergers and consolidations, the analysis stated that while the yearly upward trend was shown, the measure of increase or decrease cannot be accurately judged from the percentage figures. The following general summary of corporation profits for 1929 has been compiled by Ernst & Ernst from published reports:

RE-INSURANCE DIVIDEND VOTED

International Corporation to Pay 50 Cents Initial

Declaration Places Stock on $2 Annual Basis

Twenty-two Months' Showing Viewed as Unusual

Directors of the International Re-Insurance Corporation of Los Angeles at a meeting yesterday afternoon authorized the payment of an initial dividend of 50 cents a share on its 150,000 capital shares outstanding, Carl M. Hansen, president, announced yesterday. The dividend is payable May 1 to stock of record April 15.

"This is at the annual rate of $2 a share," said Mr. Hansen, "and represents an unusual showing when it is remembered that the authorization of payment of the first dividend comes only twenty-two months after the organization started active operations. As a general rule, insurance companies find it impossible to begin the payment of dividends until about three years have elapsed after operations commence."

Mr. Hansen reported to the board of directors that the corporation's operations for the first two months of this year had been fully up to expectations.

Gross income for January and February totaled $854,000, while excess of income over disbursements was nearly $300,000, Mr. Hansen said. Gross assets as of February 28, last, amounted to $7,550,000, while surplus stood at $3,125,000.

E. C. Sterling, exechive vice-president of the California Securities Company, investment arm of the California Bank, was elected to the board of directors of International Re-Insurance Corporation and also made a member of the executive committee.

Two Lawsuits Originate in Utility Deal

NEW YORK, March 4. (AP)—Two suits, growing out of the acquisition by the Standard Gas and Electric Company of the Standard Power and Light Company, were filed today in the State Supreme Court.

In one of the suits, a group of minority stockholders seek to enjoin the surrender of 2,907,014 shares of participating preferred stock of Standard Power by Standard Gas under the terms of the purchasing agreement.

The stock, the minority group claims, represents 80 per cent of the Standard Powers voting stock and as a result of the deal the Standard Power will become controlling stockholder of Standard Gas, reversing the former situation.

The second suit was brought by the Adamant corporation against W. C. Langley & Co., stock brokers, to recover $2,250,000 lost in the sale of Standard Gas stock.

PHONE REPORT INSTRUCTIVE

BY EARLE R. CROWE

Reading the annual report of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company is a pleasure no investor should miss. The story of progress and discoveries in the research laboratory, the amazing extension of telephone service to foreign countries, trans-Atlantic liners and airplanes, and the terse accounts of reductions in cost of long-distance service and decrease in percentage of errors on calls, form an absorbing record of romance and efficiency in American business.

From out of the American Telephone laboratories, where more than 5400 scientists and engineers are employed, have come discoveries that only the writers of fiction tales would dare to envisage ten years ago. Founded on the work of these experts, American Telephone last year extended its service across the sea to 340,000 telephones. From any point in the United States, subscribers can now talk to Italy, Ireland, Gibraltar, Luxemburg, Isle of Man and portions of Austria and Czecho-Slovakia. These were just the developments in 1929.

ARGENTINE NEXT

Early in the current year, the telephone company casually announces in the annual report service by short-wave radio will be inaugurated to the Argentine. Plans are also under way to build a short-wave telephone station on the Pacific Coast for radio telephone communication with Hawaii and other points in the Pacific.

After a long period of experimental work, ship-to-shore service was inaugurated late last year to and from the steamship Leviathan. The same service will be extended to other steamships. Just as conveniently and satisfactorily, passengers in airplanes are now able to converse while in the air with any telephone station in the United States or Europe.

Successful demonstration of American Telephone's two-way plane-to-ground telephony h a s prompted several large air transport companies and several governmental departments, the annual report states, to request the company to equip a considerable number of planes and ground stations with its apparatus.

If this source of income materialises as it promises, the giant American Telephone company will be adding the aviation industry to its list of revenue producers. Motion-picture, phonograph, cable and business companies making sound pictures for advertising purposes, are among the telephone company's sources of income.

TIME REDUCED

In the line of efficiency, the telephone company's engineers last year contrived to reduce the average speed of long-distance connection from 7.5 minutes to 2.4 minutes. The errors in local calls, which were only two in 100 calls, have been substantially reduced. Five years ar on an average there was trouble on a subscriber's line once in every thirteen months as compared with once in every twenty months now. Today 87 per cent of the troubles are corrected on the day reported.

Telephone calls from New York to San Francisco, which three years ago cost $16.50, now cost $9. From New York to Chicago the cost has been reduced from $4.65 to $3.

A few minutes' perusal of the financial statements reveal some interesting data. For example, of the total capitalization of $1,843,785,500, only 28 per cent is in the form of funded debt. Reserves for depreciation and contingencies are 33 per cent of the total investment in long-distance plant. Surplus of more than $370,000,000 is equal to $28 a share on the average number of shares outstanding in 1929. Cash resources are equal to $3.15 a share.

FEBRUARY BUSINESS DECLINES

Bank Survey on Trade Shows Mixed Trend in Local Activities

February business activity in Los Angeles and Southern California, including industrial and manufacturing operations, held practically the same levels as in January, with retail and wholesale trade generally quieter and building, as measured by permits issued, substantially lower, according to the monthly survey issued yesterday by the Security-First National Bank. All lines were less active than in February, 1929.

Daily average bank debits, considered one of the best single measures of the physical volume of business, declined only slightly from January and for irregular amounts in the various Southern California cities. Commercial concerns declared insolvent increased in number compared with January and February, last year.

Although rainfall is below normal for this season of the year, weather conditions during February were generally favorable to the agricultural interests. Harvesting and marketing of citrus fruits, lettuce and other vegetable crops were maintained in satisfactory volume. The condition of pastures and live stock is considerably below that of a year ago.

The summary concludes with the statement that business in this region is still operating at levels under those of a year ago and is still under the influence of the recession which occurred in the security markets. "It also appears that nothing has yet occurred which would indicate that prospect of a revival is as yet in sight," it stated.

Universal Oil Tells Profits

Net profits in 1929 of the Universal Consolidated Oil Company, according to a preliminary report, amounted to $1,651,896 after all charges, including intangible drilling expenses and abandonments and Federal taxes, equal to $4.61 a share on 358,104 shares of $10 par stock outstanding, it was disclosed yesterday in the annual report of the Richfield Oil Company, which owns more than 51 per cent of the stock. In 1928, Universal reported a deficit of $16,614.

The formal report of the company is now in the process of preparation by auditors, officials stated, and is expected to be issued to stockholders shortly. Universal produced about 3,555,000 barrels of crude in 1929 and at the close of the year had 127 producing wells and more than 1300 acres of proven and potential oil lands.

RESOURCES OF LOAN ASSOCIATION MOUNT

Resources of the Pacific States Savings and Loan Company increased approximately $1,000,000 in February, reaching a total of $56,-773,404.08, according to a statement issued yesterday. While February is a short month, this increase, officials stated, is one of the largest monthly gains recorded and is attributed, to a great extent, to a reduction in loan rates to a straight 7 per cent plan.

LEGGE HITS NAIL ON HEAD

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

WASHINGTON (D. C.) March 4.—The office of Alexander Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, is like hundreds of others in Washington. There is a flat-top oak desk, four or five plain oak chairs around the room, a simple domestic rug, and pen and ink on the top of the desk. Mr. Legge is one of the most talked about men in the country today, and is especially interesting to statesmen, farmers and newspaper correspondents. He looked up in a quizzical sort of way and extended his hand as I entered his office. In reply to my first question, he said:

"Yes, we can advise and co-operate within limits. We can organize and preach farm relief. We can even buy grain to meet a temporary crisis. But we cannot finally meet and solve the farm problem unless the farming groups themselves co-operate with us wholeheartedly on the matter of production.

"How long do you suppose any big business enterprise would last if it started its factories going and kept them going day and night, turning out its product without for a moment considering how much it could sell and where? No business which is successful in America has ever been able to do it. It would go into bankruptcy and nothing on earth could prevent it.

"Yet this is just the way the farmer's problem has been handled. He continues to put in as many acres of land as he can without having considered how many other acres throughout the world have been put in. So more often than not, he finds that the world has more on its hands than it wants. The result is that prices sag below the cost of production. The farmer is left high and dry with interest, taxes and his living staring him in the face.

"No wonder he is discouraged.

"But he will always be in this condition until he not only learns but actually does co-operate with other farmers producing the same products. He must put in only as much as can be consumed at a fair price, and market his products in the most economical and scientific way."

"Your emphasis so far has been in the development of co-operative organization?" I said.

"Yes, it's the only way that our program can be made permanently effective. Working with individual farmers would get nowhere," replied the Farm Board head.

"Business, whether big or small, if carried on legitimately, has no more to fear from the government of the United States today than it has ever had. But as an officer sworn to enforce the law, my course is clearly laid out. So long as the antitrust laws are on the Federal statute books, my job is to see that business stays within their provisions."

It was Atty.-Gen. Mitchel speaking. He has a large, well-shaped head, which sits squarely on a small wiry frame. But his eyes, set wide apart, are the distinguishing characteristics of his face.

"Some people seem to have an entirely wrong conception of the duties of this office. They think I have power in some way or other to suspend or modify Federal statutes. But the fact is I have no more power to qualify or modify existing laws than you or any other citizen has. When the business man, who travels close to the border line, in making his business arrangements, clearly understands the position of this department, there will be much less anxiety over Sherman antitrust legislation than there seems to be now."

Everyone who has an opportunity to talk with the Attorney-General is impressed with the sincerity and conviction of the man, who has, according to one official, "the finest legal mind which has entered the Federal service in years."

Diamond Electric Sales Hold Up

Sales and net earnings of Diamond Electrical Manufacturing Company for the first two months of this year were approximately the same as for the similar period of last year, officials of the company said yesterday. Indications are that the current month will show an increase.

Vernon Brown, vice-president, succeeded Mr. Howse as president. J. H. Pengilly, secretary-treasurer, was made vice-president and treasurer, while J. G. Moyen was elected secretary, with H. B. Johnson remaining as assistant secretary and treasurer. The regular quarterly dividends on the preferred and common shares were declared.

YOUR INCOME TAX

Business property kept in repair may be the subject of a depreciation allowance. The allowance for depreciation is intended to cover the estimated lessening in value of the original property, due to wear and tear, decay, etc., which in time will require the abandonment or replacement of the property, in spite of ordinary current repairs. The cost of incidental repairs, which neither materially add to the value of the property nor appreciably prolong its life, may be deducted as a business expense, provided the plant or property account is not increased by the amount of such expenditures.

If, however, the repairs are of such a kind as to make good the depreciation, for example, a new floor or a new roof, the cost is not deductible. The amount expended by a taxpayer during the taxable year for improvements, replacements or renewals of a permanent nature in a capital expenditure, and may not be deducted from the gross income for such taxable year. The amount so expended should be charged directly to the property account or to a depreciation reserve account, according to how depreciation is treated in the taxpayer's books of account. A prorate portion thereof may be deducted as depreciation each year of the life of such improvement.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, March 4. (F)—Money was easy today, but the bond market made only a half-hearted response to this reflection of favorable credit conditions. However, United States government securities showed moderate strength and all issues moved higher, led by the Treasury 3¾s, which rose 16-32s on substantial buying. The Fourth Liberties were also active, selling just under their 1930 highs.

New offerings totaled nearly $70,000,000, the largest volume in some time, and the failure of the market to make a better showing was attributed to competition from this source. The American and Foreign Power Company's $50,000,000 of 100-year debentures 5s was reported to have been well taken and an over-subscription was announced. Listed utilities eased.

Burlington 4½s, Atchison general 4s, Northern Pacific 4½s and Southern Pacific 4s were firm, but easing tendencies prevailed in Union Pacific first 4s, Northern Pacific prior lien 4s and other high-grade rails. Erie 6s sold down to 64, a new low for the year. International Great Northern adjustment 5s lost 3 points. Central of New Jersey 6s made a new 1930 high of 111, a net gain of 1 point.

American Telephone 5s of 1965 and International Telephone 5s received support, but numerous utilities, including Consolidated Gas of New York 5½s, Pacific Gas and Electric 5s and Western Union gold 5s, sold off from ¼ to ½.

Firm industrials included American Smelting 5s, and Western Electric 5s. In the specialty list, Pathe 7½s without warrants sagged a point and Loew's 6s moved up to another new high at 93. Convertibles traded irregularly. American Telephone 4½s converted a small decline into a net advance of a point.

Trading in foreign bonds slackened, but the group was generally higher. Berlin City Electric 6½s and the Colombia Mortgage Bank issues touched new peaks for the year. French 7s duplicated their previous high of 116.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission, the cents is omitted when the same as the last, and both low and close when same as high.

COPPER MARKET TONE IMPROVES

Steady Increase in Demand Reported for Week

Zinc Easier; Action on Tariff Interests Trade

Lead Lower Following Slash on London Market

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS
Editor The Mining Journal, Phoenix

A steady improvement in the demand for copper has featured the past week. Zinc has dropped from 5.20 to 5.15 f.o.b. St Louis, while a weakness in London lead has dropped the New York price to 6.15. Copper remains strong at 17.775 f.o.b. New York.

There is very little interest in the zinc market. Lots of metal continues to appear at less than the quoted price and the buyers have gotten into the habit of awaiting bargain lots and, so far, have been able to find them. Zinc is being offered through to the end of April at current prices.

The zinc trade has been interested in the action of Congress relative to the tariff. As finally passed by the Senate, the duty on zinc concentrates was set at a flat rate of 1 1-2 cents a pound on ore containing 25 per cent or more zinc instead of the present duty ranging between 1-2 cent and 1 1-2 cents depending upon the zinc content.

LONDON LEAD DROPS

The first drop in lead prices at London had no direct effect on the domestic situation in so far as price or demand was concerned except to put a stop to the talk of a price advance in New York which seemed to be scheduled. The continued London weakness has forced New York to recognize the situation and drop the price.

The lead demand continues fair and steady but with no great activity in buying as the purchasing since the first of the year has covered the requirements of the larger consumers through March, thus eliminating much interest in future buying now.

No effect on the copper market was in evidence as a result of the publication of January statistics as they had been previously discounted. At the present time, with production continuing downward and shipments upward, the February figures show the turning point in stocks of refined copper with consumption and production almost in balance.

World production of copper in January was 153,740 tons, a decrease of nearly 12,000 tons from the December output and about 25,000 tons under January, 1929. It was the lowest world output since April, 1928, when production totaled 146,427 tons and about 43,000 tons under the peak rate in April, 1929 of 196,830 tons.

The most significant feature of the figures was that they revealed a reduction in output of about 6000 tons outside of North and South America, an amount about the same as the decrease reported in the latter areas.

Little can be expected in the way of activity with the present buying policy of the copper consumers. The producers, however, are not anticipating any rush into the market as there is no occasion for a rush and therefore they seem quite content to wait until the buyer gets ready to place his order. The producer knows that he must carry the surplus stock load and, in order to keep it from getting too burdensome, he is curtailing production.

The copper companies are doing more than merely creating a balance between production and consumption now, they are to underproduce until such time as the rate of consumption is established and shown and depend upon the surplus stocks to take care of the extra demand while the probable business for the year is being measured.

CURTAILMENT UNDER WAY

Reports from the mining camps show that the copper curtailment program is now well under way. Some of the mines are using this period to concentrate on development while others are spending time overhauling plants and putting them into shape for more efficient operation later. While many men have been laid off, a great many of the mines have devised operating plans which would keep their whole force intact and ready to be put back on to production again when conditions justify.

Copper production in North and South America in January averaged 4270 tons daily. The average for the year in 1929 was 4964 tons daily, April being the peak month with 5376 tons daily. It is evident that it is the present aim of the copper producers to put the production at about the 1927 rate which was 4045 tons daily. The 1928 production averaged 4448 tons daily. The effect of the curtailment program should show up in the February figures. January copper production was only about 15 per cent below the average for 1929 but it is expected that February will show about 4000 tons daily or about 20 per cent below the average and 25 per cent below the peak.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Stock Quotations Hold Unchanged on Local Market Under Listless Trading Activity

Security prices maintained steady levels on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday as traders continued to manifest a disposition to await developments. Trading activity was dull and with prices lacking any incentive to move in one direction or the other, an undercurrent of expectancy was indicated. Only four issues on the board fluctuated a full point or more.

The petroleum shares, which accounted for the larger portion of the trading Monday, quieted down but held strong. Standard of California advanced a point to 59 7-8 and Union and Richfield firmed up fractionally. Rio Grande eased 1-4 to 19 1-8 and Pacific Western was unchanged at 14.

Security-First National Bank was the soft spot of the session when, after opening at 117, the stock dropped to a close at 115 1-2, off 1 1-4 points net. Transamerica eased 1-8 to 44 5-8. Union Bank and Trust Company transferred at 325.

Southern California Edison, on a turnover of 1000 shares, fell off a point to 60 3-4, while the rights firmed up 5 cents to 3.55. Pacific Lighting rights dropped 15 cents to 3.75. Pacific Public Service yielded 1-4 to 37.

Western Air Express, on the transfer of a board lot, moved up 1-3 to 39 1-2. Douglas Aircraft eased 3-8 to 17 1-2. No other changes of consequence were recorded.

METAL MARKET

CLEVELAND, March 4. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says: Restricted automobile production is exerting a depressing influence on the iron and steel markets. Demand from the automobile makers is not coming out of the volume expected a month or so ago, and this is being reflected in some curtailment of steel-making operations. Much of the stimulus in the steel trade must come from the automobile industry.

Prices appear to be holding well, although some easiness in pig iron is noticeable. Mixed uncertainty in the market appears to be in those products going chiefly to the automobile trade, such as sheets, strips and cold bars. Fabricating material is not in heavy demand, but there is a fair movement on old orders.

Palace, 6th st. at Main, Barbara—"Taming of the Shrew." Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks bring Shakespeare down to the minute and a good laugh is had by both parties.

Paramount, Hill at 6th.—"Road House." Night Club Cabaret entertainment magic, but Lupe Velez sings and Charles Jackson and Duranie are very funny.

Rialto, 5956 Whittier.—"South Sea Rose." Lovely Mary must settle down and Charles Farrell is the man to do it. It's no use.

R.K.O. Orpheum, Broadway at 9th.—"The Case of Beryl Colombo." Opens today.

Uptown, Western at 108th.—"They Had to See Paris." Will Rogers finds Pitt the most accurate thing in Paris. Record of the most popular comedies of the year.

United Artists, Broadway at 8th.—"Condemned." Ronald Colman and Ann Harding are an earthy couple. Ronald seems to be getting tired of Ann Harding but won't wonder.

Warners', Downtown, Hill at 7th.—"The Second Floor." The title has not the slightest connection with the picture, which is rather well done and will keep you guessing until the end. Excellent cast.

Wiltern, 652 Wilshire.—"They Had to See Paris."

STAGE

Belasco, Hill at 11th.—"Journey's End." A. C. Sherriff's fine war play is produced in splendid style. Opens tonight.

Mayfair, Hope at 9th.—"New Moon." The Sigmund Romberg operetta, with Evelyn Herbert, the only hit. Joyce Compton back to Mr. Perry Askam and Josephine Houston.

Mission Play, San Gabriel.—The beautiful Spanish pageant of the history of California, up to its usual standard. With R. D. MacLean.

Playhouse, 8deyr, at 9th.—"Give and Take." Long but humorous in a comedy fashion, with Kolb and Dill arguing a lot and the audience amusing just as much.

Vine Street, 1615 Vine.—"The Not Polite Hollywood" is pictured in scenes ranging in quality in which in this case can't matter at all. With Sherman Treacy.

CHAPLIN PLANS HUGE NEW FILM COMPANY TO MAKE SILENT PICTURES

A project for the organization of a new film company, to bear his name, to produce silent motion pictures featuring besides himself at least four or five of the best-known players in the industry, is being considered by Charles Chaplin, comedian, and may be a reality within the next year, according to announcement made yesterday.

CHARLES CHAPLIN

(1.) Formation of a corporation to be known as the Charles Chaplin Picture Productions, Inc.

(2.) Expenditure of between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 per year on a production program of nothing but silent pictures.

(3.) Sale of the present site of the Chaplin studio, Sunset Boulevard and La Brea avenue, Hollywood, and the purchase of a new fifty-acre site in the San Fernando Valley near the First National studios for the erection of a huge studio.

REFUSES TO GO TALKIE

Chaplin's plans, he announced, are in line with his present policy, and from which he says he will not deviate, never to appear in a talking-picture role, particularly in the character which he made famous on the screen, or any other character or role for that matter.

"I have fully made up my mind never to talk for the screen," Chaplin said yesterday. "At no time will I ever talk in the character in which I am known and I am sure there is nothing that can make me change my mind to talk for any character or role.

"I firmly believe I am confident there is still as great a field for the silent drama as there ever was, if not greater, in spite of the changes caused by the talking pictures. There is no question but what pantomime is one of the greatest expressions of art and for this reason I am considering the formation of a new company to produce silent pictures to meet the demands of this medium of art and the market for which I am certain there is a big one."

WITHHOLDS NAMES

Chaplin yesterday declined to mention names of any of the stars he has under consideration for silent pictures, but it is known he has broached the subject to John Gilbert, debonair lover in the silent drama. It has been conceded that Gilbert's talking pictures have not caused any sensation among the film fans.

"It is my intention to gather four or five of the bigger stars together who find the silent drama a better medium of expression of their talents," Chaplin said.

He admitted he had discussed his project with Gilbert, and a number of others as well, and that all spoke favorably.

Chaplin is the last and only one of the big stars in pictures today to refuse to lend his voice to the microphone. His current picture, in production for more than a year and which he has titled "City Lights," is to appear on the screen in silent form, that is, as to dialogue, but with sound effects and musical synchronization.

WILL VISIT EUROPE

He does not intend, he said, to interest outside capital in his company and it will be a closed corporation, setting aside between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 for production alone.

Chaplin purchased his present studio site in 1917 for $33,000. It was part of an old estate. Only recently, he said, he refused approximately $1,500,000 for the property. His reason for seeking a new studio location is that the taxes on the present property are too high for its use as a studio.

The comedian, according to his present schedule, will complete his forthcoming production within ten weeks, following which he plans a tour of the world, during which he will visit England, France, Germany, Spain and other countries on the continent before going to the Orient for a tour through Japan and China.

He will be away for at least four months when he will return to begin work on his studio and silent-picture project. Chaplin is still a member of the United Artists' Corporation and it is possible he may arrange a releasing arrangement through this organization.

KEYES WILL GO TO PRISON SOON

Expected to Exchange Name for Number Wednesday

Spirit Broken as Hope Flees ex-District Attorney

To be Treated as Any Other Felon on Way North

Asa Keyes, in all probability, will exchange his name for a prison number next Wednesday morning. The former District Attorney, it was indicated late yesterday, will be taken to San Quentin penitentiary Tuesday evening to begin serving a sentence of one to fourteen years for bribery.

Yesterday was replete with discouragement for the convicted ex-official. To begin with, a conference with his attorneys upon which he had planned did not take place. Later he was informed that the expected commitment paper directing the Sheriff to place him in the penitentiary had arrived. Then came his decision to leave for the penitentiary and a statement that he had abandoned hope of escaping the judgment of the court.

SPIRIT BROKEN, HOPE GONE

Keyes presented the appearance last night of a man resigned to his fate, broken in spirit and without hope.

"I have made up my mind to go on up; there is nothing else I can do," he said.

He was visibly disappointed when he learned that Paul Schenck, his attorney in his recent appeal to the higher court for a rehearing, was not to confer with him yesterday. When questioned as to plans for steps in his behalf on previous occasions, Keyes always had reiterated that the matter rested with his legal counsel.

The former official freely admits that lack of finances to prosecute additional court action prevents him from further recourse to the law.

READY FOR PRISON

Keyes stated that during the day he had made a request to the Sheriff's office to be taken to San Quentin next Tuesday. Tentative arrangements have been made to have him taken north in custody of Deputy Sheriff Cochran Tuesday night. Undersheriff Wright said last night. However, definite action has not been taken on the request as yet by Sheriff Traeger, the official said. On previous occasions the Sheriff has stated that no special consideration will be shown Keyes, such as segregating him from other prisoners or permitting him to go to the penitentiary on other than a regular transportation day. Both he and Wright explained that Tuesday and Friday are regular days for taking prisoners to San Quentin.

Schenck said yesterday that he feels confident that should Keyes's case reach the Federal court that he could obtain a favorable ruling. Lack of necessary funds, estimated at several thousand dollars, prevented further action, he said. Schenck estimated that it would require $2500 alone to pay for printing in connection with the appeal.

"People have called me on the telephone and indicated their willingness to aid Keyes financially, but as yet no money is forthcoming," Schenck said. "Under these circumstances, I don't know what I would have to say to Keyes," Schenck said, referring to a conference with the convicted man.

Will Attempt to Beat Graf Record

FAHYS PLAN WORLD FLIGHT

Will Take Off June 1 in Attempt to Circumnavigate Earth in Twelve Days

Around the world in twelve days—to beat the world's record of twenty-one days now held by the Graf Zeppelin, is the air achievement to be attempted by a noted Los Angeles pilot and his wife, Lieut. and Mrs. Herbert Fahy, they revealed last night on arrival by plane from St. Louis, Mo.

They plan to take off on the fastest 'round-the-world flight on June 1, probably from Detroit, Mich., but possibly from Los Angeles.

Fahy came home to order special 450-gallon gasoline tanks constructed at the Burbank factory of the Lockheed Aircraft Company. He will install them in the cabin plane, powered with a 425-horsepower Wasp motor, that he and Mrs. Fahy plan to fly eastward around the world in sixteen hops.

"The tanks will be placed in the wings and in each side of the cabin," Fahy said, "so that a runway through the ship will be open for Mrs. Fahy and myself to alternate at the controls. Besides the large gas tanks the only other special equipment will be a hatch in the top of the cabin through which we can determine our position."

LONGEST JUMP

The longest jump over the total of 18,800 miles will be from Newfoundland to Valencia Island, three miles off the coast of Ireland—1970 miles that can be navigated in twelve hours with the aid of eastward winds at 10,000 feet, according to Fahy's calculation.

From Ireland on around back to America arrangements have been practically completed by Fahy for fuel supplies. The Los Angeles couple plan to fly from Ireland to Berlin, then to Moscow, on over Siberia, across a tip of the Chinese republic, northward to the top of Japan, and then follow the Aleutian Islands to Unalaska, down the coast of Alaska and North America to Seattle. Pontoons will be used from Japan to Seattle.

Probability of a race between the Fahys and John Henry Mears, holder of the world's 'round-the-world record previous to the Graf flight, looms on Fahy's information that he has sold a Lockheed similar to the Fahy ship to Mears.

BALCHEN TO PILOT

Bernt Balchen, who flew Commander Richard Byrd over the South Pole, will pilot Mear's craft, Fahy said. It is expected that Balchen will return from the Antarctic

RAIN STORE DUE FOR GOOD RISE

Storm Expected to Last Through Today

Disturbance from Off Coast Sweeping This Way

Fall in City Near Half Inch Before Midnight

Rain, which began falling in the Los Angeles area shortly before dark last night, is expected to continue today, with clearing weather tomorrow.

An unofficial reading at 10 p.m. gave the fall in the metropolitan district as .40 of an inch, to bring the season total to 6.76 inches for the season, as against 8.01 inches for the same date last year, and a normal to date of 11.34 inches.

Pasadena reported a measurement of .72 of an inch; Glendora, .52 of an inch; Long Beach, .40 of an inch; Riverside, .37 of an inch, and San Pedro, .10 of an inch for the rain which fell up to 10 p.m.

The present storm may bring a good precipitation, according to the reports reaching Col. H. B. Hersey, government meteorologist. These indicated that the disturbance which has been hovering off the coast for the past three days is now moving eastward, and may swing to the southeast. In this case, Hersey said, Southern California will get a heavy fall.

Unsettled conditions with rain today was the official Weather Bureau forecast which says: "Unsettled today, with rain in west portion; clearing weather tomorrow, moderate southwest winds."

Generous showers fell in Santa Barbara county yesterday, indicating, according to the weather forecaster, that the storm is swinging southeast. Santa Maria reported .6 of an inch; Lompoc, .55 of an inch and Santa Barbara, .60 of an inch.

SNOW IN SIERRAS

Fresno reported rain to the extent of .32 of an inch, bringing the season total to 4.56 inches, as against 4.92 inches last year to date. Oxnard measured a fall of .16 of an inch for showers yesterday, bringing the season total to 7.67 inches, as against 6.76 last year.

Indications that the storm will bring a heavy snowfall in the high Sierras were contained in reports along the power lines of the Southern California Edison Company.

Snow was falling at Florence Lake and Huntington Lake, with rain at Shaver Lake. Rain was also reported at the four power plants on Big Creek. The Kern River district reported rain starting at plants Nos. 1 and 3, while indications of an approaching downpour were reported from Kaweah plants Nos. 1, 2 and 3.

FURY OF STORM IN NORTH RENEWED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4. (Exclusive)—After only a few hours respite, the terrific wind and rainstorm of Sunday night and Monday, which caused two persons to be drowned in the bay and inflicted lesser damage elsewhere, was renewed with unabated fury today at various points north of the Tehachapi. A tabulation tonight shows the following major results:

Eight rescued from death in the Pacific by the United States Coast Guard. Three Pacific liners delayed by mountainous seas.

Air travel virtually at a standstill.

Trees uprooted, shrubbery flattened, and telephone, telegraph and power wires endangered in isolated districts.

TRAWLER RESCUED

Trawler No. 5 of the San Francisco International Fish Company, commanded by Capt. Ignacio Balistreri and carrying a crew of seven, mapped a rudder rod, plunging through enormous swells off Point Reyes while running for shelter.

They were adrift in their unmanageable craft for two and one-half hours and were about to be dashed on a reef when sighted by the Coast Guard. A power lifeboat sent to their aid managed to get a line aboard the trawler and towed the vessel into Drake's Bay.

The Matson liner Matsonia, inbound from Honolulu and due at 6 a.m., was more than twelve hours late because of the heavy seas and high winds; the President Van Buren of the Dollar Line was several hours late making port and the President Grant of the same line, due tomorrow from Manila, is HIGH brows are exchanging a heavy bombardment of erudition following Judge Smith's ruling that Filipinos are Mongolians.

There is one classic example in this county of a county clerk who settled a similar question in the manner and method of Solomon.

Adachi Kinnosuki, the Japanese novelist, applied for a license to marry an American girl of this city. The County Clerk refused on the ground that he was Mongolian. Whereupon Mr. Adachi presented tomes and authorities dating back about two years before Adam. Interested persons presented counter-arguments. Adachi said the Japanese were Malay. Opponents traced the race to Mongolian ancestors.

The County Clerk finally settled the case in these words and his verdict still sticks: "Well," he said, "you got slant eyes and you don't get a license."

HOOVER'S JOB

Mr. Hoover's one year in office probably seems like 200 to him.

No President who has ever been in the White House has waded into tougher problems—or problems requiring a more thorough knowledge of political and industrial economy. If we get through this period of deflation without a period of national hard times we will have Hoover to thank.

DESERT ARCHITECTURE

Some of our millionaire friends are wasting a lot of money on some pretty weird architecture in their desert homes.

I don't know which is the worst—an Arab mosque with blue domes or an English country house in the middle of a desert landscape.

An infallible rule for architecture is to utilize the materials of the landscape—redwood and straight up-and-down lines in the redwoods and adobe or the new-old Indian walls of latticed poles and arrowweed—filled with adobe mud and gravel.

Native architecture is always beautiful in every land because the natives used what they found and built according to necessity, according to what they needed as shelter—whether sharp weighted roofs to keep off the snow, or low open houses to allow the desert air to circulate.

RABIES

The farmer lives a grand life. While he has been fighting off the Mediterranean fruit fly with one hand and the foot-and-mouth disease and boll weevil with the other with an occasional kick at the corn borer along comes the news that cattle rabies are rampant.

Until a comparatively recent time, rabies were almost unknown in this State. The germ was undoubtedly brought in by unsuspected dogs from the East. Among other things done to rouse the ire of tourists at the border, there ought to be one more—which is to give every incoming kiyoodle a shot in the arm of antitoxin.

THE LONG HORN

The Texas longhorn steer has become so scarce that the government is collecting a few to prevent the entire extinction of the breed.

There was never much to him but horn and hide. His carcass didn't yield enough meat to feed a cat. He was essentially a fighting animal—built to withstand the attack of wild animals, starvation, storm and cold.

City Mother Post Won by Mrs. Fiske

Miss Elizabeth H. Fiske, the only one of thirty-four applicants who passed the civil service test for the office, yesterday was chosen by the Police Commission as City Mother to fill the vacancy by the retirement six months ago of Mrs. Aletha Gilbert, after twenty-five years of service.

While the appointment had been protested by Mrs. Deane Harris, assistant city mother who failed to pass the test, the commissioners pointed out that there was nothing for them to do except choose the person certified by the Civil Service Commission, which conducted the examination on the basis of social service work, rather than on police work, with which some of the applicants are more familiar.

Detective Lieutenant Thomas M. Carman was promoted to captain of detectives and assigned to the Seventy-seventh-street division, and Howard C. Nutt and James W. Church were promoted to detective lieutenants, from the civil service lists.

New Ford Plant Satisfies Mayo

Satisfaction was expressed by William B. Mayo, chief engineer of the Ford Motor Company, with the new $3,000,000 Ford assembly plant at Terminal Island, completed last week, following his inspection of it yesterday.

The plant will open its doors for production within a month, Mayo declared. It will employ 2500 men in the assembly of Ford parts to be shipped here on Ford boats from eastern factories.

MATHEWS QUITS POST WITH CITY

Department of Water and Power Counsel Resigns After Long Service

W. B. Mathews, legal adviser of the city's Department of Water and Power since the establishment of the department twenty-five years ago, yesterday resigned from his position as special counsel. The resignation is to be effective in sixty days.

With the resignation of Mathews it is expected that the position of special counsel will be discontinued and the legal work conducted from City Attorney Werner's office. W. Turney Fox, assistant City Attorney, already is assigned to some of the departmental cases.

Mathew made no oral statement on his resignation. It is reported, however, that he will devote himself to the duties of general counsel of the Metropolitan Water District, a position to which he was appointed several months ago.

His activities in the city's water and power projects date from 1902, when he was City Attorney and negotiated for the purchase of the City Water Company. Mathews also drafted the amendment to the City Charter, which established the Department of Water and Power and was active in the Owens River aqueduct project.

Recently he gave his attention to the Boulder Dam project and was named by Gov. Young on the Colorado River Commission for California. Later he was appointed to the State Water Resources Commission.

On receiving Mathews's resignation the Board of Water and Power Commissioners adopted a resolution of appreciation for his services in the problems and policies of the department for a quarter of a century.

BIRD WILL ENTER PLEA TOMORROW

Defense Motion to Set Aside Murder Complaint Overruled by Court

Overruling the motion of defense attorneys to set aside the murder complaint pending against Owen R. Bird, Superior Judge Wood yesterday ordered the defendant to return to court at 10 a.m. tomorrow to enter his plea.

Bird is accused of shooting fatally Percival Watson, his best friend, during a quarrel at Bird's home. The defendant asserted after the shooting that he thought the revolver was loaded with blank cartridges and that he fired it intending to frighten the victim.

In the original action, the defendant was charged with manslaughter, but when it first came up in Superior Court George Penney, deputy District Attorney in charge of the prosecution, requested that he be permitted to amend the information and charge the defendant with murder. Judge Wood denied the motion, whereupon the District Attorney filed a new complaint charging Bird with murder.

SEARCH FOR PLANE FAILS

Wreckage of Craft Missing With Three More Than Week Not Found After Rancher's Clew

Forty weary miles on horseback through the rough snow-drifted territory between Lake Arrowhead and the Mojave Desert proved fruitless yesterday for two San Bernardino county deputy sheriffs who attempted to verify the report of a rancher that he had located the missing Western Air Express transport and its crew of three men.

"I just couldn't get my bearings," was the way the rancher, Jack Barber, attempted to explain his inability to relocate the canyon where he declared he had seen a wrecked air liner last Saturday when he returned to Lake Arrowhead with Deputy Sheriffs Ernest Shay and Ed Mitchell.

"If Barber was in that territory at all," Shay stated, "he left no tracks. We rode through the Rattlesnake Mountain country, scoured the Cozey Ranch for twenty-four hours and swung back through the Bald Hills.

"Barber would not take the lead at any time during the search, parrying our attempts to get a tangible lead with 'It doesn't look right to me.'"

Mitchell also was frank in discounting Barber's assertions that he saw the plane wreckage from a mountain top through field glasses approximately six miles away. He declared that Barber told him a plausible story last Sunday and that he believed Barber had a crashed ship located.

Barber maintained that the route followed confused him and declared that today he will attempt to retrace by foot the trails he said he originally followed. His description of the spot would place the asserted crash approximately five miles from the Cozey ranch, thirty-five miles southeast of Victorville and twenty-

MRS. ROTH'S STABLES AGAIN FIRST AT SHOW

Despite a steady drizzle of rain 4000 persons attended the ninth annual Los Angeles National Horse Show last night at Sports Auditorium to witness the thrilling performances of Spirit of St. Louis, a spirited chestnut gelding of the stables of Mrs. W. P. Roth of San Francisco, who drew a first-place ribbon for the third time in the show.

Spirit of St. Louis, almost a continual winner in events of appearance, was ridden in the three-gaited saddle-horse competition by Mrs. Roth, who is now well up among the winners. In addition to the triple honors of Spirit of St. Louis, Mrs. Roth also now has a first place for her Chief of Longview, said to be the highest-priced show horse in the world.

The winnings of Chief of Longview and Spirit of St. Louis were amplified Monday evening by her Follow Thru, chestnut stallion colt, that won the American Saddle Horse Breeders' Futurity.

POLICE READY FOR RED RIOT

Mass Meeting Tomorrow in Shadows of City Hall Will be Kept Within Law's Bounds

Severe measures were determined upon by police yesterday to preserve order at a mass demonstration of local Communists and Red sympathizers tomorrow on the west side of Main at First street, in the shadow of the City Hall, where a duplication of the rioting at the Plaza a week ago today is expected.

Similar meetings are said to be planned in principal cities throughout the world protesting against the unemployment problem, upon which the Communists and Red agitators have seized opportunely to further their radical unrest and propaganda.

It is understood that police reserves, which were so urgently needed in the Plaza disturbance, will be held in readiness to assist in quelling outbreaks of lawlessness. The Communists have announced intentions of storming the City Hall. It is not expected they will be permitted such a demonstration.

The police authorities say that no move will be made against those in the meeting so long as they respect the laws and preserve order.

Inflammatory handbills surreptitiously distributed yesterday demand that all lay down their tools at 2 p.m. tomorrow and attend the meeting. The leaflets make many radical demands and give instructions for organizations, but principally plead for the "defense of the soviet union."

The bills refer to the Plaza rioting, which jailed twenty of the asserted rioters, and announce that tomorrow's meeting will be the radicals' answer to the police and the criminal syndicalist laws.

While the Communists were preparing to mass for their second demonstration, which is asserted to be promulgated by the soviet union, a number of the Plaza rioters re-

HARVEY FACING MURDER COUNT

Self-Defense, Says Wife of Suspect, Eyewitness

Row Over Furniture Cause of Fray, Police Learn

Following the death yesterday in the Methodist Hospital of Roy F. Gottschall, 30 years of age, of 1606 West Eighty-ninth street, police booked William E. Harvey, 25, of 1096 Heliotrope Drive, on a charge of murder and held Mrs. Lillian B. Harvey temporarily for questioning in regard to a fight which is said to have occurred between her husband and Gottschall in the latter's home last Saturday night.

WILLIAM E. HARVEY

Gottschall is said to have fired several shots at Harvey and Harvey is declared to have hit Gottschall on the head with an iron bar, inflicting a wound which caused his death.

NEIGHBORS CALL POLICE

Neighbors, hearing the affray, notified police. Gottschall was removed to a hospital. Harvey was taken into custody on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon. Mrs. Harvey was not arrested.

MRS. LILLIAN B. HARVEY

According to the report of Detective-Lieutenant Savage, Mrs. Harvey and her husband had gone to Gottschall's home to recover a quantity of furniture belonging to her. Gottschall denied Mrs. Harvey's claim to the articles, it was stated, and the fight ensued.

Police have learned that Mrs. Harvey is married the fourth time. They say she married William French in Westminster, B. C., in 1914 and that French went to war. Mrs. Harvey, believing French was killed, in 1916 married Roy H. Rogers in San Diego and was later divorced, according to police. The third marriage occurred here in 1920 when she became the wife of William P. Dirkey. This was later annulled, according to the detectives. Then on September 1, last, she married Harvey in Burbank.

INQUEST TODAY

Inquest will be conducted at the Coroner's office today at 10:30 a.m. Following the inquiry Captain of Detectives Cato stated he will ask the District Attorney's office for a complaint charging Harvey with murder.

While Mrs. Harvey, according to Capt. Cato, was prevented by her attorney from making a signed statement regarding the fight she declared, Cato stated, that her husband had acted in self-defense and that she would stand by him throughout the investigation.

Harvey, according to police records, was arrested January 1, 1928, for issuing checks without sufficient funds, and later was released.

Fishing Craft Runs Ashore on Deadman's Isle

Blinded by a squall, the powered fishing boat Example, a sixty-purse seiner, ran ashore last night on new Deadman's Island at the entrance of Los Angeles Harbor. There is no beacon on the island.

Eight fishermen were returning aboard the Example when she struck in a choppy sea. The Red Stack tug Pilot hauled her off before the $70,000 fishing boat suffered any damage but a stove-in bow. The Example was tied up at the Southern Pacific slip, where she will be surveyed today.

Torrance Asks Tariff on Oils

A resolution asking the support of Senators from California for a protective tariff of $1 per barrel on crude and 15 per cent ad valorem on refined petroleum products, was adopted by the City Council of Torrance yesterday.

A telegram signed by Mayor Dennis was sent Senators Johnson and Shortridge in which the two were urged to support the oil tariff bill when it comes up for a rehearing in the Senate.

"We feel that we voice the opinion of 10,000 oil workers in the local field," the telegram read. "We believe that it will put men back on the job here and will aid in solving the unemployment situation in California oil fields."

HUNT FOR LOST AIRPLANE FAILS

"I'll go out alone and bring back a piece of the plane," was Barber's parting comment to the two deputies.

SEARCHES CONTINUE

The last definite word of the ship was from eyewitnesses at Lake Arrowhead, who said they saw the plane circle the lake two hours after it left Kingman and that it turned northward as if making for the desert and a place to land. It was storming intensely over the mountains when the ship was sighted.

Search from the air and ground will be continued today by Western Air Express planes and ground parties organized by Sheriff Walter Shaw. It was reported at company headquarters here last night.

Airline officials are certain that Doles crashed or landed safely on the desert slopes of the San Bernardino range. Searching pilots flying over the canyons and ridges for the last ten days have picked up no trace of the red-and-silver sixteen-passenger transport.

Maurice Graham, Western Air Express mail pilot, has not been heard of since he took off alone in a storm from Las Vegas, Nev., for Salt Lake City, Utah, on the night of January 11, last.

Pet Clinic Will Open Saturday

Creation of a clinic for dogs and cats at the Animal Shelter, 215 West Ann street, where persons unable to pay for treatment of injured and sick pets may obtain free service, has been decided by resolution of the Los Angeles Humane Commission.

The clinic will be held every Saturday morning, from 9 to 11 o'clock, starting next Saturday, and will be conducted by Dr. F. E. Williams. Should the demand be sufficient, the clinics will be increased.

Accused Lawyer Freed on Honor

Surrendering himself in Municipal Judge Ballard's court yesterday, A. H. Mauer, attorney accused of grand theft, was released on his own recognisance at the request of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Russell pending his preliminary hearing, which Judge Ballard set for the 20th inst.

Mauer is accused of inducing a woman and her daughter to give him $6500 in money and real estate for lots near San Diego which he is asserted to have declared were worth $8000. Russell charges that the actual value of the lots was $60.

WIFE'S FRIENDS CITED IN DIVORCE ACTION

Lloyd M. Day told Superior Judge Price yesterday, when asking for a divorce from Laura M. Day, that his wife brought other men to their home and entertained them while he lay sick and helpless. Day declared that Mrs. Day provided flair male visitors with food and went riding with them at all hours of the night. He also said he saw his wife hugging and kissing another man. A decree was granted.

PROTESTS DENIED

The City Council yesterday denied protests against the improvement of Union Pacific avenue from Esperanza to Velasco streets. The hearing of protests against the improvement of Olive street between Seventh and Pico streets was continued until April 9, when confirmation of assessments for the improvement of Webb street between Pendleton avenue and San Fernando Mission Boulevard was held over until Friday pending a report from the contractor.

SALVATION ARMY PAIR JOIN STAFF

Capt. and Mrs. Edward Taylor arrived from Honolulu yesterday afternoon on the steamship City of Los Angeles. Capt. Taylor will assume his duties as director of the city-wide boys' work of the Salvation Army, with headquarters in the divisional building, 833 West Ninth street. He also will be director of the Silver Citadel broadcasting band, which has been under direction of Adjt. Ballington Rogers, who was transferred to the young people's work of the Orange Belt division.

Mrs. Taylor was formerly Capt. Esther Pollard, well-known Salvation Army worker here. The new officer of boys' work here, which is a new position for Los Angeles, will be under direction of Brig. James G. Bell, commanding the Los Angeles and South Coast division.

Capt. Taylor as conductor of the band will direct it in a series of broadcasts. The band is heard each Sunday at Corps No. 2, the Citadel, 125 East Fourth street.

PLANES GROUNDED

Air travel is practically nullified and all passenger reservations have been cancelled for the time being on mail planes. Western Air Express, T.A.T.-Maddux, Continental and other passenger lines grounded their planes in the interest of safety.

Harlan Hull, Western Air Express pilot, set his plane and six passengers down at Merced when he flew into a violent storm en route from Los Angeles to Oakland.

A. D. Starbuck, Boeing Pacific Air Transport flyer, turned back by a terrific squall en route to Medford, made a second hop-off from Oakland and finally got through to Medford an hour and forty-five minutes late.

Eastbound Boeing mail planes were grounded at Sacramento and the mail entrained to Reno and westbound planes were taken out of operation between Reno and Sacramento.

City Engineer O'Shaughnessy reported an intake of 69,000,000 gallons of water in reservoirs feeding San Francisco during the storm. The city has 11,000,000,000 gallons in storage against 19,000,000,000 gallons at this time last year.

In Oakland, the storm became a small hurricane shortly before daybreak. Two trees were uprooted and sent crashing into the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Scott. They were awakened by falling cornices and shingles, found themselves penned in and had to be rescued by police and firemen.

A foot bridge over the San Lorenzo River was washed out at Santa Cruz and telephone communication between Santa Cruz, Boulder Creek and other points in the mountains adjacent was crippled.

Electric light service was temporarily interrupted in parts of San Mateo county when trees were uprooted and pulled down wires.

HEAVY SNOW FALL

Seventeen inches of fresh snow fell at Norden, the Sierra summit, making ninety-two inches on the gauge. There was an eleven-inch fall at Truckee, making thirty-three inches.

Despite damage, the rainfall was welcomed. Five representative points passed the rainfall total of last year at this time.

Police Identify Slain Robber

Fingerprints received from the National Identification Bureau at Washington yesterday revealed identity of the bandit suspect who was shot to death by a police officer, February 13, last, after holding up two couples in Griffith Park. The dead man was established as Frank J. O'Neill of St. Louis, who was arrested there on robbery charges several years ago. His father is said to be living at 3709 Pass avenue, St. Louis.

O'Neill was killed while in flight from Hollywood by police who picked up his trail after he had robbed two petting parties in the park and then attacked one of the women. All four victims were negroes.

TREES KEY TO CONTROL OF FLOODS

Green Cross Executive Addresses Nature Club on Forestation

"Trees are the guardians of our water supplies," declared George H. Barnes, chairman of the board of governors of the American Green Cross, in an address before the Nature Club of Southern California, last night at the Public Library lecture room.

Mr. Barnes said that many of the most colossal engineering failures of the world were due to the fact that forestation had not been taken into account in flood control and water supply.

"When you disturb the cycle of nature and destroy trees you will have cloudbursts and floods instead of gentle rains," he said, "and until we realize this we can never be victorious in our efforts at control."

The speaker also called attention to the fact that the 7th inst. is Arbor Day and that many educational institutions of the city will have suitable programs. He said that the day should be devoted to the spread of educational information tending to protect birds and trees.

That 176 carloads of insects were eaten daily by the birds of Nebraska was the estimate of government officials, he declared. Green Cross speakers will address clubs and schools Friday, he said.

G. A. CHARTERS KILLS HIMSELF

Widely Known for Year as Shipper of Fruits

Ill Health Attributed in Note as Cause of Deed

Former Jonathan Club Head Uses Gun in Suicide

George Alexander Charters, for twenty years known in many parts of the United States as a fruit packer and shipper, shot and killed himself yesterday because, a note found by his body said, of illness and mental strain.

Mr. Charters was president of Jonathan Club from 1920 to 1923. He was head of Charters-Davis, fruit packers and shippers, which was dissolved late last year. Since then he has been president of the somewhat recently organized Charters Oil Company, Inc. He was a Shriner and member of Wilshire Country Club. He had resided here for the last twelve years after coming from Cleveland, O. The home is at 852 South Lorraine Boulevard. He was about 53 years of age. Private funeral services will be conducted soon.

Police reported finding in his pocket two notes scribbled on the back of envelopes on one of which it is stated that death was due to his own hand and directing that police and Coroner be notified. On the other, addressed to family and friends, is a prayer that God help them in their hour of trouble.

The body was found by a brother, William J. Charters, 826 South Gramercy Drive, proprietor of Tower Cafe, Pico Boulevard, who had called at the George Charters home. It was lying in a storeroom adjacent to the garage on the back of the home lot. A laundress, Mrs. Edward Roaland, 1863 West Twenty-fourth street, who was working in the rear yard at the time, gave the alarm, police reported. A revolver lay near the outstretched body and a bullet hole pierced the head.

Mrs. Charters is said in the police report to have been downtown shopping at the time. A son, Robert W. Charters, 20, is in the oil company office. Another son, George Allen, 11, is in school.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and relieve irritation, while the creosote goes to the stomach, is absorbed by the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of germs.

Creomulsion is powerful in many of the treatment of coughs, colds, bronchitis and other forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

COURT DOUBTS SANITY OF ARDENT KISS TOSSER

Trial of Tad Jones, 37 years of age, of 5017 Gregory avenue, accused of disturbing the peace and vagrancy as a result of throwing "ardent kisses" to Aimee Semple McPherson as she passed between Angelus Temple and her home and writing love letters to her, was halted by Municipal Judge Sheldon yesterday after the State had presented its case.

Judge Sheldon ordered Jones placed in the psycopathic ward of the General Hospital for observation pending a trial as to his sanity. The action was taken under Sec. 1368 of the Penal Code, which requires that a judge who, at any time during a criminal trial, has reason to doubt the sanity of the defendant shall suspend proceedings immediately and order a sanity trial.

Neighbors of Mrs. McPherson testified that Jones has called before the Temple board of directors and warned to cease annoying her and also that he was warned by the City Prosecutor's office that he would be arrested if he did not desist. The arrest was made later, they said.

CITY PRINT SHOP GIVEN APPROVAL

Budget Bureau Comes Out in Favor of Separate Unit in Place of Police Plant

Approval of the suggestion of the Police Commission that the city should operate a printing bureau as a separate department instead of having the police printing bureau handle city printing is conveyed in a communication received by the commission yesterday from the Bureau of Budget and Efficiency. The communication was accompanied by a similar request from the Mayor.

With the approval of the City Council the printing bureau in 1926 started printing for various city departments until to date its combined sales to other departments total $167,702.80.

The bureau states that its survey shows that while the pay roll is 10 per cent higher than for commercial printing concerns of a similar size, a saving to the city in printing totals $37,474.01.

The police printing bureau now is doing 40 per cent of the city's printing, according to the survey, and it is declared that in a short time it will be doing the other 60 per cent.

WOMAN NOT PERMITTED TO TESTIFY

Octogenarian Declared Mentally Incompetent in Contest Over Will

Mrs. Cyrena S. Scott, 83 years of age, was declared mentally incompetent to testify in the contest of the will of her husband, E. W. J. Scott, who died April 29, 1928, leaving his property to his son, Frank E. Scott.

The decedent's grandson, Howard Scott, filed a contest on the ground that his father had improperly influenced his grandmother. When attorneys for the father put Mrs. Scott on the stand opposing attorneys challenged her testimony as incompetent, and after a few questions Judge Hanby agreed that she was.

The case will be resumed today. The estate is valued at $60,000. It is asserted in the petition contesting the will that Mrs. Scott was kept a prisoner, incommunicado, and that friends and relatives were not permitted to see her. A number of such were in the courtroom and were permitted by the judge to converse with Mrs. Scott.

Today's Bible Text

And as Paul reasoned of righteousness, temperance, and judgment to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time; when I have a convenient season, I will call for thee.—Acts xxiv, 25.

AND HOW

French playwrights are said to resent American invasion. Anyway, they wanted us in 1916.

"WELCOME DANGER"

CROSSES OF COMMERCE

A million new telephone poles were erected in America last year. Evidently trying to hold up their end of the conversation!

PLANE-CLOTHESMEN

New York has added two airplanes to her police department equipment. Possibly to arrest the skyscrapers shooting up into the sky!

THE ACID TEST

International labor leaders are worried over the question of the equality of the sexes. Go into the average worker's home and see who is boss.

BUGS

The flu germ has been tracked to its lair and is called pleomorphic streptococcus. Why did they have to discover it? Why did they not let bad enough alone?

HEALTH IN PEACE

Irish census figures prove that widows in the Free State live the longest, an indication that domestic battles are more disastrous than the ordinary back-fence quarrel.

MATRICULATING IN MATRIMONY

Matrimony is an institution of learning in which a man loses his bachelor's degree without acquiring a master's, says a contemporary. However, in the end he usually qualifies in philosophy.

BOW BELLS TO RING

Evidently harassed by American tourists seeking an answer to the query, "What is a cockney?" the London County Council has decreed that Bow Bells shall ring again after a silence of four years.

PLENTY ARE NEEDED

If Superior Judge Stephens were to appoint guardians for all of those citizens of Los Angeles who should be protected from spending their money too freely, a special court for the purpose would have to be created.

ART NECESSARY, TOO

English purists in speech are alarmed lest the American "talkies" corrupt the King's language. But no apprehension that British-made film will supplant the Hollywood brand need be felt until the producers over there turn out a better quality of motion picture than they have been sending to these shores.

NEW ATTACK ON RADIO

The petition of the American Federation of Musicians, or musicians' union, to the Federal Radio Commission urging that body to stop the broadcasting of phonograph records, is characteristic. The argument is based on the fact that many musicians are out of work. But the principal reason why many musicians are out of work is the short-sighted leadership of the American Federation of Musicians, which will not permit them to work except under almost impossible conditions.

The empty orchestra pits of the country's theaters are a monument to union leadership, which choked theater music to death by unconscionable exactions.

Few broadcasting stations would use phonograph music, except for variety's sake, if they could hire players of the number they need, when they need them, free from union dictation. Most studio managers are ambitious to better their programs.

The Federal Radio Commission was created to serve the public. It will not serve the public by aiding this rapacious group of union leaders to tighten their grip on radio broadcasting by giving them an unlicensed and unregulated monopoly of radio entertainment.

RED DEMONSTRATIONS

Los Angeles and other large cities are scheduled to have another Communist demonstration tomorrow which is supposed, in some mysterious way, to aid the comrades in Russia whom the demonstrators, for some equally mysterious reason, are not anxious to rejoin. The New York police, because some ninety sticks of dynamite have been stolen from a construction job there, are getting ready for serious trouble and the police of other cities are also on the alert. In California, in all likelihood, there will be a minimum of disturbance, since this State some years ago very wisely provided itself with a safeguard—the Criminal Syndicalism Act—which, also very wisely, it has refused to repeal. But the affair of last week was serious enough, and a repetition of it is not desired.

According to press reports from the East, William Z. Foster, considered the leading Communist of the country, recently landed with $1,250,000 supplied him by the propaganda department of the soviet government, to be used in agitation. The story seems preposterous on its face, for while the amount would be ridiculously inadequate to convert the United States to Communism, it is a good deal of money for William Z. Foster to have and the estimate is probably a gross exaggeration. It is credible enough, however, that Foster or some other soviet agent has been furnished with funds, either by Stalin or by the "parlor pinks" who think Russia is lovely so long as they do not, personally, have to put up with it. The Los Angeles agitators are certainly on somebody's pay roll, since none of them has any visible means of support.

Most of them do not appear to be citizens. The logical thing to do with aliens who are not satisfied here is to send them back to their own countries. The deportation machinery of the Federal government is far behind in its work, because adequate appropriations have been lacking. Waiting for Congress to remedy the deficiency requires a good deal of patience; and in the meantime it would perhaps be a good idea to make use of the Criminal Syndicalism Act to be applied, at least to the professional agitators.

The "comrades" themselves—that is to say, the Communist leaders in Russia—do not seem to be so sure as their friends in this country, that the world-wide protest against the shooting of peasants, rabbis and priests is not justified. At any rate Comrade Stalin has issued a caution that expropriation of peasant property is proceeding too rapidly and that peasants who do not want to join the State-owned farm projects should not be molested. The Russian church recently issued a denial that religion is being persecuted as such—a denial that rather serves to call attention to the curious fact that religious leaders are very prominently being prosecuted for "counter-revolutionary activities," a term that may have various meanings. The religious leaders will be just as dead when shot for counter-revolution as for preaching religion.

Stalin's caution may mean a shift in policy, or it may be camouflage, but in either case it constitutes an admission that the world had something to complain about.

Public opinion would not sanction, in this country, the repression of agitators by the Russian method, the bullet and the noose, but a reasonable amount of punishment certainly should be imposed on all foes of public order. Demonstrations such as that of last week here are witless and pointless, accomplishing nothing except to get a few heads broken and to prove what an absurd minority the Communists are in this community. But their continued recurrence is a public nuisance and deserves to be summarily dealt with.

NO THANKS FOR THIS HELP

The people outside of California who insist on settling California's problems for her seem to be legion. Not only does Chairman Johnson of the House Immigration Committee (who lives in Washington) declare he will "save California for the Californians," but Prof. Roy L. Garis of the economics department of Vanderbilt University (which is in Tennessee) denies that California has any peculiar agricultural problems. Prof. Garis, who, it seems, has never visited California—at least he mentions no such trip—got his information by mailing out questionnaires to "hundreds of Californians."

He seems to have placed most reliance on the answers from Del Norte, Siskiyou and Modoc counties, judging by his conclusion that since picking of walnuts, tree fruits and melons is done in some other places by white labor, white labor can be used to do it in California. It might be inquired whether the field hands in Tennessee are white, and why Prof. Garis neglects to talk about, for instance, lettuce and strawberries.

Not a single representative Californian, familiar with conditions in Southern California and particularly in the San Joaquin and Imperial valleys, has ever appeared in Washington to tell a Congressional committee that white labor can do the work or that there is anywhere an available supply of white labor that can be hired at any price for this work. Hundreds have declared that Mexican labor, if not the ideal answer, is the best answer, and that probable alternates (such as Porto Ricans) is a poor answer.

If the dire results predicted as a result of Mexican immigration should come to pass, it will be California—not Tennessee, nor Washington, nor any other part of the country—that will suffer. Seeing that California has had unlimited Mexican immigration for a couple of centuries, however, this seems scarcely likely.

California needs to be saved from her saviors.

CAREFUL DRIVERS PENALIZED

Reckless drivers not only get into trouble themselves, but they are causing a hardship on the courteous motorist who operates his machine with a view to the comfort and safety of the other fellow. The new auto insurance rates indicate that the companies are having a harder time to keep up with the driver who kills and maims in his mad desire "to get there" than they are with the operator who occasionally bumps a fender or runs his car into a ditch.

LEE SIDE O' LA

BY Lee Shippey

NOW that books on travel and exploration are so popular, a 76-year-old Alhambra man has written one which ought to be in every library on the coast, especially every public library. Copies of it have been bought by the Los Angeles Public Library, the Los Angeles County Free Library, several libraries in Canada and a large number of discriminating readers, including Henry Van Dyke.

The author is M. J. Lorraine, a civil engineer who, while he still was vigorous and active, traced the Columbia River to its source in British Columbia, designed and built for himself a suitable boat in which, alone, he descended this most beautiful of American rivers to the ocean, successfully running its 107 rapids on the way, a feat it is doubtful if any other white man ever accomplished. The story of his experiences is the story of adventures, dangers and discoveries—the sort of narrative which, were it about the Yangtse-kiang, we Americans might read with breathless interest; and which is just about as full of surprises for most of us as the Yangtze-kiang would be. It is historical and far more accurate in its definite descriptions, far more correct from an engineering standpoint—than anything Richard Halliburton, say, ever wrote.

In the same intrepid spirit in which he shot rapids, Lorraine has brought out this book at his own expense, hoping it will support him in his old age. He has risked his all on it. And he is in desperate need of its success. His address is 319 West Main street, Alhambra. The title of the book is "The Columbia Unveiled."

Prefers the Silent Watches

I hate to hear alarm clocks ring
Before the dawn, when all is chill;
I feel a strong desire to fling
Such things as will forever still
Their voices. Though the wish to rise
Runs through my dreams with rare delight,
Just then alarm clocks I despise—

Seems Fair Enough

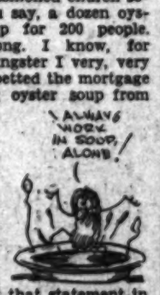
Leeside: In a recent issue of The Times, over which we fight for possession every morning at our house, I saw the headline:

COUNTY APPROPRIATES FUNDS FOR BRIDGE.

It got me wondering if you could wield a little influence with the county to award a little sum to cover my deficit for poker, as otherwise I soon will be obliged to give up the game. After all, poker is played with the same cards as bridge, and if the matter were presented to them in a proper light surely they should be willing to vote a similar amount.—B. R. D., Santa Ana.

Speaks Up For the Mum

L. S.: A friend who keeps me supplied with clippings from your colyum has just sent me one in which you mention the old-fashioned church social, at which, you say, a dozen oysters supplied soup for 200 people. You got it all wrong. I know, for when I was a youngster I very, very often aided and abetted the mortgage lifters by carrying oyster soup from the producers to the consumers, and never once did I see to exceed one oyster (often a cove oyster) in the main reservoir from which the consumer got his gurgling fluid. You should correct that statement in justice to the one oyster which did such valiant service. And often that one oyster did his stuff at two or three suppers. To say that a dozen oysters performed so valiantly is like saying that a dozen Leonidases held the pass at Thermopylae.—W. C. Hatfield, Des Moines, Iowa.



We apologize to the oyster. Like strong, silent men, some of those strong, silent oysters certainly accomplished wonders.

Where All the World's a-Screen

All Hollywood is permeated with artistic aspiration—with the possible exception of those who are singing whiny songs for talkies. A family we know buys vegetables from some sort of south-of-Europe foreigner who looks a good deal like a Balkan brigand—and now and then some housewife thinks maybe he is. He is supposed to pass our friends' house with his cart loaded with scrubbed and polished vegetables, at about 9 every morning. But lately he has been irregular, missing out a day or two at a time and then showing up with some weird excuse. He never says he's been sick—people don't especially like to buy vegetables from a sick man. But a tree fell across his driveway and for two days he couldn't get his cart out; or someone ran into his cart and spilled his entire stock and made repairs necessary.

But the other night our friends went to the show—and saw their huckster on the screen! They accused him next morning and found out the truth. He confessed he was a "type." He is listed with the casting bureau. And whenever he gets a call his customers get no vegetables for a day or so. He doesn't make as much money acting as huckstering—these vegetable hucksters average about $80 a week—but he doesn't let mere financial considerations stand in the way of art.

TWO-PARTY STATE

By swinging Florida in to the Republican column, Herbert Hoover put one over on the Democratic leaders of that State. The Legislature had decreed that in order to hold a primary election a political party must poll 30 per cent of the vote. That was thought to be a safe margin. Because of the Hoover victory, Florida will have a two-party primary in June for the first time in its history.

AND FRANK WIGGINS

Mr. Coolidge's analysis of the reasons for the Southland's remarkable growth shows a keen insight. Among the reasons he forgot to mention was the late secretary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

THE DUMPY

The plump figure has come back again. However, we notice the ladies are acquiring long skirts to hide it.

PREFERENCE

By James J. Montague

I like the little city child
That romps around the park,
Whose raiment never is defiled
By any sooty mark.
He looks so neat and trig and trim
That, even should I try,
I could not keep my eyes off him
When I am passing by.

I like the tiny baby girls,
With white and starchy frocks
And little silky, corkscrew curls
And shiny silken socks.
Though often they seem proud and cold,
Like some bright shining star,
And seem to know, at four years old,
What lovely things they are.

I like the children that I pass
Upon their schoolward way,
Who never romp upon the grass
And soil their bright array.
They march along, through sun and shade,
In gleaming morning dress—
A glorious infantile parade
Of spotless cleanliness.

Yet, if kind heaven would give to me
The utmost gift of power,
I would not have all children be
As perfect as a flower.
Some ought to be as fair as suns
And filled with charms and graces,
But most of all I like the ones
With dirty hands and faces.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

MR. HUDSON'S NEW MOVIE BILL

[Detroit Free Press]

The beneficent and earnest desire to save America from sin and sinful desire and temptation manifestly behind his new bill for control and censorship of the movies and talkies does Congressman Grant Hudson credit. None the less, the prospectus of the measure provides considerable detailed new evidence that good intent is by no means the whole of legislative statesmanship.

The all-embracing paternalistic aspects of the Hudson bill, and its potentialities for intolerable restrictions on speech and action, and the aroma of near-State Socialism that clings to its pages, are no less obtrusive than its purely moral and ethical aims. After reading an enumeration of the things that would be forbidden or regulated in case the measure should become law—an unlikely denouement—we are impelled to wonder whether the Congressman has forgotten that the spirit of the Federal Constitution as well as its letter should be taken into account in framing laws. Indeed, it is not very clear that Mr. Hudson has paid any superabundant attention even to the letter. The censorship contemplated by the member from Michigan would have delighted the uncompromising soul of the late lamented Mr. Cato had he lived to see this day, and it ought to give the typical maiden aunt visions of the near advent of the millennium.

THE OLD PROBLEM OF VALUATION

[New York World]

Senator Howell of Nebraska wishes to have Congress validate the methods of arriving at the physical value of the railroads which the Interstate Commerce Commission employed in the O'Fallon case, but which were set aside last May by the United States Supreme Court. In its decision the court maintained that the commission did not give proper weight to reproduction costs. Senator Howell now proposes that Congress define the purport of the law more clearly and in such a way as to sustain the findings of the commission. Unless this is done, he says, the total valuation of the railroads will be raised by $9,000,000,000, with a consequent increase in rates.

That the decision in the O'Fallon case was a technical victory for the railroads no one will dispute, but it does not follow that their rates will be raised because of it. While the court insisted that the commission should give weight to the present reproduction cost as one of the elements of value, it carefully refrained from indicating how much weight should be accorded to this element, and the actual result of the decision is still problematical. Under the tentative valuation made by the commission the roads as a whole have not been earning the 5.75 per cent designated as a fair return under the provisions of the Transportation Act, and yet the trend of rates has been downward. In the half-year since the O'Fallon decision there has been no indication that this trend is to be reversed. The roads will certainly not charge more than the traffic will bear, nor are they likely, in the face of increasing competition from motor vehicles, to drive traffic from their rails to the highway.

While the O'Fallon decision does not seem to menace the interests of shippers, it does leave the matter of railway valuation in an uncertain state. If Congress can clarify the problem with legislation which will stand the test of the courts it will have rendered a useful service.

LETTERS TO The Times

[Name and address of writer must accompany all letters for this column. Letters of a personal nature or involving contentious religious questions are not acceptable.]

State Motor Patrol

FORT YUMA (Cal.) March 2. [To the Editor of The Times:] In today's issue of The Times appears an article headed, "What About This Motor War at State Border?" by Harry Carr. He says: "After this examination officers of the State motor patrol examine the cars to see if they carry stolen numbers and to register them." The officers of the State motor patrol at this station do not examine the cars for stolen numbers or any other stolen articles and would like to have you distinctly understand this.

The officers of the California Highway Patrol are put here to issue nonresident permits to visitors from other States who are remaining in California for a period exceeding ten days. The State law requires any out-of-State visitor to obtain a nonresident permit within ten days from the date he enters the State or buy a California license. The officers here do not register cars in any sense of the word, but issue nonresident permits.

In another portion of the article the writer says: "At the conclusion of the examination the officers paste a sticker on the windshield to show that the car is entitled to pass." This sticker he refers to is a nonresident permit and has nothing to do whatever with the agricultural inspection and says nothing about whether he is entitled to pass or not. The agricultural department of California does not put stickers on windshields. No officer at this station puts permits on any windshield if the motorist objects. If he happens not to want the nonresident permit on his windshield he is told that if a permit is issued to him here that it must be placed on the windshield in the lower right-hand corner, or it cannot be issued to him here, and he is politely referred to an office of the Division of Motor Vehicles in the vicinity of his destination. The officers of the California Highway Patrol here are not connected in any way with the California Agriculture Department.

T. H. McGAHEY,
California Highway Patrol.

The Coast Guard

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] All law-abiding citizens will appreciate your four articles dealing with the Coast Guard. So frequently the wrong impression is received of that splendid organization. Your series has clarified matters and presented these men who guard our shores as modern minute men, fit to take their place with the heroes of Lexington.

I am sure all law-abiding people are happy because of The Times' fair attitude in dealing with matters pertaining to prohibition.

RALPH W. KENNEDY.

Historical and Instructive

LONG BEACH, March 3.—[To the Editor of The Times:] To one who believes that industrial history is as important as political one of the most interesting features of the recent automobile show staged in the splendid setting of the Shrine Auditorium, was the exhibit of antique cars. It is to be hoped that such an exhibit may some day be given a permanent location.

The exhibit covered the period of about 1900-10. This represents the genesis of the automobile era, during which the motor car advanced from an unreliable curiosity to a practical means of transportation. By the latter date there were a number of models capable of high speed and steady service. Among those represented at the show, with which at the time the writer was familiar, was the model 10 (White) Buick, Hupmobile and Hudson roadster.

ROY W. ABEL.

Adam and Eve

LOS ANGELES, March 3.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In a letter in which he laments the lack of chivalry in the young men of today, as shown by their failure to give up their seats in street cars to women, J. M. W. advocates that a course in chivalry be given in our public schools.

I quite agree with him that men should show courtesy at all times to the female of the species, and I try to do so myself. But evidently it does not occur to him that the sweet things themselves might be responsible for the lack of gallantry of which he complains.

The desire to protect the female is a natural part of the masculine animal and is in no need of cultivation. But in view of the selfish attitude of certain spoiled members of the gentle sex, it is not to be wondered at that a man may ask, "What's the use?" A. W. H.

Did you know that of the two copies in existence of the first quarto edition of Shakespeare's "Hamlet" (1603) one is in the Huntington Library and the other in the British Museum? Strange to say, each of these copies lacks one page, which is supplied by a photograph from the other copy. W. B. J.

Known as "The Alps of America," the Sierra Nevada Mountains extend for 250 miles through the State, with an average width of seventy-five miles, and contain more than 2000 peaks over 12,000 feet high. W. B. J.

ABERDEEN IN HISTORY

BY JAMES MAIN DIXON

The visit of the Scottish Episcopal Bishop of Aberdeen to this country is not without some national significance; for it was in the granite city a century and a half ago that the first American Protestant Episcopal bishop received his ordination. The Roman Catholic Church has its prelate and a beautiful granite cathedral on the banks of the Dee, and Dr. Frederic Deane, who is now with us, is at present active in the construction of a new edifice as a worthy home of the Protestant Episcopal see. He appeals to American sentiment, for the memories of 1783 are to be recalled when three Scottish bishops, in the plain old structure, consecrated Samuel Seabury of Connecticut bishop of that State. Since then all our American Protestant Episcopal bishops have received their orders from this historic source, and not from Canterbury or York.

On Lady-day, March 25, 1783, following up the events of the Revolution, the Episcopalians of the State of Connecticut met in convocation and elected Samuel Seabury, one of their number, to be their bishop. Until then the Anglican clergymen serving in the colonies were under the see of London, whence they got their orders; and the condition after 1776 was anomalous. Soon afterward Seabury set sail for England to obtain consecration, but found on his arrival no ready response whatever. Tired of the delay, and acting on the advice of several of the Anglican bishops who were friendly to his application, he turned his eyes northward to Scotland, where the nonjuring episcopate barely survived in a land that was staunchly Presbyterian. In the troubles of the Reformation and the later Presbyterian-Episcopalian struggle marked by the murder in 1679 of Archbishop Sharpe at St. Andrews, Aberdeen was a center of Episcopalian sympathizers; Aberdonians were with the Crown against the Kirk. When the Stuarts were exiled Aberdeen remained a Jacobite center, as it had been an Episcopalian center, as against Edinburgh, the home of Presbyterianism. It was, therefore, quite natural that the visitant from across the Atlantic should have gone to the Scots' capital of the north to receive his consecration.

The old cathedral of St. Machar gets its name from a Celtic saint who lived in the days before Macbeth; what remains of it is now a Presbyterian place of worship, like St. Giles in Edinburgh and St. Mungo's in Glasgow. It was under good King David the First, just 800 years ago, that Aberdeen became a see. In the words of Wyntoun:

"He illumined in his days

The Cathedral of St. Machar's took a century and a half to build; it is said to be the only granite cathedral in Christendom; but only the nave remains today. It was still under construction in 1494, when the University of Aberdeen was established, third in number of the four Scottish universities. Aberdeen had a distinguished bishop at that time, William Elphinstone, who left his impress for good on the diocese. Founder of King's College, he made the city a literary and historic center. The college had for its first principal Hector Boecer, author of a well-known History of Scotland. With John Major he represented the best Scottish scholarship of the day; and began a tradition that has been since upheld; for Aberdeen has more than held its place as a scholarly center.

The Scottish Episcopal Church has always been distinctly High Church in its sympathies. It has grown in the last century and its clergy now number 323, divided among seven bishoprics. The names are given in the order of numerical importance: Glasgow, Edinburgh, Aberdeen and Orkney, St. Andrews, Brechin, Moray, Argyll. The city and harbor of Aberdeen have such a close connection with the fisheries of the northern islands that the county of Orkney has been specially added to the diocese.

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Vase Making?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

An exhibit of original vases and other clay works of art is in the main hall of the north wing at Belmont Evening High School, 1575 West Second street. All are welcome to visit the workroom where these objects are designed and made. Students in the workroom are being trained free of charge by the public schools and are under the direction of Bernice Fulton, a former student of Olive Newcomb.

Clay is furnished free to students in the class, and whenever there is room new students are admitted without examinations and without charge. The class meets on Monday and Wednesday evenings, 7 to 9. Bowls, trinket boxes and paper-weight tiles are in process of being made and advanced students are learning the use of molds.

More sardines flow out of the harbor—in cans, neatly packed—than from any other country in the world, due to the development of the fishing industry in Los Angeles canneries during the past nine years. W. B. J.

LAND SHOW EXHIBIT UTILIZED

Los Angeles Students Acquire Lore

Books in Trees

EXHIBITS at the California Land Show, opening Saturday evening at Hill and Washington streets, are to be used by Los Angeles city schools as an educational feature.

Students from Polytechnic High School visited the two-acre redwood forest pavilion yesterday, where Prof. William R. Tanner, assistant director of the forestry department of city schools, gave practical instruction.

During the sixteen days of the exhibit various classes from the schools will study California agriculture and horticulture at first hand.

Man Accused of Narcotics Sale

John W. Shubin, 23 years of age, asserted peddler in the employ of a narcotic ring, yesterday was charged with suspicion of violating the State Poison Act following his sale, according to police, of seventy morphine tablets to Detective Lieutenant Hanes of the Central narcotic squad.

The officer arrested Shubin at Eleventh and Main streets after purchasing the drug for $30, according to his report.

OPPOSITION TO FREIGHT PLAN TOLD

Transcontinental Lines Go on Record Against Move to Aid Western Trunks

Opposition of transcontinental railroads to an increased share of cross-country freight divisions for the benefit of numerous western trunk lines, operating between the Missouri River and Chicago, became a matter of record yesterday at an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing before Examiner Disque in the Alexandria.

C. E. Hattel, assistant general freight agent of the Santa Fe, and C. E. Taylor, superintendent of terminals for the Santa Fe in Chicago, were the first witnesses called after the western trunk lines had completed the presentation of their case.

Expense involved in the handling of California perishable shipments at the Chicago terminals was discussed by both witnesses, who supported their testimony with voluminous exhibits.

The western trunk lines are demanding the same rate per mile as is apportioned to the transcontinental lines. The transcontinental carriers maintain that the advantage they are receiving is necessary to meet the originating cost, including switching, loading and similar matters.

Parent and Teacher Row Over Child

Argument over Nancy Ward, 8 years of age, yesterday precipitated a fight between the child's mother, Mrs. Estrella T. Ward of 1204 East Fifty-eighth Drive, and John Wright, principal of the Miramonte school, which terminated only when each named the other in complaints charging assault and battery before Judge Miller of Huntington Park.

Summoned to the school, Deputy Sheriff Wolff reported that he arrived too late to witness the physical violence of which each accused the other. Wolff took them before the judge. Both were arraigned on the charges and released on their own recognizance pending trial, Monday at 2 p.m.

The row resulted, according to investigating officers, when Mrs. Ward attempted to take her daughter from school after the child complained that she had been whipped the previous day, her first day at the school.

Love Test Fails as Solution of Marital Tangle

Separation for a time to determine whether they loved each other failed in the case of Harold E. Pinner and his wife, Mrs. Fern June Pinner, the wife testified yesterday before Superior Judge Archbald when she was granted a divorce.

"He said we weren't getting along and that we should try living apart for awhile. Then he came to me and said we had better get a divorce," Mrs. Pinner declared.

Mrs. Pinner also asserted her husband on one occasion made advances to one of her girl friends.

Miss Dorothy Gallinger, the girl friend, corroborated Mrs. Pinner's testimony. She also said Pinner invited her to go to a show with him and she refused.

DRIVER TO FACE MURDER COUNTS

Accused of Mowing Down Crowd in Safety Zone

Six Others Held for Hit-Run and Drunk Driving

Thomas Bell, 36 years of age, of 1046 West Washington street, was held for trial by Superior Court on two charges of second-degree murder and one of drunk driving following his preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Turney yesterday. Judge Turney fixed bail at $25,000.

Witnesses summoned by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Stahlman told the court that on February 23, last, Bell drove his automobile into a crowded safety zone at Fifty-ninth street and Avalon Boulevard and that two persons were killed and four injured so severely that they had to be given hospital treatment. Bell was drunk at the time, several witnesses said and Police Surgeon Kirkpatrick, who examined him a short time later, declared tests also showed that he was drunk.

I. E. Adams of 7677 South San Pedro street testified that he saw Bell's car run through the safety zone where seven persons were preparing to board a street car. The left wheels of Bell's machine, he said, went through the center of the zone. The automobile was traveling at about twenty-five miles an hour at the time, he declared. Motorman B. Briggs testified that his first knowledge of the accident was when he saw a body hurtling through the air in front of where the street car was standing.

SIX OTHERS BOUND OVER

County Autopsy Surgeon Wagner testified that Judson J. Bailey and Alvis Keubler died as the result of injuries sustained when they were struck by Bell's automobile.

In addition to Bell, one man was held by Municipal Court judges for trial on hit-and-run driving charges yesterday and five on drunk driving charges. Municipal Judge Russill held Jack W. Anderson, 29, chauffeur, of 1047 South Irolo street, under $5000 bail to await Superior Court trial for hit-and-run driving. Miss Helen Rand, 22, of 845 East Thirty-ninth street, testified that she was riding in Anderson's automobile when it struck down Miss Edith Booher, 1213½ West Forty-second street, at Tenth street and Magnolia avenue, and that Anderson continued on his way without stopping to render aid. The woman was injured seriously, other witnesses said.

FIGHTER UNDER BOND

Judge Russill also held Herbert Francisco, 1255 Edris Drive, under $500 bail for trial on drunk-driving charges. Francisco was arrested when a police officer observed him collapse in the driver's seat of his automobile after making a boulevard stop at Pico and Figueroa streets at 3 a.m. February 20, last. Eugene W. Dickerson, 919 Beacon street, was held on similar charges under the same bail. Sam Dean, 1153 North Sycamore street, testified that Dickerson's automobile collided with his at Seventh and Hoover streets, and that Dickerson was drunk at the time.

Municipal Judge Russill held Sailor Sharkey, 38, fighter, residing at 715 El Centro street, under $1000 bail on a drunk-driving charge when witnesses declared that Sharkey's machine collided with two others at Wilshire Boulevard and Rossmore avenue at midnight February 15, last. S. M. Johnson, 1781 East Thirty-second street, struck a parked car on Compton avenue and his own automobile turned over, witnesses declared. He was held for drunk driving under $500 bail, as was Allen M. Bachelor, 772 North Van Ness avenue, arrested at Hollywood Boulevard and Cahuenga avenue after a citizen called the attention of officers to his asserted erratic driving.

PATROLMAN BOOKED

Harold F. Brown, 31 years of age, 1926 West Third street, a patrolman working from Central Station, was booked on three charges last night following a crash on Park View and Sixth street, from which it was asserted he attempted to make his escape following the accident.

He was brought to the police station by Officers Shammo, Wilson and Young, who arrived after the two men whose cars he is asserted to have struck pursued and captured him. His badge was taken from him and turned over to Lieut. Gleason at the station.

Paul E. Ferguson, 200 Central Building, complained that the officer, who was not on duty, hit his car. The machine driven by Brown then bounced and struck a car driven by Russell Barr, 1500 Worchester street, he said. Brown jumped from his car and attempted to escape. Ferguson told the police, but was run down and captured. G. W. Buttmer, 712 South Mott street, a motorman, searched Brown's car and declares he found three bottles of liquor. Brown was treated for a badly cut head at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

He is charged with reckless driving, failure to stop and render aid after an accident and with Wright Act possession.

Taxi Dance Hall License Revoked

Following the introduction of much evidence of a sordid nature against Richard E. Lee, operator of a taxi dance hall at 162 1-2 East Third street, the Police Commission yesterday revoked his license to operate, effective immediately.

Lee, described as part Chinese and part Filipino, failed to put in an appearance to answer the charges after being instructed to show cause why his license should not be revoked. The commission was informed that Lee has departed for San Francisco.

W. G. HUNTER SOUGHT

William George Hunter, traveling salesman, is being sought by the Los Angeles Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, to direct funeral arrangements for his brother, John M. Hunter, 53 years of age, who died in a San Bernardino hospital Monday.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

DISCOMFORT MAY ACTUALLY BE CAUSE OF NIGHTLY CRYING SPELL

Crying spells, indulged in by babies after their last evening meal, may result from a number of causes. Because of this, we hesitate to suggest that one remedial method, however successful, will fit any case. The fault may lie in overfeeding in the case of a bottle baby making huge weekly gains in weight; it may be underfeeding in the case of a breast-fed baby; fat indigestion in either breast or bottle baby may be the seat of the trouble; or it may be caused by nothing more serious than too long an afternoon nap.

Mrs. A. H. J. solved her own problem in this way: "I changed the milk formula and lengthened the intervals between feedings, as you suggested, and, while I was certain baby was better off generally, this did not relieve his spells of crying. Finally I decided to use a glycerine suppository about one hour after his bottle. He fell asleep immediately and slept until 2 o'clock. I did this for three nights, after which he had a natural movement at this hour. I had felt that he was spoiled because he stopped crying when I picked him up. Now I feel that perhaps other babies are accused of being spoiled when they are really just uncomfortable. I hope you approve of this idea, Mrs. Eldred."

I approve of any idea which gets to the bottom of a situation and relieves it. It is evident that baby was overfed, and no doubt too "stuffed" after his feeding to sleep quietly until the bowels had moved.

COD LIVER OIL MADE A TREAT

Many of the things we want our children to do might be accomplished much more easily if we made them seem like treats. Mrs. A. F. has discovered this point of strategy with her 2-year-old daughter.

She writes: "Last year we had to force cod liver oil down our baby. This year I placed the bottle on the table and told her when she had eaten the rest of her meal she could have some. She thinks it is a treat and reminds me of it if I pretend to forget. She is 20 months of age. Should she be dry at night?"

No, Mrs. A. F., it is the exceptional child who is dry at night before 2 years, though most children rightly trained (not just trained) are dry in daytime at about 18 months. The play idea has helped Mrs. J. N. a great deal. "I went through a lot of misery," she says, "before I hit upon the bright idea of rinsing scotty's head by pretending it was raining. He holds a cloth tightly to his eyes and down the raindrops patter on his head. When we have a new food I play I am a bird feeding her baby bird and the food goes down happily. I have found letting him suck tangerines when he has a cold or cough seems to help it."

Either tangerines or oranges would be excellent, for the body really needs both the additional fluid and the alkaline effect of these juices.

TIPTON GROUP TO DINE

Former residents of Tipton, Iowa, will have their annual banquet Saturday evening at the Pollyanna Tea Room, 2228 West Seventh street. Mrs. C. H. Fayram will preside.

Just turn about and look again.

A VAIN SEARCH

When Peter left his cousin, Jumper the Hare, in the Green Forest he went straight over to the place on the edge of the Green Forest where he had several times seen Whitefoot the Wood Mouse. It was just about daylight, so Peter decided that he wouldn't go home to the dear old Briar-Patch, but would sped the day in a certain thick bramble-tangle near at hand. First, Peter looked for Whitefoot. When he couldn't find Whitefoot, he began a careful search for that secret home of Whitefoot's. He had never looked very thoroughly around there before, because he had thought that Whitefoot lived deeper in the Green Forest.

"First," thought Peter, "I'll have a look at all the old stumps. Old stumps usually are hollow and he would be quite likely to make his nest in such a place."

Now it happened that there were but two old stumps anywhere near. Peter visited each of these and looked them all over thoroughly. He couldn't climb up on them, but he satisfied himself that there were no holes on the sides and that there were no holes under the roots. He wished he could climb up and look at the top of each of those stumps, but this he couldn't do.

"I'll have to ask somebody," said Peter right out loud.

"What will you have to ask somebody?" inquired a sharp voice. It was the voice of Chatterer the Red Squirrel, who had just awakened and come out to get his breakfast, for it was daylight.

"Hello, Chatterer!" exclaimed Peter. "You are just the fellow to tell me what I want to know. Are there any holes in the top of this stump, or in the top of that stump over yonder?"

"What do you want to know for?" demanded Chatterer suspiciously.

He wished he could climb up and look at the top of each of those stumps

"Because," replied Peter, "I'm looking for the home of Whitefoot the Wood Mouse and I happened to think that it might be in one of these stumps."

"Well, it isn't. I can tell you that much," said Chatterer.

"Then where is it?" demanded Peter.

"That's something I can't tell you," said Chatterer. "But it certainly isn't around here. It isn't in either of those stumps and it isn't in any tree, for I know every hole in every tree around here."

"It's around here somewhere," declared Peter positively. "If it isn't in a stump or a tree, it must be in a hollow log, or else in a hole in the ground."

"It isn't in a hollow log, I can tell you that," declared Chatterer. "I know every hollow log around here. Personally, I don't believe Whitefoot has a home around here. I don't believe he could have a home around here and I not know it."

NO FRIEND LIKE AN OLD FRIEND

For thirty-five years millions have shown preference for Shredded Wheat over all other cereal foods—and it's so easy to understand why. It's the whole wheat in its most digestible form. The crisp, crunchy shreds encourage thorough chewing—and the more you chew it the better you like it. So easy to serve a quick breakfast because it is ready-cooked. Delicious for any meal.

SEASONING WITH SUGAR IS APPROVED

Improves the Palatability and Caloric Value of the Food

According to leading food chemists and dietitians, the use of sugar as a flavor in seasoning vegetables, meat dishes, and fruits, is entirely proper.

Sugar adds zest to essential foods which carry vitamins, mineral salts and roughage. It heightens the "taste" of bland vegetables served by themselves. It improves the flavor of meat stews and makes them more palatable. In the case of fresh fruits, sugar modifies harsh acids.

In vegetable and meat cookery, a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt is a popular rule. This combination in cooking fresh peas, string beans, spinach and other vegetables, not only improves their flavor but also preserves their inviting color.

The great value of seasoning and flavoring foods with sugar is that it makes them more enjoyable. Too often essential foods are rejected, especially by children, because they are not pleasing to the taste. Vegetables and cereals are outstanding examples of foods that can be improved by flavoring with a dash of sugar. Good food promotes health.

YOUR BABY and MINE

Crying spells, indulged in by babies after their last evening meal, may result from a number of causes. Because of this, we hesitate to suggest that one remedial method, however successful, will fit any case. The fault may lie in overfeeding in the case of a bottle baby making huge weekly gains in weight; it may be underfeeding in the case of a breast-fed baby; fat indigestion in either breast or bottle baby may be the seat of the trouble; or it may be caused by nothing more serious than too long an afternoon nap.

Mrs. A. H. J. solved her own problem in this way: "I changed the milk formula and lengthened the intervals between feedings, as you suggested, and, while I was certain baby was better off generally, this did not relieve his spells of crying. Finally I decided to use a glycerine suppository about one hour after his bottle. He fell asleep immediately and slept until 2 o'clock. I did this for three nights, after which he had a natural movement at this hour. I had felt that he was spoiled because he stopped crying when I picked him up. Now I feel that perhaps other babies are accused of being spoiled when they are really just uncomfortable. I hope you approve of this idea, Mrs. Eldred."

I approve of any idea which gets to the bottom of a situation and relieves it. It is evident that baby was overfed, and no doubt too "stuffed" after his feeding to sleep quietly until the bowels had moved.

COD LIVER OIL MADE A TREAT

Many of the things we want our children to do might be accomplished much more easily if we made them seem like treats. Mrs. A. F. has discovered this point of strategy with her 2-year-old daughter.

She writes: "Last year we had to force cod liver oil down our baby. This year I placed the bottle on the table and told her when she had eaten the rest of her meal she could have some. She thinks it is a treat and reminds me of it if I pretend to forget. She is 20 months of age. Should she be dry at night?"

No, Mrs. A. F., it is the exceptional child who is dry at night before 2 years, though most children rightly trained (not just trained) are dry in daytime at about 18 months. The play idea has helped Mrs. J. N. a great deal. "I went through a lot of misery," she says, "before I hit upon the bright idea of rinsing scotty's head by pretending it was raining. He holds a cloth tightly to his eyes and down the raindrops patter on his head. When we have a new food I play I am a bird feeding her baby bird and the food goes down happily. I have found letting him suck tangerines when he has a cold or cough seems to help it."

Either tangerines or oranges would be excellent, for the body really needs both the additional fluid and the alkaline effect of these juices.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

BACON AND CHEESE CRISPS

Cut thin slices of day-old bread and remove the crusts, place on each one of them a thin slice of American cheese, cut a slice of uncooked bacon into three pieces, and arrange it on top of the cheese, place on a fire-proof baking dish in the broiler part of the oven, and toast slowly until the bacon is cooked. Serve hot.

ITALIAN PANCAKES

Sift three cupfuls of flour, six tablespoonfuls of sugar, and five level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, beat the yolks of four eggs, and add them to one cupful of milk, and beat again, then pour slowly into the sifted mixture, and beat well, add one-fourth of a cupful of melted butter, and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs, place a spoonful of the mixture on a well-oiled griddle, and bake browning on both sides, the cake should be small. Place a layer of them on a fire-proof platter, then spread over them a layer of jam, and cover with another layer of the cakes. Sprinkle over the top powdered sugar, and place them in a moderate oven. Serve as soon as the batter has all been baked.

BIRD'S NEST CUSTARD

Peel and core firm apples, and place them in a baking dish, fill the core wholes with sugar, and a small piece of butter, add one-fourth of a cupful of water to the dish, and bake until the apples are tender. Take two cupfuls of milk, one-half a cupful of sugar, and four eggs, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt and one-half a teaspoonful of nutmeg; beat the eggs, add the sugar to them, combine with the milk, salt and nutmeg. Pour this custard over the apples, place in a very moderate oven, and bake slowly until the custard is set.

LIMA BEAN SOUP

One cupful of lima beans, five cupfuls of cold water, four carrots sliced, two onions sliced, two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley, one teaspoonful of peppercorns, two cupfuls of milk, one tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce, a few drops of tobasco sauce and a seasoning of salt. Wash the beans, cover with water and soak several hours. Drain, add the water, and cook slowly until tender, after one-half hour of cooking, add the other vegetables and the peppercorns, when tender, rub through a sieve, there should be three cupfuls of pulp and liquid, if not, add more water. Heat the milk to the scalding point, and combine it with the pulp, serve hot with croutons.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

Household Suggestions

Candy for the Kiddies

Dip oyster crackers in sweetened melted chocolate and give them to the children instead of rich, heavy sweets. They will enjoy them just as thoroughly and they will be better for them.

Insomnia

Deep breathing exercises before an open window will help greatly if it is difficult for you to get to sleep. Always be sure your feet are warm, if necessary wear bed socks. Do not read or study to try and produce sleep. In a person suffering from insomnia this only makes the brain more alert. A glass of hot milk just before going to bed has a soothing effect on the nerves.

Sagging Pockets

If the pockets of your sweater have become stretched and are sagging, sew a strip of elastic inside the top of the pocket from one side to the other and tack the wool to it in a few places. It will draw the pocket into position so that it cannot sag.

Handy Scales

If you do most of your ordering by telephone, it will pay you to keep your scales in the kitchen and every so often weigh the article sent you. It just serves as a check up and gives you a peasant feeling when you find your ordering by telephone is not to your disadvantage. It also checks up on anything that is not quite right.

Baby at Night

A flashlight comes in handy when tending to baby at night. The small glow it gives will not waken anyone else in the room and prevent baby from getting entirely awake.

W.C.T.U. MEETS TOMORROW

The Los Angeles Women's Christian Temperance Union will meet tomorrow at the First Methodist Church, Eighth and Hope streets, at 1:45 p.m. Among those to address the meeting are Mrs. Hattie Doughty, federation president, and Mrs. Elizabeth Schmitt. Mrs. Allie Simmons Wheeler will conduct a parliamentary drill.

Health and Diet ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

THE FINGERNAILS

The fingernail at present is not as helpful to us as it probably was in the early days of our evolution when it could be used as a claw as well as for grasping objects. Its present use is to decorate the fingertips, and may be used to grasp small objects.

The clear, rosy nail with a good color and free from white spots, ridges and discolorations is a fine advertisement of good health. The nails are, however, readily injured by accident or disease so that they lose their natural luster, color and shape, and when the tissue about the nail becomes inflamed, the annoyance is often severe and lasting.

The nail is a special adaptation of the skin and resembles in composition horns, talons, beaks, quills and hoofs. While the nail grows right out of the skin structure, it is much tougher and semitransparent, being composed principally of a tough substance called keratin. Keratin is composed of about 50 per cent carbon with the addition of oxygen, nitrogen and sulphur.

The skin at the root of the nail is called the matrix or nail bed, and it is from this that the nail is formed so that new nail material is constantly being formed and pushed out toward the end of the finger. As this process continues, the nail becomes longer, and we usually cut the end of the nail off to prevent inconvenience, although the nail is capable of attaining a great length, as is shown in some of the paintings of the Chinese upper class whose nails often attain the length of six to eighteen inches. This was to advertise the fact that they did not have to do any work for themselves. In this country, however, where work and industry are not considered dishonorable, it is an advantage to have short nails.

The rate of growth of the nails varies with individuals. The average time required for a full nail growth is about four or five months. The fingernails grow about four times as fast as the toenails, or about one-thirtieth of an inch per week.

The most frequent nail disorder is probably caused by eczema, which spreads from the adjacent tissues and attacks the nail root itself so that there may be a swelling and painful throbbing around the nail. In chronic eczema the nail may record the illness by developing furrows across itself. If eczema is severe, sometimes the entire nail is lost. In other cases, there is a thickening of the nail (both in eczema and psoriasis) and the nail may turn to a yellow brown color and thicken and curve over the end of the finger like a claw.

The white spots commonly seen on the nail are considered to be the result of knocking or bumping the root of the nail against some object. They may also occur from injury during manicuring where the cuticle is pushed down too far, or they may occur in nervous disorders and in cases where the diet is deficient in some of the mineral elements.

Hangnail is an annoying trouble, but not very serious. This occurs when a shred of the nail next to the skin breaks away and sticks into anything that the finger touches. Hangnails may usually be removed by being clipped off with scissors or being jerked out in the direction of the fingertip.

BUS TAX CASES NEARER CLIMAX

About 2500 Actions Depend on Present Test Suit

Supreme Court Listens to Arguments in Matter

Ventura Harbor Controversy Continued to June

Approximately 2500 cases pending in Superior Court and involving in the neighborhood of $500,000 drew nearer to a climax yesterday when the Supreme Court heard arguments in the test suit of the Los Angeles and West Side Transportation Company against the Superior Court over refund of taxes imposed on stage companies transporting freight as well as passengers.

With many of the cases scheduled to come up for trial in Superior Court later this month and early next month, Atty.-Gen. Webb, representing the State, and Attorney Samuel T. Bush of San Francisco, speaking for the carrier, as well as numerous friends of the court present on behalf of hundreds of concerns, agreed to file briefs within five days.

THREE ACTS PASSED

The case before the court issued from a tax act passed in 1925 as a substitute for a measure passed in 1923. Another act, pertaining to the carriers, was passed in 1927. It is contended by the Attorney-General that the various measures constitute a complete, coherent and continuous system of taxation. Moreover, the Attorney-General contends, all of the legal steps involved in a suit over the matter before the court were concluded before the 1925 act was repealed or had become outlawed. The debt, therefore, he contends, is fixed and certain and the State is justified in proceeding in an effort to collect.

Attorney Bush replied that the 1923 and 1925 acts were license measures, while, he asserted, the 1927 tax was a property tax. For that reason, he held, the system of taxation was not continuous and the 1925 tax actions were automatically abrogated.

The petition of the Ventura Harbor District for a writ of mandate to compel the Ventura Board of Supervisors to call a special election on a $2,000,000 harbor bond issue was continued until the June calendar after attorneys representing opposed sides requested forty-five days each to file briefs.

Representatives of the Ventura Supervisors opposed the petition on the ground that State laws prohibit the enactment of special acts in similar cases where a general law may be made to apply. It was also set forth that the proposed site is outside of the Ventura county district lines, as well as that the vote in favor of the proposition was lost by reason of the fact that some of the commissioners were not qualified.

John Lee Howard, Pasadena garage man, appealing from a conviction in Superior Court for the murder of his employer, Victor A. Cooley, contended that the evidence presented at the trial court was insufficient to prove the malice and premeditation necessary for a first-degree murder verdict. He also charged the Superior Court with error in admitting his purported confession, in denying a motion for a new trial and a reduction of his sentence.

The court took the appeal under submission.

ATTORNEYS ADMITTED

Twenty-eight attorneys, from all over the country, were admitted to practice on motion of T. A. J. Dockweiler, member of the Committee of Bar Examiners. The lawyers are Henry E. VICTIM OF AMNESIA "FORGETS" FOR DAY

Dorothy O'Dell

Amnesia robbed Dorothy O'Dell of memory of her own identity yesterday long enough to startle breakfasters in the Brown Derby Cafe, Hollywood, and to give the police a day's puzzle. Then the girl, who is 19 years of age, modishly dressed, bediamonded and regned of manner, remembered that she is Dorothy O'Dell of 1817 Ivar street, and that she uses the name Dorothy Slavin when acting in talkies.

She attracted attention yesterday morning when she entered the restaurant on Vine street, and in bewilderment, asked for someone to aid her in identifying herself. At that moment she was about two blocks from her home. She was sent to the Juvenile Bureau, where she was questioned by Policewoman Proffitt and examined by Dr. Rose Bowers, psychiatrist.

In her purse the police found a note addressed to "Dear Dot." When Miss O'Dell told her name to Detective Captain Slaughter, he telephoned to the girl's mother at the Holly Arms Apartment. She promised to hurry down and claim her daughter.

HE MISSED HIS KISSES; NOW SHE MISSES HER DOG

Maurice Ford, 25 years of age, a restaurant owner of Long Beach, has called on Miss Marion Marquade, stenographer, living at the Cottiel Hotel, often during the last three months, and each time he has sought a farewell kiss. Most of the time he missed out, but infrequent successes encouraged and heartened him considerably.

But recently Miss Marquade acquired a Spitz dog, and from then on Maurice did not get close enough to the girl even to attempt a kiss, he told Long Beach police, who put him in jail for killing the dog last night.

"I had been despairing of ever getting another kiss," he declared despondently in his cell, "but was becoming reconciled to just being near her, when I'll be darned if she didn't lift that flea-bitten pooch to her lap last night and kiss it."

The girl told the police that Ford became enraged, and seizing the dog by the leg, ran to the street and dashed its head against the curbing. He is being held for humane officers.

TITLE DISPUTE PENDS AT PORT

Harbor Board Has Filed Action to Fix Ownership

Banning Estate Claimant of Mormon Island Tract

High Tide Line of February 10, 1882, Vital Factor

BY WALDO DRAKE

On location of the high-tide line at Mormon Island on February 10, 1882, depends the title to industrial property on the harbor island, now valued at $4,500,000.

The Harbor Department has filed a suit against the Banning estate to quiet title on an area on the southern end of Mormon Island, which, it is held, is illegally held by the estate. A preliminary conference to discuss the matter was held yesterday between Port Manager Burt Edwards, Harbor Engineer George F. Nicholson, Harbor Attorney Clyde Leach and Hancock Banning.

It is maintained by the Harbor Department that the high-tide line surrounding Mormon Island, on February 10, 1882, on which date the area was ceded to William Banning by the United States government, was considerably farther inside present confines of Mormon Island than is maintained by the Banning estate. Victory by the Harbor Department in the proceedings would mean that title of the disputed south end of the island, including the rich industrial sites now occupied by the Pacific Coast Borax Company and several oil terminals, would revert to the city of Los Angeles.

A great portion of what is now the Mormon Island section of the port has been created by dredging operations. The Harbor Department holds that the area in question was filled from beyond the high-tide line.

OLD STAGE ROLE TAKEN ON SCREEN

Dennis King Portrays Romantic Part in New Paramount Film

Dennis King makes his talking-picture debut in the same role that brought him note on the stage. That is as Francois Villon in the production of Rudolph Friml's operetta, "The Vagabond King." The adaptation of this gay musical romance starts at the Paramount Theater tomorrow.

The possessor of a pleasing singing voice, Dennis King promises to win favor when audiences hear him sing the stirring "Song of the Vagabonds." Playing opposite King is Jeannette MacDonald, the feminine star of "The Love Parade." Two other well-known players who are outstanding in "The Vagabond King" are Lillian Roth and O. P. Heggie. Ludwig Berger directed.

The current attraction at the Paramount is "Roadhouse Nights," a comedy melodrama.

Gay Seabrook Petitions for Stage Comedy

Gay Seabrook has sent a petition to Henry Duffy, asking him to consider a comedy, "The Little Go-Getter," in which she is eager to play. The diminutive ingenue thinks that the chief feminine role, that of a determined, plucky and humorous young girl, is exactly suited to her talents.

At the present time Miss Seabrook is playing in the comedy, "Salt Water," in which Frank Craven is starring with the Duffy Players at the Hollywood Playhouse. She is seen as Hattie Horner, the meddlesome sister. Included in the cast are Pauline MacLean, Charlotte Stevens, Robert Lawler, Cyril Delevanti and others.

PREDICTION MADE ON NEW GRANDEUR FILM

Sid Grauman, noted showman, has made the following prediction.

"Within two years Grandeur film, or some variation of it, will be installed in every theater of the first class in the United States," he said. "Those theaters which do not install it will inevitably fall behind in the procession of progress.

"I saw 'Happy Days' in Grandeur film at the Carthay Circle premiere. It is an overwelming success. It is a tremendous step forward in the amusement business. We could have had it ten years ago and the puzzle to me now is why we didn't have it.

"I predict that the scramble to get aboard the Grandeur bandwagon will be the wildest melee of recent film history.

"At the end of the intermission at the Carthay Circle I noticed that half a dozen famous producers left the theater and did not come back. I saw them a few minutes later in Beverly Hills sending telegrams to all parts of the United States regarding Grandeur film. Grandeur will revolutionize studio and exhibition methods from the ground up."

Japanese Begin Engagement of Play in East

NEW YORK, March 4. (Exclusive)—The players from Japan began their New York engagement at the Booth Theater today. "The Serenade" will be revived by the musical comedy company at Jolson's Theater.

A play, as yet untitled, by George L. Spaulding, is to go in rehearsal next week under the auspices of Lester W. Sagar, manager of the Lyric Theater.

Ara Gerald, recently seen in "Joseph," has been engaged for "Virtue's Bed," a play by Courtenay Savage, which Logmuller and Emery are producing.

The Shubert office announces that a special performance of "Bird in Hand" will be presented on April 5 at the Forrest Theater by the child actors now appearing in the first act of "Topaze." The performance, it is said, will be in connection with the first anniversary in New York of the Drinkwater comedy and the receipts will be turned over to charity.

CAST AUGMENTED

Alan Crosland, who is directing the Romberg-Hammerstein operetta, "Viennese Nights," for Warner Brothers, has added Alice Day to his cast, which includes Alexander Gray, Vivienne Segal, Jean Hersholt, Louise Fazenda and Bert Roach.

Herbert Fortier Plays Role in 'Let Us Be Gay'

Herbert Fortier, who appears in "Let Us Be Gay" with Violet Heming and the Duffy Players at El Capitan, made his first stage appearance with the late McKee Rankin in "The Runaway Wife." For seven consecutive seasons he was with Charles Frohman appearing in the original productions of "The Private Secretary," "Jane" and "Held by the Enemy."

Among the stars with whom Fortier has appeared are William Gillette, James O'Neill, Johnston Bennet, Henrietta Crosman and Julia Arthur.

Rogers Picture to Leave Ritz

Tonight marks the final showing of Will Rogers in "They Had to See Paris," at the Ritz Theater. The response given this picture by the neighborhood patrons of the Ritz clearly establishes the famous comedian as a favorite at this house. Fifi Dorsay supports Rogers in this tale of life lived by a newly rich Yankee on his first trip to the French capital. Irene Rich is seen as Rogers's wife in the production and gives a fine performance in a difficult role. A Mickey Mouse cartoon and Fox Newsreel finish out the bill.

John Farrow to Pen Film Story

John Farrow, writer of the continuity and dialogue on "Seven Days' Leave," now showing at the Egyptian Theater, is writing an original screen story, to be produced in the near future.

Farrow's two most recently published magazine stories have already been produced in films. "His First Command" was filmed as a special by United Artists and "The Bad One" is serving as Dolores Del Rio's starring vehicle.

Farrow at present is under contract to Paramount.

"Shrew" Will End Run Today

"Taming of the Shrew," first co-starring picture of Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, closes its run today at the Fox Palace Theater. "The Hollywood Revue," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer musical comedy, opens tomorrow.

First of the strictly revue type of film features, "The Hollywood Revue" boasts a cast of more than twenty stars of stage and screen, and nearly an equal number of popular songs composed especially for its presentation. Charles Reisner directed.

CALIFORNIA LAND SHOW OPENS SOON

The California Land Show, opening at Hill and Washington streets Saturday evening, will run for sixteen days. It will not only be a spectacular exhibition of California products, but will have unique music features.

Arthur Nord, well known as an orchestra leader, will be in charge of the music program. There will be two orchestras and a wide variation will be used in their presentations. There will be a pickaninny orchestra, presenting southern melodies, a Spanish orchestra and also a farmer band.

COMPLETES COMEDY

"Caught Short," the M.-G.-M. comedy of the stock market featuring Marie Dressler, screen comedienne, has been completed. Miss Dressler plays a boarding-house keeper who gets caught in the crash.

CULTURE OF VOICE HELD IMPORTANT

Actress Divides Time Between Screen, Stage Characters

Virginia Valli believes in the efficacy of voice culture. For that reason she now fluctuates between stage and screen instead of confining her work to either one profession.

"Actual experience is worth much more than practicing before a mirror," says Miss Valli. "Voice culturists can only do so much for players, the rest is up to themselves."

Before making a talkie Miss Valli accepted the lead in "Tarnish" when that play was shown at the Hollywood Music Box. In this way she satisfied herself regarding her voice before recording it for pictures. Then she accepted a screen role and has since made several excellent productions. She is playing currently at El Capitan in "Let Us Be Gay."

Madge Kennedy Returning Here

Madge Kennedy will return to the local stage after an absence of twelve years in "The Perfect Alibi," which is booked into the Biltmore Theater for one week only, starting the 24th inst.

"The Perfect Alibi" is the work of A. A. Milne. Surrounding Miss Kennedy will be several of the original company, including Alan Bunce, Richie Ling, Leo G. Carroll, A. P. Kaye, Lionel Hogarth, Barbara Hastings, and others.

HALPERINS PREPARING

Following the run of their Tiffany release, "Party Girl," Victor and Edward Halperin are about ready with preparations for filming the sequel to this film, starring Judith Barrie.

CONTRALTO RECEIVES ACCLAIM

Mme. Onegin Exhibits Fine Musicianship and Voice in Appearance

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Mme. Sigrid Onegin sang again in Los Angeles last night before a warmly appreciative audience of large proportions. Her program was nothing short of magnificent. Onegin is a coloratura-contralto and there is apparently no limit to ther range or her powers of interpretation. She has a glorious voice, there is character and musicianship underlying everything she sings and she is essentially a fine actress.

One small flaw marred the nobility of her concert. She now stoops to play with her audience. Evidently some misguided adviser has told the dignified and majestic Onegin that American audiences like playfulness and she has endeavored to oblige. The new manner which she donned with ecru lace last night does not suit her so well as the exalted and stately mood she exhibited in black velvet and brilliants upon a former visit here.

An arresting aria from Meyerbeer's "Les Huguenots" opened the concert auspiciously. It was followed by Mozart's "Alleluja" in the full beauty of richly rounded tone. Mozart's perfection of song writing was heard again in "Das Veilchen" and "Sehnsuch nach dem Fruehling." These rarely heard songs of great beauty preceded two Mendelssohn and two Brahms numbers which made up an extraordinary group of impressive lieder. The drama of "Der Erlkonig" by Schubert, given as an encore, raised the audience to a high pitch of excitement.

Onegin takes liberties with tempi in moments of emotional stress which are not invariably justified. She is forgivable, of course, because of the intensity and moving power of her portrayals. Her sympathetic accompanist, Mr. Herman Reuter, was not always able to anticipate these erratic changes and the performance suffered. This temperamental quality also seems to have been exaggerated since Onegin's last visit.

Folk-songs have been sung here before in large numbers but never, I think, have they been chosen more intelligently or sung more understandingly in Los Angeles. Swedish, Russian, German, French, Norwegian, English and American (the latter Brewer's "Fairy Piper") songs of the people—useful songs to celebrate festivals or seasons or labor—were all given in the original languages and imbued with their separate and distinctly national personalities. They were a study in fascinating differences.

The stomping staccato of the Russian Trepak had to be repeated, and then came a Silesian Christmas song that was typical of the sentiment and sweetness of the Germany that gave us Brahms and Schumann. France came in with a martial air and after two encores, the English country song and "The Fairy Piper" were added to the printed list. The audience clamored for more and was graciously given a Heidelberg love song.

Rossini's "Naqui all' affano," from "La Cenerentola," was an astounding feat. The reason this Rossini opera is never heard, no doubt, is because there is only one contralto who can sing it. Listeners gasped when Onegin finished the florid trills and ended triumphantly on a very high note. Surprisingly enough, she gave the famous Carmen aria as an encore, gave it with such stinging bitterness and venom that the music took on new meaning. It was a daring accomplishment.

The audience was still loth to leave, but took the hint after Mme. Onegin sang an impromptu little ballad entitled "Good Night."

Holmes Vehicle to Start Soon

When Taylor Holmes comes to the President, starting Sunday, as guest star with the Duffy Players in "Your Uncle Dudley," theatergoers will see the latest comedy written by Howard Lindsay and Bertrand Robinson. The playwrights are the authors of "Tommy," the laughing hit that was the first attraction at the President under Duffy's management.

Stark Realism Marks Tense Climax

Frank Albertson and Kenneth McKenna

Dorothy Revier Portrays Chief Role in Film Drama of Night Clubs

With an all-star cast headed by Dorothy Revier, Raymond Hatton and Margaret Livingston, "Murder on the Roof," a film mystery drama, starts at the R.K.O. Theater tomorrow.

Serious Screen Drama to Start Run at Orpheum

JEAN HERSHOLT

The picture is taken from the novel by Arnold Zweig, and is said to be transferred to the screen practically intact. The plot deals with the imprisonment of a Russian peasant-soldier and his subsequent escape, recapture and death.

Ham and Eggs Prove Novel First Course

Fate produced an ironic situation for a number of the cast engaged in the filming of "Embarrassing Moments," the picture starring Reginald Denny, which starts at the Million Dollar Theater today.

Fresh from hearty breakfasts, the principals and a number of the extras came upon the set to find the tables arranged for an old-fashioned party scene. The tables groaned beneath frosted cakes, platters of cookies and bowls of punch.

Shuddering at the thought of the ham and eggs he has just consumed at his breakfast, Director Craft forced himself to set the example by eating a large piece of frosted cake.

ROGERS GETS FIVE LEADS

DOWNTOWN SCHEDULES NEW FILM

'Song of the West' to Start Run at Midnight Premiere With Stars Present

With Harry M. Warner, head of the Warner enterprises, heading the list of notables in attendance, "Song of the West," Warner Brothers' romance of the outdoors, will start with a midnight premiere at Warner Brothers Downtown Theater Saturday. "Song of the West" is adapted from the stage musical comedy, "Rainbow," by Lawrence Stallings and Oscar Hammerstein II, with music by Vincent Youmans, towns.

John Boles and Vivienne Segal play the leads, Joe E. Brown, Marie Wells, Sam Hardy, Rudolph Cameron, Marion Byron, Eddie Gribbon and Ed Martindel are also in the cast. Ray Enright directed.

ACTRESS APPLAUDED

Lauded by exhibitors throughout the country as the height of aristocracy by virtue of the poise and charm that mark her performance, Alice Joyce, versatile stage and screen star, is finding a similar reaction from film producers. Since coming to Hollywood several months ago direct from a marked success opposite George Arliss in "The Green Goddess," to appear opposite John McCormack, celebrated Irish tenor, in his Fox production, Miss Joyce has been tendered several lucrative roles, it is said.

"THAR'S GOLD IN THEM THAR HILLS!"

"Thar's gold in them thar hills—but death lurks in the valley below." Here is a story of the West when it was wild and woolly.

Here is a story of cowboys and Indians, scouts and soldiers, gamblers and godless gals, written as only Oscar Hammerstein II and Laurence Stallings can write—and between them they have written at least a score of great successes.

"SONG OF THE WEST" is the title of this wild and woolly romance of the covered wagon days.

It is full of thrills, full of romance and full of action. It is different from anything you have seen in a long time. To this colorful romance Warner Bros. have added melodies by Vincent Youmans, who wrote the song hits of "No, No, Nanette" and "Hit the Deck."

JOHN BOLES, singing hero of "The Desert Song," plays the romantic role of a dashing cavalryman, singing preacher and Barbary Coast gambler.

VIVIENNE SEGAL, lovely leading lady of many Broadway musical hits, is his light of love, and JOE E. BROWN, who can even make a mummy laugh, provides the comic relief. His singing of "The Bride Who Died on Her Wedding Morn" will give you the laugh of a lifetime.

All the action takes place outdoors, on the plains, in the valleys, and on the mountains. Everything is in Technicolor—which is natural color. It makes us understand why Westerners call their country "God's Country."

It's another Warner Bros. and Vitaphone triumph. And it's different! Ray Enright directed it.

"SONG OF THE WEST" will open with a brilliant MIDNIGHT PREMIERE next SATURDAY night at WARNER BROTHERS' DOWNTOWN THEATER. All seats reserved at $1.00 and now on sale at the box office.

FRAME-UP CASE INQUIRY SOUGHT

Grand Jury May Investigate Ware Divorce Matter

Husband's Agent Accused of Compromise Plot

Court Believes Witness Committed Perjury

Assertion made in open court that Louis Krause, employed as an investigator by Harry L. Ware, former merchandise manager for a large downtown department store, hired Theodore Von Jannings, motion-picture actor, to get acquainted with Mrs. Carolyn Ware and compromise her will be given to the grand jury for investigation.

This was the announcement last night of Attorney Clyde F. Murphy, counsel for Mrs. Ware, at the close of the hearing of her suit for separate maintenance and Ware's action for divorce, which has ended with Superior Judge Engs taking the cases under submission.

PERJURY SUSPECTED

Judge Engs declared from the bench he was confident perjury had been committed, but that it will be difficult to prove. The statement came at the close of an investigation conducted by the court, Attorney Isidore Dockweiler, counsel for Ware, and Attorney Murphy, acting as officers of the court.

Subpoenas had been issued for Krause and Von Jannings to testify at the investigation, but they failed to appear.

Mrs. Krause and her son Max said they did not know the whereabouts of Krause. They said he left Friday, the day Mr. and Mrs. Paul V. Bogart, former tenants of the Krauses, made the charge that the actor had been hired to compromise Mrs. Ware.

DOUBTS FRAME-UP

Judge Engs said it is his belief that Krause, investigating for Ware, probably had attempted to make good on the case without orders from Ware. He said he did not believe Ware knew of any scheme to "frame" Mrs. Ware and that he simply employed Krause to make investigations. In view of the evidence and the statement of the judge, Attorney Murphy declared he will not ask for an indictment against Ware.

Mrs. Ware in her suit for separate maintenance accused her husband of infidelity. Ware retaliated with an action for divorce, naming Von Jannings as her associate.

When questioned relative to his relations with Mrs. Ware, the actor was evasive and refused to answer some questions, declaring merely, "I am a gentleman."

Ware stoutly maintained in court he had never paid out a dollar for any scheme to "frame" his wife.

GRIEVANCES WIN DIVORCE

Mrs. Molly E. Littlefield thought it was time to get a divorce when her husband, Ray Littlefield, took her marriage certificate away from her and blackened her eye, she testified yesterday before Superior Judge Bishop, who granted her a legal separation. The wife also declared that her husband worked only eleven days out of six months.

POLICE BADGE MOVE MADE

Commission Takes Steps to End Confusion and to Prevent Illegal Display of Authority

Final disposition of new police badges and the proposed new badge ordinance was reached yesterday by the Police Commission when it referred specifications of the former to the City Purchasing Agent to advertise for bids and sent the ordinance to the City Council asking its passage.

Date for the ordinance to become effective was fixed at May 15, when the new issue will be ready for distribution and all officers will be equipped with the new type of uniforms adopted by the commission. On that date all present police badges will have to be turned in to the commission.

By resolution the commission yesterday adopted gold-plated metal for regular police badges and chromium-plated metal for the badges of special officers, so that special officers may no longer be confused with regular officers.

The commission denied the request of the Humane Department that its employees be allowed to use badges similar to those of regular officers, except that the words "humane officer" be placed thereon.

Outside of the members of the police department, only twenty-five badges of the regular type are to be issued, Commissioner Drake said. These will go to the Mayor, his secretary, the City Councilmen, members of the Police Commission and secretary. Under the ordinance a limited number of badges will be issued to the managing editor of each metropolitan daily newspaper for use only of newswriters.

Each badge manufactured under authority of the commission will bear on its back a serial number in order that it may be listed with the police department.

San Nicolas Fight May Be Federal Affair

Whether the killing of Steve Semirenko, San Pedro fisherman, on Nicolas Island, and the shooting of John Heise, now in a Ventura hospital, took place on a government reserve, and should be prosecuted by the United States, is a question which was placed before U. S. Atty. McNabb yesterday.

It was reported to Mr. McNabb by Chief Deputy District Attorney Holt of Ventura that the two men and Tom Lobastoff, master of a small fishing craft, landed on the island and were fired upon by two men, Milton W. Prentice, 18 years of age, and his stepfather, Lyman P. Elliott, now being held at Ventura.

It is asserted the island is a government lighthouse station and that the case should be tried in Federal Court.

Hospital Drive Given New Aid

An announcement made by George Mosbacher, president of the Federation of Jewish Welfare Organizations, which is conducting the $1,000,000 Cedars of Lebanon Hospital Building Fund campaign, reveals that a number of prominent non-Jewish citizens have contributed to the hospital appeal.

MRS. ALBERT CRUTCHER

Among those who forwarded their contributions are J. E. Brulatour, $5000; Judge William S. Baird, $75; and Mrs. Albert C. Crutcher, president of the Children's Hospital, $100.

In a letter accompanying her contribution Mrs. Crutcher stated that "all men and women, regardless of faith or creed, will find themselves in sympathy with this splendid cause which has a humanitarian appeal."

FUND REPORT ADOPTED

The report of the Special Allocations Committee, allocating the additional sum of $22,000 toward the improvement of Florence avenue from Van Ness avenue and West Boulevard, was adopted yesterday by the City Council.

COURT TOLD OF MIXED-UP MARRIAGES

Brunton Marital Affairs Cited in Contest Over Decedent's Estate

Legality of a Mexican divorce and a Mexican marriage will be debated today before Los Angeles courts by attorneys for Mrs. Mildred E. Brunton and two children of the late Frederick K. Brunton, whose $600 monthly income is at stake in a contest over his will.

Mrs. Brunton testified yesterday that the decedent had assured her his marriage to her, contracted in Tia Juana, was legal. Previous witnesses have testified that they did not know Mrs. Brunton for three years, as Mexican law requires, yet acted as witnesses at her wedding. Superior Judge Sproul must decide whether he can question the legality of a Mexican wedding certificate on such testimony.

Brunton's divorce from his second wife, Mrs. Barbara Brunton, now serving a Federal prison sentence, also is under fire. An annulment of Mrs. Barbara Brunton's marriage to Everett Cline, which reflects on the legality of Brunton's marriage to his second wife, also is attacked by Mrs. Brunton No. 2. This annulment is asserted to have been procured by fraud. Its effect if recognized by the courts would show that Brunton never was legally married to his second wife and his third marriage, thereby, should be recognized by law.

Retired Paper Manufacturer Dies at Home

Funeral services will be conducted at the mortuary of Glasband & Groman, 901 West Washington street, at 3 p.m. tomorrow.

He was 50 years of age, and was born in Europe. Coming to America as a youth, he lived in Detroit. There he became owner of paper mills. Moving to Chicago he founded and headed the General Fiber Company. He came to Los Angeles in 1923 after retiring from active business. Philanthropy engaged him, and he became a director of the Jewish Charities of Los Angeles. He leaves his widow, two sons, Oscar N. and Leonard Srere, his father, Moses Srere, and three brothers, Harry, Alfred and Abe, the latter two of Detroit.

Evidence Clogs Wheels of Law in City's Suit

A force of clerks was busy yesterday straightening out more than 600 documents which have been introduced as evidence in the trial of the injunction suit brought by the City of Los Angeles against the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation to prevent the company's selling electricity other than for light in the city on the ground that their franchise expired in 1916. The hearing has been on before Judge Collier for more than a month.

For several weeks almost the entire wall space of Judge Collier's courtroom has been covered with blackboards carrying the number and title of each exhibit introduced in the trial. Yesterday court was adjourned in order to give the clerks an opportunity to arrange the exhibits in their proper order for the inspection of the court.

CANADIANS AND THEIR BAND HERE

Border Chamber to View Points of Interest Until Saturday Morning

One hundred and thirty Canadians with bagpipe band and everything tore loose in Los Angeles yesterday for a four-day visit. They serenaded the City Hall with their Essex Scottish Band, of overseas fame with the Canadian Army. After greeting Mayor Porter and being formally welcomed by him they headed for Hollywood to find out something about the inside of motion pictures.

The party arrived in a special train which, with the Alexandria, will be their headquarters until they leave Saturday at 4 a.m. John D. Chick, Windsor contractor and president of the Border Chamber of Commerce, is official head of the party.

The tour is one the chamber has been making into the United States annually for three years. This is the first time here. The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce is host to the party.

The party will be guests of the chamber at noon luncheon today in the Alexandria. Then it will go through the industrial district to Long Beach where the Chamber of Commerce there will be host. This evening the visitors will attend the Mission Play. Tomorrow they will go to Catalina Island and on Friday they will drive to Riverside and back to Pomona where the Chamber of Commerce there will entertain them. They will go to San Diego from here.

MOVE MADE TO RETAIN BEACH STRIP

City Attorney Ordered To Contest Claims of Private Ownership

Under suspension of the rules, the City Council yesterday adopted a resolution offered by Councilman Randall instructing the City Attorney to take steps to retain public ownership of beach lands in a strip ranging from 50 to 300 feet wide between the Santa Monica city limits and Topanga Canyon.

The territory now is the subject of dispute in the Superior Court, it being contended that the strip never has been granted to private ownership. Randall contends the beach lands should be obtained by the city for public use.

Prints Reveal Police Record of Slain Man

Identification of the burglary suspect shot and killed early Tuesday morning by Officer Reed was thrown into a tangle yesterday when Fingerprint Expert Stewart reported that comparison of fingerprints taken from the body showed that he had been arrested September 5, 1919, in San Francisco as Emil L. Paschal.

Monday the body was identified as Roy J. Eudaley of Lenhox by J. W. Campbell, employee of a local automobile association.

Police records showed that the man was arrested in San Francisco for carrying concealed weapons and pandering. Reed reported he saw him attempting to break into an oil station, and that the suspect attempted to draw a revolver, but he disarmed him. When the suspect broke away Reed fired. Later the suspect was found dead in a vacant lot.

Eastman to Give Talk on Russia

Rabbi Herman Lissauer, leader of the Jewish Institute of Los Angeles, announced yesterday that Max Eastman, noted author and lecturer, will lecture under the auspices of the Jewish Institute Forum at the Beaux Arts Auditorium this evening on "The Two Russian Revolutions."

MAX EASTMAN

Eastman was for four years a member of the faculty of psychology and philosophy at Columbia University and is also a well-known poet.

Soon after the revolution in Russia, Eastman traveled to that country to study the various movements which had sprung up as a result of the upheaval. His lecture will give his impression of the state of the arts and sciences as well as politics in Russia.

WOMAN WRITER HURT IN FALL FROM AUTO

Eva Mudge, who has been compiling material for a biography of Death Valley Scotty, is recovering at her home, 1347 1-2 North Fairfax avenue, from injuries suffered in a peculiar accident Saturday morning. She and E. J. Bennett, 2813 Wilshire Boulevard, got in Bennett's automobile in front of a cafe at Maplewood and Western avenues and the door on her side failed to close securely. When she leaned against the door it swung open and she fell out on the pavement, Bennett said.

COLLEGE DANCE ARRANGED

School-teachers and administrators, business men and club women who are enrolled as students at university college, the evening downtown division of the University of Southern California, will mingle at the first social function this quarter at an informal dance from 5:30 to 7 o'clock tomorrow evening in Transportation Building. William Blakemore, Sarah Stoneham Muller, Martha Owen and Walter Herzog, Jr., will preside.

Club Manager Will Take New Post in Seattle

After many years' activity in Los Angeles, ten as superintendent of the Los Angeles Athletic Club and five as manager of the Jonathan Club, John E. Pencel has resigned the latter position to take a similar one in the North. He will be manager of the Washington Athletic Club, Seattle. That organization has 3000 members, is rearing a twenty-one story building costing $3,500,000, and plans operation along the lines so successfully employed by Pencel here.

JOHN D. PENCEL

Equipped with business knowledge gained as cashier of three Wisconsin banks and head of a northwestern department store, Pencel came to Southern California in 1912 and joined the L.A.A.C. accounting staff, installing a system. When appointed superintendent he put in the first scientific food-control system on the Coast, effecting enormous savings.

The Pencel family, whose home is 627 Alpine Drive, will leave for Seattle the 16th inst.

Birthday Just Another Day to Ex-Kaiser

Birthdays have lost much of their glamour for former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, now living in seclusion in Doorn, Holland, according to Baron C. J. Schimmelpenninck of Amsterdam, a guest at the Alexandria.

According to the visiting Baron, when the former Emperor professed a desire to entertain some of his old friends at birthday festivities, the Hollanders quietly but forcefully made it known that they would much prefer to see a quiet observance of the occasion. Consequently, birthdays and other important events come and go with little outward display at Doorn.

Baron Schimmelpenninck is touring the United States to study American business methods. He is particularly impressed, he said, with American advertising, although he is inclined to believe Holland is a little too conservative to welcome similar campaigns.

Fifty Nations Send to U.S.C. 521 Students

From fifty countries and dependencies 521 foreign-born students have enrolled at the University of Southern California during the present academic year, a survey has shown. Last year Southern California with 444 such students ranked fourth among American universities in the number of foreign-born.

The total of foreign students is exclusive of the summer session and university college, which during the fall and winter quarters enrolled 125 students claiming citizenship in twenty-three foreign countries.

The census of the campus colleges shows that Canada leads in the number of students sent to Southern California, with 135. Japan is second with 105, Russia third with forty-seven, and China fourth with twenty-nine. The colleg of arts, letters and sciences enrolled 193 of these foreign-born.

Police Official Fights Business Near His Home

Turned down recently by the Police Commission on his request for a permit to conduct a second-hand automobile business on South Figueroa street, Tex Parker faced another snag yesterday when he informed the commission he had obtained a new location at 2220 West Pico street.

"I do not think that is a suitable place to conduct such a business," he said. "I have always been against locating second-hand businesses near residences. That is a residence district. I move this matter go over one week until we investigate."

Action was deferred as requested.

Hold-up Story Admitted Fake

Whether charges will be preferred against J. H. Mairose, service-station operator who is asserted to have confessed that he attempted a hold-up hoax last Monday night, rests with Inglewood police.

Mairose, according to Sheriff's office reports, stated he had been robbed of $18.18 while at work at 214 East Manchester avenue. He exhibited a hole in the shoulder of his coat and in the wall, which he later is said to have admitted he made himself with a screwdriver.

The money was found in a billfold he had concealed in a room at the police station while he was making the report, officers reported. Mairose's story to deputy sheriffs is that he needed the money and did not want to ask his employer for an advance.

James N. Mason, Civil War veteran, has sued his wife, Henrietta C. Mason, for divorce and has asked that their property be sold and the proceeds turned over to him so that he can provide for his support and pay his wife alimony.

Mason asserts that before he left his wife, she visited dance halls and neglected her home.

CHICAGO, March 4. (AP)—Jimmy McLarnin, the Dublin dynamiter, received $16,541.89 for beating the lightweight champion, Sammy Mandell, in the "rubber" ten-round bout in the Chicago Stadium Saturday night. Mandell was rewarded with the same amount for doing the catching. The show drew 14,868 paying witnesses, for a gross gate of $76,080.32.

PROSPECTS. MAKE VITT HAPPY MAN

Outlook for Season With Players Now in Hollywood Camp Appears Bright

SAN DIEGO, March 4.—Spring training for the Hollywood Stars is hardly more than under way but Oscar Vitt, peppery pilot of the Pacific Coast League champions, already is wearing smiles over the outlook for the season with players now in camp.

The infield combination is the one that has taken Vitt's eye and brings him the pleasure. A year ago Vitt led the Stars into camp here lacking a second baseman, a third baseman, two big holes. Johnny Kerr was missing from the keystone sack and Wera from third base. It took a big part of the training season to find a combination that would work at all.

When the season opened, Mike Maloney was at second and Leo Ostenberg and Red Rollings alternated at the hot corner. But the combination was none too strong.

ANGEL ROOKIE SHOWS TALENT

Lefty Brandt Scintillates Around Initial Sack

Youngster Looks Like Real Find for Local Club

Angels Tackle Trojan Nine in Practice Tussle

BY BOB RAY

We may be wrong, but it looks as though the Seraphs have a whale of a first-sacking prospect in Mr. Lefty Brandt, who has been performing with Skipper Leilvelt's ambitious Angels out at Wrigley Field these past two days.

Brandt prances around the initial sack with as much sangfroid of a Chicago gangster walking out of jail. It's just natural for him. Lefty was pulling off plays yesterday that had the spring bugs in the grand stand applauding him, so you can see he must have something.

Funny thing about Brandt is

FAVORITES WIN AT PALM BEACH

Norris Williams II Leads Seeded Players

PALM BEACH (Fla.) March 4. (AP) Favorites again ruled the courts today and paved the way for some fast quarter-finals in the twentieth annual Florida men's tennis championship on the Palm Beach Tennis Club's courts.

Seeded players, including Norris WilliamsII, eleventh ranking player; J. Gilbert Hall, South Orange, N. J.; Emmet Pare, Dayton, O.; Marcel Rainville, Montreal; Craig Biddle, Pencedale, R. I., and Karl H. Hodge, St. Louis, won their matches handily, with the exception of Hodge. He received a good fight from J. D. E. Jones, Providence, R. I.

However, Jones went into the game with a sore arm and was forced to default after losing the first set, 7-5, and winning the second 5-3.

Today's results:

Hodge defeated Jones, 7-5, 3-5, default; Rainville beat A. M. Sidenburg, New York, 6-2, 6-0; Williams

TWOGOOD LIKES HUSKIES

Trojan Basketball Scout Praises Washington as Better Than California Quintet

BY BRAVEN DYER

Scout Forrest Twogood, who gave the Washington Huskies the double "O" for Sam Barry last week-end, returned to the University of Southern California yesterday with the distressing news that the Trojans are going to take a licking in their championship series with their Seattle rivals. This series begins Friday night at the Olympic and will wind up Monday evening or sooner, depending on whether or not one team is able to win two straight.

"The Huskies are much better than the California team of this season," declared Twogood yesterday. "They have speed, dribbling ability and are crack shots. In Stork McClary they have the greatest center on the Pacific Coast and this chap Swanson, standing 6ft. 4in. tall, is a sweet running mate for the lanky Husky star. Coach Edmundson's other three regulars are not so large, but they are very fast. After watching this team defeat Oregon in two games I honestly believe that Southern California will lose the championship series this week-end."

TURNESA MISSES PUTT, TIES FOR TITLE

ST. PETERSBURG (Fla.) March 4. (AP)—Joe Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., missed a one-foot putt on the eighteenth green today to throw the $2500 St. Petersburg open golf tournament into a three-way tie at the end of the first eighteen holes.

Failure to make his par four on the last hole put Turnesa in a bracket with Horton Smith, Detroit, and Frank Walsh, Chicago, for the lead. Each carded a par 71, despite a chill wind that swept across the Lakewood Estates course.

Louis Chiapetta, Clearwater, Fla., Tony Manero, unattached, and Tom Creavy, unattached, kept almost abreast of the leaders, however, negotiating the course in 72s. They were followed by Bobby Cruickshank, Purchase, N. Y., Jack Collins, Dayton, O., and Henry Bontempo, Springfield, Mass., with 73 each.

In	454	334	535—34—71
Smith, out	444	435	353—35
In	434	435	434—36—71
Walsh, out	453	344	454—37
In	444	434	434—34—71

The final eighteen holes of the thirty-six-hole tournament will be played tomorrow over the Jungle Country Club course with the first players scheduled to get away at noon.

RUTH CAVORTS WITH YANKEES

George Herman Shows Pepper at First Base

Slated to Confer Tomorrow With Ruppert

Rumor Babe Will Sign for $85,000 One Year

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

ST. PETERSBURG (Fla.) March 4. (AP)—A chill, biting wind swept across the park, but perspiration dropped from the ruddy face of Babe Ruth. Grunting and "hollering," posing for cameramen or exchanging wise cracks with bystanders, the big fellow, capless, in the heavy white gym shirt, cavorted around first base like a rookie just up from a Class B league. In short, the great man who has yet to go through the momentous process of signing a 1930 contract, was the life of the Yankee party, going through a snappy drill under the watchful eyes of Manager Bob Shawkey and First Lieutenant Arthur Fletcher.

BABE RUTH

The camp and hotel lobby gossip is that a compromise will be reached by the end of this week on the salary issue by which Ruth will sign a one-year contract for $85,000. This is the figure the Babe demanded for a new three-year term of office. The club's best offer, which Ruth unhesitatingly rejected, was $75,000 for each of the next two years.

INCLINED TO GAMBLE

The belief, however, is that Ruth is inclined to gamble on the future if he can have his own figure met for at least this year. Col. Jacob Ruppert, the Yankee owner, may be willing to concede this proposition when he arrives here Thursday night to settle the situation in a personal conference with the big hitter. Then again, he may not, but there seems not the slightest reason to doubt that Ruth will sign. All the ballyhoo that his contract business has had is too valuable to be tossed overboard.

Ruth and the Yankees are bigger drawing cards than ever, to judge from the crowds of natives and tourists that have flocked out to see them drill the past two days.

Automobiles with license plates from Maine to California, Ontario to Texas, pack the approaches to the park. The stands are filled, with men and boys as well as women and babes in arms.

All seem eager to inspect the rather stout person who considers he is worth $10,000 more a year than the President of the United States. They can be heard discussing this as the Babe dives for one at first or bangs the ball out toward "alligator pond" in right center field. The spring training season is officially on when Ruth parks one in that spot and he did it this afternoon.

Ruth was full of chatter today. To a rookie from the corn country, at bat, he barked: "Come on, Broadway, what you got?"

As Lyn Lary juggled one at short, not deigning to throw the ball, the Babe shouted: "Hey, are you going to eat?"

OBLIGES PHOTOGRAPHER

Then he obligingly leaped high for an imaginary ball to gratify an amateur photographer. A foul ball bounced off his ear and the Babe delighted the crowd with clowning. Asked abruptly about his golf, Ruth retorted: "Not so bad. Say I was playing Sunday with a pro, Joe what's his name." The Babe has a weakness for last names.

"Hey," he roared, "has whaddyou-call-'em gone yet?" It seemed he had, for there was no answer.

CANZONERI STOPS RITZ IN ONE ROUND

Club Basket Team on Way To Nationals

Three members of the Los Angeles Athletic Club basketball team, A.A.U. champions of Southern California, left yesterday for the national tournament at Kansas City. Yesterday's party included Lorn Rariden, Garland Ricker and Hugh Hosea, forwards, and Coach and Mrs. F. F. Twogood. Four players leaving today are Capt. Leroy Wilcox, center; John C. McHose, forward; and Jimmy Dehlers and Robert Hayden, guards. The Mercuries have scheduled a game at Hutchinson, Kan., for Saturday evening and will go direct from there to Kansas City for the national meet which opens Monday. Following the tournament Coach Twogood will report for spring baseball training with the St. Louis Cardinals at Florida.

LIEB DUE SATURDAY AT LOYOLA

New Mentor Will Start Lions' Spring Workouts on the 10th Inst.

Tom Lieb, Loyola University's new football coach and former assistant to Knute Rockne, will arrive in Los Angeles Saturday evening, according to an announcement made yesterday by St Masters, chairman of the Loyola Lion's club. Lieb left his home last week and is motoring here with his wife and child. The new Lion mentor hopes to start spring practice sessions Monday afternoon, the 10th inst.

Plans are being made by both the Lions' Club and the Loyola Alumni to give Lieb a warm welcome to his new school. These organizations have had several meetings during the past few weeks and they hope to start their new coach to work feeling happy.

Foundations for a real eleven at the Del Rey institution are already being laid. Several noted high-school athletes have registered and many more are expected before the beginning of the 1930 season. Among the new arrivals are Bill Rich, a transfer from Notre Dame, Cap. McBride, Jack Strutzel, Ed

TOURNEY SURE TO COME HERE

Championship Event Fits in With Olympic Games

Junior Chamber Sees Labors Bearing Fruit

Official Award Expected in Short Time

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

ROGER W. LAPHAM

That is the information received from authoritative sources last night and bears out the promise made by Finlay Douglas, President of the United States Golf Association, during the national amateur championship at Pebble Beach in 1929, when he publicly stated that the far west would be awarded a national golf championship at least every four years.

Officials of the U.S.G.A. refuse to affirm or deny reports that Los Angeles has been selected for the national open, but Cliff Rawson, secretary-manager of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, admitted last night that the civic organization has been actively engaged in seeking the national open for 1932 over a long period of time, which verifies reports from other sources.

TOURNEY IN "BAG"

Contracts with Roger Lapham of San Francisco, vice-president of the U.S.G.A., in 1929, and a member of the executive committee, Norman Macbeth, and Everett H. Seaver, a member of the executive committee for 1930, have been most favorable, according to Rawson, and the junior chamber is confident that the tournament is in the "bag."

The junior chamber is go ahead, in fact, that plans are already being made to fit the national open into the Olympic Games program, and will likely be held early in the summer.

It was pointed out to Rawson that a few factions have favored holding the open in 1931 or 1932 for fear that the Olympic Games would detract from the championship. This has also been thoroughly gone into, according to the junior chamber

LOCAL STARS MEET ON MAT

Fans Divided as Pair of Heroes Tangle

Championship Hopes Are at Stake in Bout

La Doux, Sarapolis Also on Same Program

BY RALPH HUSTON

A local wrestling idol is going to be toppled at the Olympic Auditorium tonight. Everett Marshall and Nick Lutze, the two most popular grapplers ever to appear on one of Lou Daro's grappling programs, come to grips in a finish match that will see one or the other of them definitely eliminated from championship contention, for the nonce, at least.

EVERETT MARSHALL.

Lutze has long been a favorite; Marshall has but lately come into his own. Which one will the crowd swing to? Marshall, with his speed, his violent airplane spin, and his super abundance of color; or Lutze, the stand-by, who is almost as fast as Marshall, and who has beaten any number of topnotch grapplers with his body slams.

Both are bound for championship matches with Gus Sonnenberg. Lutze had one try several months ago, but failed. Since then he has come back consistently, and believes he is ready for another shot. Marshall is a comparative newcomer in the game, but is unbeaten. He has defeated Joe Malcewicz, Howard Canterwine, Stanley Stasiak and Dr. Karl Sarpolis for the benefit of local fans. Many believe he will eventually face Sonnenberg with an unbeaten record. Tonight may be his hardest test. Lutze will be battling to retain the local favor that has long been his, as well as for a crack at the title.

Lutze watched Marshall in a workout recently, and immediately set about polishing up on his backward body slam. The bronzed young Apollo apparently believed that this hold would prove an effective defense for Marshall's airplane spin. So Marshall recently announced that he would introduce something new tonight in his efforts to subdue Lutze. If he has something more effective than the spin, local fans would like to see it. The hold has proven unbeatable to date.

The two grapplers are scheduled to wrestle two out of three falls to a finish, and Promoter Daro has promised additional battles of interest and note to the winner. Dr. Sarpolis, beaten by Marshall, but the proud possessor of two draw verdicts, is one of the leading challengers.

Gene La Doux, the gorrilla-like French Canadian, meets Jerry Monaghan in the second bout, a one-fall, one-hour affair. La Doux lost to Lutze in his only start here, but displayed a lot of violent action. He is expected to beat Monaghan, a newcomer.

EL MONTE TO STAGE MEET

Valley Town Sets Invitational Junior Olympic Field Day Week from Saturday

BY BRAVEN DYER

With the intention of stimulating interest in the Junior Olympic Games and giving athletes of Los Angeles county a chance to see what they can do this early in the season, the town of El Monte will stage an invitational meet at the El Monte High School field one week from Saturday.

Such is the word coming from George Phelps, student executive of El Monte. The meet will start at 1 o'clock and Phelps and the El Monte coaches are desirous of having a large number of entries. Contestants from any school or organization in Southern California may take part in the meet, provided names have been forwarded to Phelps at the high school prior to Friday before the competition.

BOYD COMSTOCK.

El Monte has a very fine junior prospect in young Jimmy Montgomery, a 12-year-old youngster who competed last year. Jimmy is an excellent sprinter, a good broad jumper and a fine chinner. When he builds himself up in the baseball and basketball throws he will hold his own with any of the juniors in this neck of the woods.

Fred H. Clapp of Chaffey Union High School in Ontario sends in world that a number of San Bernardino county organizations have entered the 1930 competition. His list includes Chaffey High, Upland Junior High, Cucamonga Junior High, Etiwanda Junior High, Fontana Junior High and many grammar schools.

Citizens of Glendale will hold an organization meeting for the Junior Olympic Games in the near future, according to word from J. W. Norviel, superintendent of recreation for the "Fastest Growing City." The gathering will be held in Mr. Norviel's office and will result in plans being formulated for running off the Junior Games among interested boys in Glendale. This city is the home of Frank Wykoff, one of the greatest sprinters the world has ever known, and Glendale fathers figure that there may be other Wykoffs among the youthful Junior Olympic Games contestants.

Boyd Comstock, director of the Junior Olympic Games for Southern California, leaves Friday morning on a trip through Inyo county. Saturday morning Coach Comstock will meet with teachers and mentors at Bishop, while in the afternoon a similar gathering will be held at Lone Pine. Inyo county made a fine showing in the Junior Olympic Games last year and officials of that territory are looking forward with increased interest to the visit of Director Comstock.

Student executives should not overlook the "Junior Olympic Training Tips" appearing in The Times from day to day. This column should be clipped out and pasted on the bulletin board where all contestants can peruse it. Helpful hints are included in the training schedule and if you are not following the column you're missing something, boys.

OUTLOOK ROSY FOR STAR BOSS

Burkett was obtained later in the season and placed at second base. That helped out and the Stars went on to win the pennant for the second half of the season and finally the flag in the playoff.

Though Mickey Heath is not yet in camp, Vitt lost no time getting an infield combination working today. He put Otis Brannon, obtained from the St. Louis Browns, at second base and Mike Gazella, obtained from the Yankees, at third. Dudley Lee was in his regular position at shortstop.

The combination functioned in great style, Lee and Brannon worked together well and Gazella handled his corner in just as fine a way. Though the workout was brief Vitt was more than satisfied. Brannon and Lee played together around the sack as if they had been through a season or two together.

Harry Green, utility man of last season, who will be tried in the outfield this season, was used at first base. Heath, however, is expected in camp any time.

Maloney, Frank Shellenback and Green all checked in today, leaving but seven players to be heard from. All are expected in the next day or two except Harry Severeid, catcher. The latter has been given permission to report late in order to straighten out his personal affairs. Severeid's home burned recently in Story City, Iowa.

Two youngsters were released yesterday, Livesy, a recruit catcher from navy units, and Krohn a first baseman from Los Angeles. There was no chance to use either, so Vitt let them go.

Maloney reported with the announcement that he expected to be in much better condition this season. Sinus trouble, which bothered his playing last season, was alleviated during the off-season by an operation, he announced.

Yesterday's workout was a bit longer than that of opening day Monday. A warm sun gave the squad a fine chance to warm up and with a pair of games with the Seattle club scheduled for the week-end, Vitt plans on moving the action right along.

LIEB EN ROUTE TO NEW BERTH

Krugur, and Herb Barthells, all of Poly High, and Bill Atherton from Huntington Park. Of these Rich seems to be quite a prospect, having played fullback on the Notre Dame freshman squad this past season.

Winning nine first places and numerous seconds and thirds, the Whittier High School track and field athletes swept their way to an easy 80-to-36 victory over the Orange High School trackmen on the Whittier oval yesterday.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

EQUAL TENNIS REPRESENTATION

ALTHOUGH the story of the reorganization of the California Tennis Association sounds placid enough there was a red-hot battle before the south gained its dues at the expense of the north.

For years and years it was a case of taxation without representation. The Southern California Tennis Association paid dues to the California Tennis Association, the body which governed State tennis activities.

For the purposes of equality there should have been a Northern California Tennis Association—the body which came into being last week-end. But during all these years the Northern California Tennis Association was the California Tennis Association.

Whenever matters of major import came up—such as the awarding of big dates—the matter was settled by the California Tennis Association, with headquarters in San Francisco. Or if players were to be sent East at the expense of the association, the south paid its share and the north decided who should be favored.

Finally, the growth of clubs in the Southern California sector gave this section more votes than the north could possibly muster, and Mr. William M. Henry, past president of the Los Angeles Tennis Club, taking stock of the situation, started a campaign to gain equal representation.

This was two years ago. The north stalled off the inevitable by the appointment of a committee to investigate. This committee never functioned. A year ago another committee was appointed after threats by the south to form a separate association. This one functioned.

The result was seen the other night when a Northern California Tennis Association was formed similar to the one here in the south and an entirely new California Tennis Association came into being.

The directors of this new State body include three men from the south and three men from the north—equal representation.

"WOLF, WOLF"

Just one thing stands out clearly.

Of course, Scott has nobody to blame but himself for Referee Lou Magnolia's refusal to consider more seriously his claim of a foul.

Eight out of the ten matches he won in this country were directly traceable to Scotts "Wolf, wolf" cry of a foul.

This time, Scott cried once too often.

A MAT WAIL

"OH, GRACIOUS, don't do that. That's terrible."

The reply of Mr. Luigi Daro to the sports editor's proposal to ditch further stories on the Marshall-Lutze match at the Olympic tonight because the arena is already sold out.

"We want to make it a boog thing," said Mr. Daro. "The more stories the more people we will turn away.

"And then I shall go out into the open air this summer with a booger show to show the people this is the greatest wrestling city in the United States and I am the greatest promoter."

LOS ANGELES TO GET OPEN

officials, and the majority of golfers approached on the subject have been confident that 1932 is the psychological time for staging the championship.

THOMAS IN CHARGE

The national women's championship, which will be played over the Los Angeles Country Club in the fall of this year, has no bearing on the award of the national open. The U.S.G.A. was almost forced to send the championship west after Buffalo had been officially notified that the tournament would be held there, and women golfers throughout the country protested vigorously.

Under the direction of George C. Thomas, Jr., nationally famous golf-course architect, the Los Angeles Country Club north course will be changed and stiffened to give the women an outstanding test of golf. The north course, one of the finest layouts in the West, will also be the likely selection for the open. Bobby Jones, national open champion, who is also a member of the U.S.G.A. executive committee, has been a great booster for the golf courses in Southern California, and has on several occasions pointed to the north course as one of the finest conditioned courses he has ever played on.

Bobby wields a great deal of influence in the East, and his good word has no doubt assisted materially in placing the local bid in a favorable light.

TROJAN GIRLS STAGE THREE-DAY EVENT

Miss Germaine Guyot of the University of Southern California physical-education department will supervise a three-day tournament for Trojan co-eds over the Sunset Fields course beginning Friday, the 7th inst. This tournament will be open to all those in the golf class, and handicaps will be based on their showing. The handicaps will be used in a second tournament, the 21-22 inst. and the 28-29 inst.

GOLFERS QUALIFY FOR MONTEBELLO TOURNEY

Qualifying play is now in progress for Montebello Park's first annual championship, and will continue through Sunday, according to Willie Hunter.

An excellent turnout has registered for the tournament with seventy-eight golfers having qualified up to and including Sunday.

J. Garvin Hunter, Olympic football star in 1920 and 1924, is leading in the tournament with a 72, which equals par.

There will be as many flights for the match play as qualifiers warrant. One match is scheduled a week through to the finals.

Angel Cinder Team Annexes

The Los Angeles Junior College tracksters Coach Harry Campbell yesterday collected a 74-to-34 win over Coach Guy Harris's U.C.L.A. freshman squad in a dual meet held on the former Bruin campus. Rain halted the track meet in its last stages, and three events, the javelin, discus and relay, were called off.

The Bruin team showed improvement over its showing last Friday against the Inglewood High School Sentinels, and although they only collected two first places, closely contested a number of events. McCartney of the Westwood yearlings won the pole vault at 10ft. 6in., and Ramaker won the other first in the broad jump with a leap of 20ft. 2in. Practically all of the performances were slow.

Summary:

100-yard dash—Won by Graves (J.C.) Berrington (J.C.) second. Chatre (J.C.) third. Time, 10 3-10s.

220-yard dash—Won by Castro (J.C.) Norgren (J.C.) second. Graves (J.C.) third. Time, 23 4-10s.

440-yard dash—Won by Karl (J.C.) Sutherland (J.C.) second. Rikkin (J.C.) third. Time, 53 7-10s.

880-yard run—Won by Van Beveren (J.C.) Marino (U.C.L.A.) second. Lohlein (J.C.) third. Time, 2m. 7 7-10s.

Mile run—Won by Ashcraft (J.C.) Cannon (J.C.) second. Brown (U.C.L.A.) third. Time, 4m. 34s.

Two-mile—Won by Ashcraft (J.C.) Rumble (J.C.) second. Marvin (J.C.) third. Time, 10m. 38s.

120-yard high hurdles—Won by Ellerwin (J.C.) Reilly (J.C.) second. Kershner (J.C.) third. Time, 17 1-10s.

220-yard low hurdles—Won by Ellerwin (J.C.) Vallens (J.C.) second. Rikk (J.C.) third. Time, 14s.

Pole vault—Won by McCartney (U.C.L.A.) Greenaway (J.C.) second. Chrino (J.C.) third. Height, 10ft. 6in.

High jump—Won by Dukes (J.C.) Cannon (J.C.) second. Keiser (J.C.) and Green (J.C.) tie for third. Height, 6ft.

Broad jump—Won by Ramaker (J.C.) Garfield (J.C.) second. Williams (J.C.) and Ruby (J.C.) tie for third. Distance, 20ft. 2in.

Shot put—Won by Sorenson (J.C.) Castro (J.C.) second. C. Smith (J.C.) third. Distance, 41ft. 8in.

FOUR SOCCER GAMES LISTED FOR SUNDAY

With all local games for the California cup completed, soccer interest in Los Angeles now shifts back to City League competition. Four games will be played next Sunday, two at Loyola Field and another double-header at Tournament Park, Pasadena. In local games the powerful Hollywood club meets the Sons of St. George at Loyola Field at 3 o'clock with the Pasadena A.C.C. opening against Richfield. At Tournament Park the feature game pits the Vikings against the Spanish Americans. The Scots open against the Magyars.

The L.A.A.C. eleven is the first local team to go north for further State competition, meeting the San Francisco Revers in the latter city next Sunday. Hollywood meets the Olympic Club, the 23rd inst. also in the north.

TWO PUCK TEAMS TO PLAY HERE

Boston Bruins, Vancouver Ice Squads Will Appear in Local Series

The Boston Bruins, champions of the hockey world, and the Vancouver Monarchs, ranking as one of the greatest amateur aggregations, have been chosen for intersectional classics at the Winter Garden Ice Palace next month, it was announced yesterday by Floyd Carleton, one of the owners of the ice palace.

The first series will be the Monarchs against the team that wins the local amateur play-off and will start April 5. This series will be for five games.

The Bruins, pace-setters again in the National Hockey League by such a margin as to make it a joke, will be seen at the Garden in a three-game series, starting April 14, according to Carleton. Just who will carry the banner of the West in this classic has not been decided, but it will be either the Los Angeles Richfields or Hollywood Millionaires, now engaged in a death struggle to get into the California Hockey League play-off.

TROJAN SCOUT LIKES HUSKIES

Sam Barry reports that his players are in good shape for the series, although a trifle shy on practice. This may do them good, however, for the season has been a long one and continued work last week would probably have caused the Trojans to go stale.

Tickets for the series are selling at the B. M. Dyas store downtown and the Student Store on the S. C. campus.

Lee Dempsey, who has worked all Troy's games this year, will be one of the officials, while Bobby Morris, popular Seattle football and basketball referee, is to work with the local arbiter.

THIRTEEN IN PARTY OF HUSKIES HEADED HERE

SEATTLE (Wash.) March 4. (AP)—Observing a tradition of several years, Coach Hec Edmundson had thirteen in his traveling party tonight when he left for Los Angeles with the University of Washington basketball team to meet Southern California for the Pacific Coast Conference championship.

The squad will reach Los Angeles Thursday morning.

Washington won the northern division championship for the third successive year this season, but failed to capture the Coast title in 1928 and 1929 play-offs.

OCCIDENTAL OUTFIT WINS ANOTHER GAME

Coach Bill Anderson's Occidental College horsehiders added the scalps of the California Bank nine to their belts yesterday afternoon by taking a 5-0 decision at Patterson Field. Rain stopped the game in the sixth inning. Stanley Johnston hanged out a homer in the third with Nathan on base.

that he was signed by Marty Krug, former Angel manager, a couple of winters ago. Krug saw him in action over on an Alhambra semipro nine and promptly signed him to a 1930 contract. For at that time Brandt looked a year or so away. Marty took time off from his furniture business and was out watching Lefty in action yesterday and was even more impressed by the way he handled himself.

Aside from being a spectacular fielder, Brandt possesses a rifle arm that is giving the rest of the Angel infielders puffed palms. He whips the ball across the diamond on a line and you can see the infielders wince when the agate collides with their hands, which are still a bit tender from a winter's rest.

It's hard to say just how Lefty will hit but he stands up at the plate nice and hasn't exposed any weaknesses so far in facing the brand of pitching served up in spring training.

With Ray Jacobs called away to Salt Lake City by the recent death of his mother-in-law, it means that Brandt will probably hold down first base in the coming exhibition games with the Chicago Cubs Saturday and Sunday.

Brandt may only be a spring daisy that withers when the pennant campaign begins to wax warm, but there's no denying that he early looks like a good man now.

Rancho Team in Match at Bakersfield

Due to the fact that A. K. Bachelder, two-handicap man of the Rancho Golf Club, will be in Bakersfield on business on Sunday, the scene of the Rancho-Stockdale team match has been shifted from Rancho to Stockdale. The Bakersfield golfers boast an undefeated ten-man golf team, while Rancho has been undefeated in team-match competition this spring. Leon Keller, secretary of the Rancho club, reports that the Pico Boulevard club will take twelve men north for the match. A return battle will be staged at Rancho a week from Sunday.

is to give Midwick a trouncing and have San Gabriel lose heavily to Bel-Air.

Final matches in three remaining groups are to be played Sunday and the play-off between the eight divisional winners will be announced shortly after by George T. Cline, chairman of the team matches committee.

LIONS AND PIRATES TO CLASH TONIGHT

STANDINGS

	Won.	Tied.	Lost.	Pts.
Gilmore Lions	10	2	11	222
Union Oil Pirates	10	2	11	222
Sunfreze Bears	10	2	13	22

The Gilmore Lions-Union Oil Pirates ice hockey clash this evening at the Winter Garden Ice Palace will wind up one of the closest and hardest-fought races in the history of hockey in Los Angeles. The three clubs have been staging a merry race all season for the right to take part in the play-off championship and the result simmers down to the final game.

Union and Sunfreze are at present tied for second place, but in the last game the Union Oilers have a chance to get undisputed possession of second place, provided they win tonight's battle. According to the league rules the first and second teams meet in a seven-game series for the championship, which starts Wednesday night, the 12th inst.

CAGERS TO JAUNT EAST

SAN FRANCISCO, March 4. (AP)—The San Francisco Olympic Club basketball team, champions in the Pacific Athletic Association of the American Athletic Union, will leave here by train Thursday night for Kansas City to compete in the national championships, which open the 10th inst.

TRAINING CAMP GOSSIP

AVALON (Catalina Island) March 4.—The young fellows who have ambitions to stick as members of the hurling staff will be permitted to carry the mound burden this week-end when the champion Cubs start operations in the first two of a long series of exhibitions at Los Angeles. The veteran curvers will not be asked to perform for at least another ten days, unless an emergency should arise.

The young flingers in line to labor Saturday and Sunday are Nelson, Shealy, Moss and Teachout. Just how long they'll last and in what order they'll appear will not be known definitely until McCarthy has time to consult himself in secret conference. However, none has yet gained enough strength in his wing to labor more than three or four innings, granted they can escape the enemy for that length of time. It is reasonably safe to say that McCarthy will not consider letting the Angels have Nelson but that he might give them the choice of Shealy, Moss or Teachout. The latter two are southpaws and one of them must be retained for batting practice if nothing else.

The 1st man of the gentle with a few exceptions, are still laboring on the problem of reduction. Nobody would suspect it, but Ben Kaufisk, Charley Grimm's 1st baseman, is also sporting a rubber shirt. Neither would anybody suspect that pudgy Hank Wyse wasn't in this class. Hank after a few days of exercise claims he is eleven pounds below his weight of a year ago. However, he is sweating as profusely as ever.

RAIN FAILS TO CHECK OAKS

FRESNO, March 4. (AP)—Chilly winds and a slight drizzle of rain failed to halt training activities of the Oakland Coast League baseball team today, the full strength except for five holdouts and a trio of absentees. The absentees, Qualls, Hocking and Chamberlain, are still expected to be here tomorrow.

Handed his release, for which it is understood that he gave the Oaks a slight profit, Manager Carl Sanford, Pat Frazier, outfielder on last year's club, returned to his home in Texas and then stayed with the Pittsburgh Pirates, and will leave here Thursday for Fort Worth.

Louis Guisto, who is to pilot the Phoenix farm team of the Oaks, was also a training camp visitor today, donned uniform and looked over some of the youngsters who are expected to form his Phoenix team.

INDIANS START SPRING WORK

SAN CLEMENTE, March 4. (AP)—The Seattle Indians today swung into the spring training grind for the Pacific Coast League season, with all but four of the players signed up.

Of this quartet, Bill Klepper, expects to have their names on the 1930 contracts soon, with the possible exception of Paul Zahniser, a pitcher obtained from the American Association, Dutch Reuther took the hurlers in hand today, grooming them for the opening games with the Seals at San Francisco.

SEALS LOP OFF EIGHT RECRUITS

MONTEREY, March 4. (AP)—Nick Williams, manager of the San Francisco Seals, made lusty strokes with a big pencil last night, and today eight names had been lopped from the Seal recruit roster.

The eight were Clifford Crumpton, San Francisco; Harold Brundin, Arcata; Elmer Rose, Sacramento; Fred Perricone, Point Richmond; Noah Olsen, Oakland, all pitchers; Larry Gourle and William Gonzales, both infielders from Oakland, and Juan Sudano, outfielder from Burbank.

BURNS AND BOONE JOIN MISSIONS

STOCKTON, March 4. (AP)—George Burns, first baseman, and Ray Boone, slugging outfielder, joined the Missions at their Stockton training camp today, reducing the number of absentees to three. The absentees are Bert Ostle, southpaw pitcher; Ernie Nevers, right-handed pitcher and Walter Christensen, center fielder.

Burns came out from Philadelphia with his wife and three daughters, stopping over in San Francisco to establish a residence. The Boone family came from Alabama by motor.

Cole is due tomorrow but Nevers has been given permission to remain at his Santa Rosa home for a few days owing to the serious illness of his father. Christensen has not been heard from but is expected at any time.

There was no workout today, the Mission athletes being greeted by a heavy rain that flooded the ball park in their morning exercises.

SIX OAKLANDERS STILL MISSING

FRESNO, March 4. (AP)—Six members of the Oakland Pacific Coast League baseball team were still missing from camp today and five of them had not yet signed their contracts. Pete Duglio, pitcher, is one, and is expected here today. Those holding out for more money are: James Hargreaves, outfielder; Ernie Lombardi, catcher; Jack Fenton and Jose Mellana, infielders, and Russ Arlett, outfielder.

With more than thirty players now in camp, Manager Carl Zamloch will have his first big ball game today, weather permitting. It is to be taken the athletes out for a three-hour workout.

TONY REGO SIGNS PORTLAND CONTRACT

SAN JOSE, March 4. (AP)—President Thomas Turner of the Portland Pacific Coast League team, today received a telegram from Portland saying Tony Rego, first-string catcher and one of the last two holdouts, had signed his contract.

Rego's signing leaves Curt Fullerton, pitcher, the only holdout on the Portland team. Rego, now in Portland, was expected to leave for San Jose immediately.

Bruin Sprinter Shows Up Well

"Chuck" Smith, star sophomore sprinter on the University of California at Los Angeles track team, ran the 100-yard dash in practice yesterday afternoon in the extremely fast time of 9 4-5s., Coach Harry Trotter announced last night. Smith is the Bruins' best bet to cop first places in the century and furlong dash events in the dual meet with Pomona Saturday on the Westwood oval.

Smith's time of 9 4-5s. in the 100-yard dash unofficially ties the university record, which is held jointly by Capt. Johnny Hill and a Bruin sprinter away back in the dark days of 1921 and 1922. However, that is not the fastest time "Chuck" has been clocked in, for he ran the distance in 9 3-5s. in a practice meet last year with Alhambra High School when he was competing on the freshman squad.

With Harvey Bear out of the running because of an attack of the mumps, the Bruins are counting on taking the first three places in the 100-yard event, and at least two in the furlong Saturday. Smith, Capt. Hill and Johnny Talbot have been running neck and neck in this event so far this year, with Smith having the edge in the going. Coach Trotter expects great things from young Smith, the latest of his stellar sprinting proteges.

Trainer Billy Burke announced definitely yesterday that Bob Cameron's injured foot would be in sufficient condition to let him run Saturday against the Sagehens. Cameron is expected to win both the quarter-mile and the half-mile, in which he has been timed on around 49s. flat and 1m. 59s. flat, respectively.

Lincoln Wins From Belmont

Threatening weather failed to dampen the spirits of the Lincoln High School track team, and, in spite of a persistent drizzle, the Tigers fought their way to a victory over the Belmont Hilltoppers by the score of 65 to 39 in a practice dual meet held on the Hilltoppers' cinderpath yesterday.

Guitterro of Lincoln won the shot put and high hurdles and tied for first in the high jump, which netted him 13 points and the distinction of being the individual high scorer of the meet. Johnson of Belmont took first place in the century and broad jump to tally 10 points for second highest scoring honors. Summary:

Sam Barry's extremely ambitious Trojan baseball team, preparing for its league opening with Santa Clara next Monday, will tackle the Angels at Wrigley Field Friday afternoon, Manager Ted Halfhill announced yesterday. It is expected that the S.C. diamond athletes will meet a crew of Seraph rookies.

Saturday the Trojans are to play the Los Angeles A.C. team, and Monday and Tuesday they play Santa Clara, which already has lost two out of three to Stanford. The Trojans have won five out of six practice games to date, losing, 3 to 0, to the Coney Galindo All-Stars for their lone defeat.

Displaying unexpected strength in the cinder events, but flopping completely in the field events, Coach Russ Strite's Glendale High ovalers yesterday eked out a 59-40 victory from the Muir Tech track and field team in a trackfest held on the Dynamiters' cinderpath. The Glendale athletes made clean sweeps in four events, taking all three places in the furlong, quarter-mile, mile and 880-yard run.

Charlie Smith led the squad in the amount of time played in conference games, being in action 308 out of a possible 320 minutes. Alvah Dewesse, selected by Parsons and La Verne as a member of the all-conference team, was next, with 302.

The Aztecs, although successful in only two of seven conference games, turned in probably the best defensive record of any team in the circuit for 1930, having limited their opponents to 26 points per game. Except in the second La Verne tussle, when the Leopards went wild and rolled up 54 points, the San Diegans held their opponents to narrow victories.

Scoring honors for conference competition went to Charlie Smith with 56 points, while Tenwolde and Ritland were second and third with 39 and 36, respectively. The Staters tallied 173 digits while their foes collected 212.

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

THE SON OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Through the breach rushed the infuriated bull. Korak heard him come crashing and urged him to speed. The flames were creeping closer around the ape-man when the blacks, hearing the noise behind, turned to see the enormous bulk of Tantor lumbering toward them. Screaming, they fled and then the elephant was among them tossing the Sheik's men to right and left as he tore through the flames he feared to the comrade he loved.

The Sheik ran to his tent for his rifle. Tantor wrapped his trunk about the body of Korak and the stake to which it was bound, and tore it from the ground. The flames were searing his sensitive hide—sensitive for all its thickness—so that in his frenzy to rescue his friend and escape the hated fire, he all but crushed the life from the ape-man. Lifting his burden high above his head, Tantor raced for the breach in the palisade.

Rifle in hand, the Sheik rushed forth directly into the path of the maddened brute. He raised his weapon and fired once, the bullet missed its mark, and Tantor was upon him crushing him beneath gigantic feet as he raced over the Sheik's body as though it were but an ant in his pathway. Then, bearing his burden carefully, Tantor the elephant came to the opening he had just made in the palisade and entered the blackness of the jungle.

Meriem and Baynes, undiscovered, were about to scale the palisade by means of the ape-man's rope when the sounds of the tumult reached them. The girl, dazed from the unexpected sight of Korak whom she had long given up as dead, started as from a dream. "They are killing him!" she whispered. "We must go back." Cautiously the two retraced their perilous path, every step a danger, for now the whole village was aroused and moving about.

The Law of the Wild

COIFFURE DESIGNED FOR EVERY FACE

Latest Wrinkles in Hair Dressing Told by Expert

These Subjects Show Trend in Crowning Glories

THERE is a coiffure for every face and personality, according to Mme. Louise, not a hairdresser, but a designer, who has just arrived at her Pasadena shop from her headquarters in Chicago. Yesterday she gave a sort of pre-view of the newest fashions for woman's crowning glory. With about fifteen models on display, there were no two styles alike and each one had been arranged by Mme. Louise with particular regard for emphasizing the best features of her subject.

The outstanding trend for the 1930 model coiffure, she said, is toward greater softness and femininity. Of course, for daytime, short hair is still the thing, but for evening, with the soft, trailing gowns of the moment, she says that long hair is absolutely essential, a miracle which is wrought by the simple addition of extra pieces of hair.

This femininity is achieved by the use of curls at the back of the neck. The three-inch neck curl also is good and the shoulder-length bob is seen frequently.

Other important new notes are the natural hair line at the forehead and temples and the natural hair line at the neck must be preserved in order to have a really well-cut head. One or both ears may show, or just a part of the ears and short side curls around the face are very good for the old-fashioned influence, which seems to be creeping in, madame said.

TRAFFIC FLOW CALLED BEST BUSINESS GUIDE

Future business and shopping centers in Los Angeles will be determined by the flow of traffic, in the opinion of D. F. Kelly, president of the Fair Department Store in Chicago, who has been a Los Angeles visitor for two weeks. Mr. Kelly said yesterday that Los Angeles is rapidly approaching the point where business men should carefully study the automobile routes from the residential areas to the business districts.

"People are going to patronize the stores which are easiest to reach," he said, "and the result of this truth is already shown in the development of the district shopping areas. Even these districts are going to be subject to change as traffic difficulties increase."

Mr. Kelly said that his present visit to Los Angeles is the first in thirty years. He is enthusiastic in his praises of Los Angeles' stores and said that Bullock's Wilshire store is the most perfectly appointed store of its kind in the world.

The manufacture of women's sportswear in Los Angeles is destined to be one of the important industries of the city, Mr. Kelly believes. He said his company recently placed large orders for merchandise of this type and that there is an unlimited opportunity for expansion for manufacturing of this type.

Mrs. Pantages Suit Postponed

Trial of a suit against Mrs. Lois Pantages for $883 claimed for expenses in an assertedly contemplated divorce action for which Joseph Sweeney, attorney, declares he was to obtain evidence to bring against Alexander Pantages in 1927, was continued yesterday by Municipal Judge Pope until May 16, next, when both parties asked for delay.

The suit was brought by Paul A. Fenner, assignee for Sweeney, who asserts that Mrs. Pantages paid $1000 of the $1893 expenses incurred in preparing data on the contemplated action but declined to pay the remainder.

Auto Victim's Dog Stands by All Afternoon

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

REDONDO BEACH, March . (Exclusive)—Faithfully guarding his injured master's wheelbarrow, a white terrier remained all afternoon where C. A. Lundgren, 74 years of age, 8302 Redondo-Riverside Boulevard, had been knocked down. Lundgren was pushing a wheelbarrow along the boulevard when he was struck by a beam on a passing truck. He was rushed to the Hermosa-Redondo Hospital, where it was found that he has serious head injuries.

Lundgren's little white terrier remained beside the overturned wheelbarrow, standing off everyone who tried to go near it. After the dog had stood guard all day Deputy Sheriff Kiracofe drove out and carried it to his office.

IDEAS PRESENTED FOR HOME BUILDER

VISALIA, March 4.—Local homebuilders will not have to go away from home to see master houses from which to secure ideas for their own use. The Merchants' Home Furnishing Exhibit to be staged at the Municipal Auditorium, opening tomorrow for three days, will feature a duplex home, completely furnished. Various booths of individual firms will depict everything in line of home furnishings, from the kitchen to drawing-room and Milady's boudoir. The show will be open from 2 p.m. each day until 9 in the evening. Music and entertainment will be featured.

BANDIT ORGY BRINGS HUNT BY OFFICERS

Girl Believed Member of Gang Engaged in Series of Four Hold-ups

Four hold-ups in quick succession sent a half-dozen robbery squads on a search for three bandits using a stolen car late last night. One of the bandits is believed to have been a woman in man's clothing, the police assert.

The first hold-up occurred at the drug store of A. R. Chisolm, 4729 South Normandie, where $50 was taken from the cash register. One of the trio, probably the girl, the police assert, entered the drug store and asked for a drink at the fountain. While Chisolm had his back turned the other two bandits entered and forced him to hold up his hands.

The second robbery reported was the hold-up of a motorist who was robbed of his car and $35. He was awaiting the crossing bell at Beverly and Vermont avenue, when a man stepped to the car and, after opening the door pressed the muzzle of a pistol into the side of H. B. Gordon, the driver. The bandit climbed in beside Gordon as two others came from the sidewalk and got into the back of the car.

The bandits threw him out after robbing him at Beverly and Curson street. Ten minutes later the same bandits appeared in the Chapman's ice-cream store at 1802 North Vermont and robbed the cash register of $30.

Twenty minutes later the same trio appeared at the drug store of E. J. Norman, 639 1-3 South Berendo, and robbed Norman of $50. While six squads were searching the city for the bandit car others were held in reserve as the police expected reports of other robberies by the trio.

YOUTH NOMINATES SISTER GUARDIAN

Doubly Related

Clarence T. Trahan and Mrs. Irene T. Downer.

So that Clarence T. Trahan, 14 years of age, may legally inherit $1000 from the estate of his mother, Mrs. Catherine Trahan, he went into Superior Judge Stephens's court yesterday and had his sister, Mrs. Irene Trahan Downer, appointed his guardian.

This was necessary under the conditions surrounding the probation of Mrs. Trahan's will, according to the attorney of record, Mart Coles.

WORKMEN INJURED AT SANTA BARBARA

SANTA BARBARA, March 4.—Slipping from its foundation without warning, a huge pile driver being used to build a tideland pier near the Pacific Western Oil Company's land holdings west of Elwood, seriously injured two workmen and carried three other laborers into the surf when it fell late yesterday.

Ray Douglas, 38 years of age, is in the Cottage Hospital with four fractured ribs and internal lung injuries. W. Workman, 30, is in the hospital with a compressed fracture of the spine.

The huge pile driver slipped from a pier which was under construction. The men working on the pier were carried into the water with the machine.

AUTO MISHAPS FATAL TO TWO

Third Person Loses Life as Train Strikes Him

Women Pedestrians Killed in Auto Crashes

Rail Victim Said to Have Laid Head on Tracks

Two women lost their lives in automobile accidents yesterday and a man was killed by a train.

Swerving her automobile to avoid striking a cat, according to police, Mrs. Josephine Kieselbach of 4805 Sixth avenue turned the machine into a woman pedestrian, striking her down and killing her almost instantly. The accident occurred early yesterday morning on Forty-eighth street between Third and Fourth avenues.

The victim was identified as Mrs. Ellen Stewart, 60 years of age, of 5011 Sixth avenue. The body was removed directly to the County Morgue.

Mrs. Kieselbach told police she did not see Mrs. Stewart until her car hit her. She stated that the victim had apparently been "jay-walking." Police, investigating the accident, declared it occurred in the middle of the block, conforming to some extent Mrs. Kieselbach's statement. The latter was not held.

Fatally injured by an automobile last night, an unidentified woman pedestrian, approximately 20, died while being rushed to General Hospital. According to the report of Deputy Sheriffs Chapman and Chrisey, the young woman tried to cross against traffic at Whittier Boulevard and Indiana street. She was struck by a car driven by Luis A. Lama, 124 North Herbert street, the deputies added. Witnesses exonerated him.

Struck by the westbound Union Pacific Continental Limited last evening, an unidentified man was killed instantly near Hilgrove. According to the train crew, the man laid his neck on one rail as the locomotive approached. Sheriff's deputies of the El Monte substation reported finding a tin of canned heat on the body. The dead man was American, between 45 and 50 years of age, 5 feet 9 inches in height, 160 pounds, had black graying hair, and wore black pants, a blue-green shirt and soft brown hat. The body was sent to the mortuary of Adelman & Klingerman, El Monte.

Husband Tired of Wedded Life

Guy Snyder said he was tired of married life, then left, Mrs. Eva M. Snyder testified yesterday before Superior Judge Yankwich when asking for a divorce.

"I wrote to him and asked him to come back," Mrs. Snyder said, "but he answered that he never intended to return."

She was represented by Attorney W. E. Lady.

Mrs. Snyder was given a decree and the custody of a daughter, 5 years of age. The husband was ordered to pay $50 a month for the child's support.

ROLLING PIN'S WIELDER HELD

Woman Testifies Sweetheart Broke Her Jaw and Nose in Row

Ray L. Hall, 31 years of age, was ordered held under $5000 bail to await trial by Superior Court on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder by Municipal Judge Russell yesterday.

Hall assaulted his sweetheart, Mrs. Flora Carter, with a rolling pin on February 9, last, breaking her jaw and nose and inflicting serious head injuries, she testified. Believing he had killed her, he wrote a farewell note and decided to commit suicide, Detective Lieutenants Starritt and Lake said he told them. Later, however, he changed his mind and surrendered to police. Mrs. Carter recovered after more than a month in the hospital.

Noted Medical Expert Talks on Tuberculosis

"We are studying the living chemistry of the tubercle bacilli and the chemistry of the human cell in which it lives. We believe that until we thoroughly understand the mode of life, not only of the tubercle but of its host, the cell, we will not know how to combat the most expensive disease of mankind," said Dr. William Charles White of Washington, chairman of the research committee of the National Tuberculosis Association, at a banquet given in his honor last night at the Women's Athletic Club.

"We hope to find some method of breaking the cycle of this parasite through its relationship to the human cell," he said. "We found that in time of stress, such as the recent war, that a nation could quickly lose what it had gained against this disease. We are seeking fundamental causes."

The banquet was given under the auspices of the Los Angeles tuberculosis committee. Dr. R. L. Cunningham, president of the organization, presided.

Many prominent tuberculosis specialists of the city were present as were the members of the Trudeau Society, which is the tuberculosis branch of the Los Angeles Medical Society. Public health nurses, social workers and members of the Orange, Riverside and Los Angeles counties tuberculosis societies, also were there.

M'ADOO BREAKS FISHING JINX

Dolphine Caught on Hawaiian Trip

Happy Over Cruise
Mr. and Mrs. William Gibbs McAdoo and daughter Faith.

IT TOOK a vacation trip to Hawaii, for which he had been striving for twenty years, to break a lifetime of bad luck as a salt-water fisherman for William Gibbs McAdoo. The war-time Secretary of the Treasury, with Mrs. McAdoo and their daughter, Faith, returned yesterday aboard the Lasco flagship City of Los Angeles after a three-weeks' cruise to the islands. Unlike most first-time visitors to Hawaii, the only memento they brought back was Mr. McAdoo's fish story.

Braving the trade wind chop off Koko Head in a Japanese sampan, Mr. McAdoo landed a twenty-five-pound "mahi-mahi," or Hawaiian dolphin, after a two-hour fight with light tackle. That catch alone, he said, made the trip to Honolulu worth while.

"Mrs. McAdoo and I both pride ourselves on being expert trout fishermen, but as deep-sea fishermen—I particularly—we have not had much success," he said. "I have spent countless hours in southern waters trying to land the elusive tarpon, without getting a single fish, and I have yet to land a California tuna or swordfish. Therefore, when I finally brought that 'mahi-mahi' aboard I felt sure my hard-luck on salt water was over."

Mr. McAdoo declared that Honolulu is one of the few places he has visited around the world whose natural beauty and charm exceeds expectations.

APPAREL INDUSTRY GAINS

Millinery Also One of High Spots Reported in Business Review Published by Chamber

Healthy activity of the apparel and millinery industries of Los Angeles during February, is the high spot of a survey of general business conditions of this section contained in the monthly Southwest Business Review of the Chamber of Commerce, which appeared yesterday.

The favorable outlook for agriculture over the Western States is considered as holding promise of a marked improvement in business conditions before the start of the summer season, due to the fact that neighboring markets undoubtedly will reflect the prosperity of the farmer and stockmen, the chamber's review states.

"Business conditions in the wearing apparel industry in Los Angeles, during February, have been quite satisfactory," says T. W. Pepler, secretary of the Associated Apparel Manufacturers. "All local plants are busy, many with production sold weeks ahead, and orders received during the month from out-of-town buyers all over the country are larger than during any previous February, indicating greater acceptance of Los Angeles merchandise than ever before. The recent organization of an employment division of the association is helping the manufacturers to obtain labor more easily and it is expected that our labor shortage will soon disappear."

From Eugene Holmes, secretary of the Millinery Manufacturers' and Jobbers Association, the review quotes the following report: "There has been a large increase in the higher priced lines, showing a volume about equal to February of last year, a natural reaction from unusually heavy orders in popular priced lines during January of this year.

"The success of the January style show is indicated in the fact that orders total about 40 per cent heavier than last year, which also applies to the Chicago show. Altogether, the industry is ahead of last year in volume of production."

Prepared by the domestic trade department of the chamber, under the direction of E. F. MacDonough, the review contains a complete summary of the conditions obtaining in all lines of business here during the past month as well as summarizing the conditions in neighboring States. Copies of the report may be obtained from the chamber.

These earnings compare with $145,610 earned in 1928, equal after preferred dividends to $3.43 a share on the same capital, and represent an increase of $18,594, or more than 12 per cent. B. M. Snyder, secretary-treasurer, stated a number of large contracts are expected to be signed during the next six months.

Fire Hazard of Police Duty to Be Reduced

Collars must be clean, according to the resolution.

The commission adopted a double-breasted knee-length dark-blue overcoat over which is to be worn black Sam Browne belts, starting next fall, for the police. These will be the first uniform overcoats to be worn by Los Angeles police.

The commission adopted the present type of uniform for motorcycle officers, except that open collars are provided, with military flaps over breast pockets and a few minor changes.

Gunplay Cows Bandit Victim

Firing a shot in the Manhattan Cafe, 600 East Fourth street, a young bandit covered his escape last night after robbing the proprietor. The bullet whizzed past a dozen diners and several waitresses, burying itself in a rear partition.

A man 22 to 25 years of age, entered at the dinner hour, and aimed an automatic pistol at H. Plates, the proprietor. The latter handed over $200. As the bandit grasped the money a waiter entered through the kitchen door, startling the robber, who fired one shot. Warning Plates to keep quiet, the robber darted outdoors and ran east on Fourth street. Detective Lieutenants Dickinson and Rombeau took up search for the hold-up man.

STONE FISHHOOK FOUND IN INDIAN BURIAL PLACE

Excavation in the ancient Indian burial ground near Carpinteria have resulted in the discovery of a primitive artifact that has never before been found in Southern California. Bruce Bryan, in charge of the work, reports the finding of one small steatite, or soapstone, fishhook, about an inch and a quarter in length, and the fragment of another of the same type and size. These were found about thirty inches below the level of the earth in the grave of a prehistoric aborigine who inhabited the coast of Carpinteria long before the first white man set foot in this State.

According to the Smithsonian Institution, in one of its reports of the exploration of the old Burton Mound in Santa Barbara, no other fishhook made of any kind of stone has ever been found in these cultures, although many have been brought to light that are made of shell and bone. The typical Santa Barbara Indian fishhook is carved out of a single piece of black or red abalone shell.

The hook and the additional fragment found by Bryan resemble those made of stone by the Polynesian tribes, but this does not by any means indicate that the South Sea Islanders ever lived in California or even reached its shores for purposes of trading, he pointed out.

The age-old custom of the natives, which required the breaking of a dead man's belongings in order that their "spirits" might accompany him to the next world, does not seem to count in the case of the finer and more artistic work such as beads, fishhooks, pendants and the like. But most of the larger utensils, such as mortars, pestles, pilas, metates, and other household ware are usually found completely demolished.

Work on the site has been temporarily discontinued owing to a lack of time just at present in which to investigate the site properly, but Bryan intends to resume its exploration in the near future. Located near the mouth of Carpinteria Creek, and flanked by large asphalt pits, the site has been identified as the old Indian village of Mishopsnow, mentioned in the log of Cabrillo, the first Spanish navigator to sail up the California coast. The burial ground under investigation is the cemetery to the village of Mishopsnow which extends for some yards north and east across the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks and onto the Higgins ranch.

HOLLYWOOD PLANS DRESS FETE SERIES

International Day Once Each Month Proposed to Promote Style Interest

Plans for an "International Day" in Hollywood once a month with a cash prize of $50 to be awarded to the visitor who displays the best costume on a national motiff, are being formulated by Col. Harry M. Baine, president of the Hollywood Boulevard Association.

Hollywood Boulevard from Vine street to La Brea avenue will be decorated with the flags of all nations and leading film capital style experts will patrol the thoroughfare to select the most novel gowns and ensembles of national character that come under their observation, to be passed on by judges, according to the plan.

The purpose of the event, according to Baine, is to promote interest in Hollywood as a cosmopolite center and encourage the development in Southern California of diversity in dress as well as in architecture and other lines.

JULIAN SUIT ARGUMENTS UNDER WAY

Debate Over Demurrer in $15,000,000 Action May Go on for Rest of Week

Argument on demurrer to the $15,000,000 Julian stockholders' suit against the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and a group of local brokers began yesterday in Superior Judge Tappaan's court and, according to counsel, probably will continue the rest of this week.

Opening for the defendants, Walter K. Tuller representing the stock exchange, took the entire day and notified the court that he probably will require at least another day to present his argument.

Following Tuller three or four more of the lawyers representing the defendants will argue and in turn they will be answered by counsel for the plaintiffs. At the conclusion of the arguments on demurrer S. C. Lewis, former president of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, will take the witness stand to complete a partly given deposition. Lewis already has been on the stand for more than a week.

Too Desirable, Says Wife Who Divorces Mate

Harry F. O'Hara was just a little too desirable to suit his wife, Mrs. Ruby O'Hara, who went into the court of Superior Judge Archbald yesterday with a petition for a divorce.

"When my husband, who is a salesman, returned from a trip east last year," Mrs. O'Hara asserted, "he said his first and second wives both wanted him to return to them and that a third woman whom he had met in Chicago offered to start him up in business and give him $1000 a month if he would remain in the Middle West."

Mrs. O'Hara did not think O'Hara so desirable after hearing his trip report and hied to court to seek a legal separation, which was granted.

FOX CLAIMS VICTORY

Refinancing Vote Kept Secret

Plan of Bankers Modified Just Before Submission to Stockholders

Court Decision in Favor of Scheme's Foes Forces Swift Change

NEW YORK, March 5. (AP)—Postponing until tomorrow the announcement of the vote on a refinancing plan for the Fox Film empire, stockholders of Fox Film Corporation tonight adjourned their meeting. The adjournment came shortly after they had cast their votes on a modified plan put forward by a bankers' group headed by Bancamerica and the Blair Corporation.

Counsel for William Fox and the bankers who proposed the plan asserted that an overwhelming victory for them was assured by the vote, but insisted that foes of the plan [illegible] by Harry L. Stuart of the Halsey, Stuart company and John E. Otterson of the Electrical Research Products Corporation had been unable to muster enough proxies to defeat the Fox plan and thus open a possible way for the adoption of a plan favored by them.

SETBACK FOR FOX

Suffering a setback when Supreme Court Justice Aaron Levy of New York this morning held that certain said Stuart were empowered to vote Fox's major holdings in favor of a stock against the plan he personally favored, the Fox forces countered by modifying their plan. While the meeting of the film corporation, held in an old film studio in the Fox headquarters, was adjourned till later in the day, directors conferred with representatives of the banking group underwriting the new financing. A modification of the plan was then announced which, according to counsel for Fox and the bankers, obviated the necessity of submitting it to a vote of the stockholders. It was decided, however, to seek the support of stockholders for the "amral effect it would have and, after counsel [illegible] it was asserted that approval was assured.

STOCK TO BE ISSUED

It is understood the modification in the bankers' plan approved by the directors involves the issuance of 1,250,000 shares of common stock [illegible] several months ago by stockholders instead of $33,000,000 preferred stock to raise needed funds.

Despite the ruling of Justice Levy, it might be voted his Class B stock, which was also voted by his committee. In the minds of expert observers this was a further legal complication in the confusion already existing.
